

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

3 1761 00590903 1

PA 6518
N6L5

UNIV. OF TORONTO
LIBRARY

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2008 with funding from Microsoft Corporation

~~H~~
~~N8158~~

144
247

NONIUS MARCELLUS' DICTIONARY

OF REPUBLICAN LATIN.

BY

W. M. LINDSAY, M.A.

Professor of Humanity in the University of St. Andrews.

60355
15/8/03

---

OXFORD:

James Parker and Co.

27 BROAD STREET; AND 31 BEDFORD STREET, STRAND, LONDON.

1901.

PA 6518
N6L5

NONIUS MARCELLUS' DICTIONARY OF REPUBLICAN LATIN.

---

i. The 'De Compendiosa Doctrina.'

OF the three large Latin Dictionaries or Encyclopaedias which have been transmitted from ancient to modern times, (1) Festus' Epitome of Verrius Flaccus 'De Verborum Significatu,' (2) Nonius Marcellus 'de Compendiosa Doctrina,' (3) the 'Etymologiae' of Isidore, the second excels in its wealth of quotations from the literature of the Republic. Most of what has been preserved of the lost Republican writers, such as Accius the tragedian, Lucilius the satirist, Sisenna the historian, we owe to the quotations with which Nonius has illustrated the words of his Dictionary.

Of Nonius himself little is known. From various indications it has been inferred that he lived in the fourth or fifth century A.D., and was a dignitary in the small town of Thubursicum in North Africa. He published a volume of letters 'On the Neglect of Study,' from which he quotes a pompous sentence in illustration of the word meridies<sup>a</sup> (page 451 of Mercier's edition). Some of his modern critics accuse him of an amount of ignorance that is hardly conceivable<sup>b</sup>. Without going so far, we may safely regard him as a man of very limited learning, a compiler rather than a researcher. His dictionary can hardly have belonged to anything but the 'scissors and paste' class.

In accordance with the fashion which regulated Latin lexicographical works<sup>c</sup>, Nonius divided his 'De Compendiosa Doc-

<sup>a</sup> Meridiem . . . nos in Epistulis quae inscribuntur 'De Peregrinando a Doctrinis': "exvigila igitur aliquando et moracium cogitationum, priusquam aetas in meridie est, torpedinem pelle."

<sup>b</sup> Because he quotes from some works of Cicero under the name 'M. Tullius' and from others under the name 'Cicero,' he has been charged with the absurd error of supposing 'M. Tullius' and 'Cicero' to be two different persons (Riese, 'Symbol. Bonnens.' p. 484 n.). This charge is surely unfair. Nonius is merely reproducing with mechanical fidelity the title-headings of the editions which he used.

<sup>c</sup> The 'Noctes Atticae' of Aulus Gellius, a series of gossiping disquisitions

trina' into twenty books. The materials which he had collected did not lend themselves readily to this division, so that the books are awkwardly uneven in size. Book IV, the part which most exactly corresponds to the modern notion of a dictionary, is slightly larger than Books I and II together, and a good deal larger than the remainder of the work. The arrangement of the words in the several books is not alphabetical. Books II, III, and IV are indeed in our MSS. broken up into alphabetical sections, the first section comprising words beginning with the letter A, the second words beginning with B, and so on, yet the words comprised in each section do not follow the alphabetical order; and it is possible that these books owe even this slightly alphabetical arrangement to a mediaeval editor. On the contrary, Nonius seems to have set down the words in his pages in the same order as he took them from his various sources. Almost at the beginning of Book I, for example, comes a series of words taken from the Comedies of Plautus: hostimentum from the Asinaria, v. 172, tolutim from v. 706 of the same play, capulum from v. 892, temulenta from the Aulularia, v. 355, cinaedi from v. 422 of the same play, and so on. When the Plautus-series is finished, a series of words from Lucretius follows: austra from Lucr. V, 515, veterina from Lucr. V, 862, crepera from Lucr. V, 1294, etc. This arrangement has often been remarked by writers on Nonius<sup>d</sup>, and is indeed so patent as to be beyond possibility of doubt. But whether owing to incompleteness of treatment<sup>e</sup>, or defectiveness of method<sup>f</sup> on the part of these writers, the full significance of this arrangement has not been presented with adequate result, and neither the recent editions of lost Republican writings, such as Ribbeck's 'Fragments of Roman Dramatic Poetry,' nor the last edition of Nonius' Dictionary (by Lucian Mueller, Leipzig [Teubner], 1888) are sufficiently regulated by the knowledge that can on various points of lexicographical, literary and historical interest, and the 'Etymologiae' of Isidore, are likewise divided into twenty books. So were some other works of this description that have not been preserved.

<sup>d</sup> Especially by A. Schottmüller 'Die Bestandtheile des ersten Capitels des Nonius' (in 'Symbol. Bonnens.' pp. 807—832), and P. Schmidt 'De Nonii Marcelli auctoribus grammaticis,' Leipzig (Teubner), 1868.

<sup>e</sup> Schottmüller has treated only the first book of Nonius.

<sup>f</sup> Schmidt attempted, but without success, to refer to ancient commentaries on Plautus and other authors Nonius' account of words taken from these authors, be gained from a close study of Nonius' manner of compilation.

If we can satisfy ourselves that we really possess the key to the composition of the 'De Compendiosa Doctrina,' the benefit to the textual criticism of Nonius will, of course, be enormous. But there will be another benefit of greater importance and reaching a wider circle of students. It is from the 'De Compendiosa Doctrina' that most of the fragments of the lost Republican literature come. No editor of these fragments has yet found any certain plan of arranging them in proper order. All that an editor could do hitherto, in arranging, let us say, the fragments of a tragedy of Accius or of the History of Sisenna, was to guess from the nature of each passage the incident to which it referred, and roughly assign to it this or that place in the sequence. But if it can be established that Nonius' quotations from authors, whose whole works we possess, follow a definite and unvarying order in his pages, corresponding to the order in which the passages quoted occur in these authors' works, we may surely infer 'from the known to the unknown' that his citations from these lost authors observe a similar sequence. We thus get a clue to the place occupied by each passage quoted from Accius or Sisenna in the particular tragedy or book of history in which Nonius found it.

The theory which I hope to establish in the following pages is briefly this, that Nonius collected the materials for the twenty books of his Dictionary partly from Glossaries or lexicographical works (e.g. the 'Noctes Atticae' of Aulus Gellius), partly from texts, apparently annotated texts, of certain authors (Plautus, Lucretius, Accius, Sisenna, Cicero, etc.); further, a point of main importance, that the order in which each item appears in each book is also the order in which it appeared in the pages of the authors used. Nonius evolved each book in the same mechanical fashion. He went through the lists of notable words compiled by him from the various sources which he used, Gellius' 'Noctes Atticae,' Plautus, Lucretius, etc., and selected from these lists the words suitable for the purpose of this particular book, setting them down in the order in which they came to hand. In Book I, for example, he took from his Gellius-list the three items (or 'lemmas,' as they are technically called), infestus (from Gell. IX, 12), maturare (from Gell. X, 11), lictor (from Gell. XII, 3), etc.; from the list extracted from Cicero 'de Officiis' he took stigmatias (Off. II, 25), reserare (Off. II, 55), etc.: and these items or lemmas appear in his pages in the order in which they occur in the pages of the author from whom he culled them, that is to say, in the order in which he had entered them in his rough lists. When he found in this or that list a word which he remembered to have already entered from a previous list, extracted from another author who had been used by him earlier in the book, he added to the quotation, with which the lemma was already provided, the new quotation supplied by the new source. For instance, from his list excerpted from Cicero 'de Republica' he had entered the word portitores (p. 24 M.) with the sentence of Cicero in which it occurred, and with a parallel passage, supplied, I fancy, by a marginal note in his copy of Cicero, from the Menaechmi of Plautus. Later, when going through his 'De Officiis' list, he appears to have found the same word, and, turning back to the lemma 'portitores,' to have appended the quotation from Off. I, 150 to the Plautus-quotation.

A perusal of the following pages will, I hope, produce conviction that this is no mere possible or probable account of Nonius' method of procedure in the composition of his twenty books of the 'De Compendiosa Doctrina,' but is the statement of what actually occurred. It is quite in keeping with what we know of ancient glossaries, which often shew 'author-sequences' of words, that is a batch of words taken from one author followed by a batch of words taken from another author. In parts of Festus' epitome of the great dictionary of Verrius Flaccus we can see Cato-sequences, followed by Plautus-sequences, and so on, though in other parts an alphabetic order (by AB —or ABC—) is followed<sup>g</sup>. But before I can hope to demonstrate the mechanical regularity with which Nonius has followed this method of compilation, there are strong à priori objections to be overcome. Is it likely, one asks oneself, that in the twentieth century there should be a possibility of following with precision each step taken by a lexicographer of the fourth century in compiling his dictionary, of getting a sight of him, so to speak, in his study, as he took up his rough lists of materials, one by one, and entered the items from them on his pages? Are there not a thousand chances of his having departed from an order of procedure so repellently mechanical? Would he not be likely to bring words culled from one list into proximity with words, cognate in meaning or in form, which he had taken from another list? Even if his first draft of a book had been prepared in this inert fashion, would he not, before committing it to the criticism of others, have taken pains effectually to conceal all traces of its composition?

<sup>g</sup> See Reitzenstein 'Verrianische Forschungen' (vol. I of Breslauer Philologische Abhandlungen), Breslau, 1887.

The only way of overcoming these very natural objections is to present in all completeness the actual facts, to give an analysis of the 'De Compendiosa Doctrina,' book by book<sup>h</sup>, exhibiting the words in the order in which Nonius has placed them, and stating the source from which each batch of words has come. Before the reader has gone very far he will be surprised with the precision with which the method I have mentioned has been followed, and will find that the batches of words from the various authors follow each other with so monotonous regularity that after one citation he can guess with a degree of accuracy what author or what book of what author will be cited next. When he has finished, he will, I trust, have no doubt that the arrangement of the words in this ancient dictionary followed a method that is clearly recognizable to-day. The only question will be to what extent any deviation from the normal procedure ever actually occurred.

This mechanical regularity is not inconsistent with what we can infer of Nonius' type of mind. We can see from his use of Aulus Gellius<sup>i</sup> how little trouble he gave himself with the compilation of his materials; and various defects in composition, such as the recurrence of identical lemmas<sup>k</sup> in the same book, shew us that his Dictionary was not revised by the author before publication. For surely the correction of repetitions like these would be the first result of any revision. There is indeed one form of departure from the normal arrangement that occasionally shews itself, but it is of a nature to confirm, rather than to weaken, the impression of Nonius' mechanical method of work. Now and then an extra-quotation supplied from a later list, which exhibited a word that had been already entered from an earlier list, has brought in its train a lemma or two taken from the later list. Nonius, after entering the extra-quotation, went on mechanically copying what was before him, instead of turning to the right page. (For examples, see the following analysis.)

<sup>h</sup> Books II—IV, owing to the suspicion that they incur of re-editing (see above, p. 2), must, for the present, be omitted.

<sup>i</sup> See M. Hertz 'Opuscula Gelliana,' pp. 85 sqq., a revised and improved version of his earlier treatise on the subject.

<sup>k</sup> If Nonius forgot that a word which he found in one of his lists had already been entered by him in his Dictionary from a previous list, the result was a recurrence of the identical lemma. An example in Book I is occatio (42. 11 and 61. 24).

Transpositions of this kind (they are very rare) are clearly due to Nonius himself. For others, we have to balance the possibility of Nonius having departed from his normal procedure against the possibility of a corruption in the text. Our MSS. of Nonius come, all of them, from one archetype, an archetype written apparently in minuscule script<sup>1</sup>, and therefore of no great antiquity. If it did not abound in transpositions, insertions, and omissions, it would be strangely unlike the other MSS. of its time; for the 'Compendiosa Doctrina,' being in dictionary form, offers unusual temptation to a scribe to overlook a lemma or to take it in its wrong order of sequence. We know of one loose leaf in this archetype (containing 406, 12—409, 15) which was wrongly inserted after the first leaf (ending with 3, 13) of the whole MS., and which our extant MSS. have all copied in its wrong place. They have also added errors of their own, not merely in the form of miscopyings and omissions, but in the more harmful form of insertions. Nonius' work was the Latin Dictionary of many a monastic library; and a studious abbot would have no scruple in adding in the margin or at the end of a chapter some word which he found in another part of the work. We can detect these errors by the help of extant MSS. which do not share them. But if similar liberties were taken with our archetype (and we have every reason to suppose that they were), the corrupt readings are of necessity reproduced in all MSS. of our author. Now and then these intruding quotations bear upon them evidence of their own spuriousness. For instance, we find in all our MSS. at 520, 15, under the lemma lateres, after a quotation from Varro, Vit. Pop. Rom. III, this insertion: et in alio idem 'later quod conquadrvavit regius.' Here the phrase 'et in alio idem' convicts the entry of spuriousness, for it is not one of Nonius' phrases.

<sup>1</sup> See Philologus, iv, 168.

The quotation occurs in proper form in another part of the Compendiosa Doctrina, viz. 131, 10, where the same word, later, is discussed, and has clearly been inserted at 520, 15, at some later time.

Again, when we find in Book I (a book concerned with the use of words in their literal sense) a quite unsuitable extra-quotation in the lemma privus, and on turning to Book II (a book dealing with peculiar uses of words) find the same quotation suitably used to illustrate a peculiar sense of privus, we can hardly doubt that some reader, possessed of that proverbially dangerous thing, a ‘little knowledge,’ had noticed the quotation in Book II and entered it in the margin at the place where the same lemma stood in Book I.

ii. The sources of Nonius' rough lists of words.

1. A glossary, taken mainly from the plays of Titinius and other Republican Dramatists (including Plautus); also from Varro. The symbol for it in my Analysis of Contents will be Gloss. i.
2. The 21 ‘Varronian’ plays of Plautus in this order<sup>m</sup>: Amphitruo, Asinaria, Aulularia, Bacchides, Vidularia, Cistellaria, Casina, Captivi, Curculio, Epidicus, Miles Gloriosus, Menaechmi, Mercator, Mostellaria, Persa, Pseudolus, Poenulus, Rudens, Stichus, Trinummus, Truculentus. The symbol for this list will be Plautus i.

3. Lucretius, all.

4. The Lycurgus of Naevius. Symbol, Naev. Lyc.
5. A volume of Accius, containing the Eurysaces, ‘Erisaces,’ Armorum Judicium, Astyanax, Oenomaus, Tereus, Alphesiboea, Amphitryo, Melanippus, Epinausimache, Pelopidae, Phoenissae, Medea, Philoctetes, Alemeo and Telephus, in this order or something like it. Symbol, Accius i.

6. Pomponius, the volume containing the P-plays: Pictores, Prostibulum, Pannuceati, Pappus agricola, Piscatores, Pistor, Praeco posterior, fairly in this order; possibly also the Petitor and Porcus.

7. Novius, a volume containing apparently these plays (order very uncertain): Fullones feriati, Paedium, Agricola, Zona; also perhaps the Decuma, Gallinaria, Ficitor, Tabellaria, Sanniones, <sup>m</sup> The relative positions of Merc. and Most. are quite uncertain. For details of the arrangement of the several works of Plautus and the other authors used by Nonius, see the Appendix.

Maccus, Maccus exul, Milites Pometinenses, Pappus praeteritus, Praeco posterior, ‘Eurusaces.’

8. A second volume of Accius, containing (more or less in this order) : Epigoni, Meleager, Aeneadae aut Decius, Stasiastae vel Tropaeum Liberi, Athamas, Clytaemestra, Bacchae, Neoptolemus, Erigona, Nyctegresia, Andromeda, Atreus, Phinidae, Agamemnonidae. Symbol, Accius ii.

(The Antigona, and possibly the Chrysippus, were included either in this volume or in the other.)

9. Lucilius' Satires, Books I—XX. The title ‘Saturaæ’ is always cited in this series. Symbol, “Lucilius i.”

10. Ennius, a volume containing the Hectoris Lytra and Telephus (in this order); possibly also others of his tragedies.

11. Turpilius, a volume with these plays, in this order: Boethuntes, Demetrius, Canephorus, Demiurgus, Epiclerus, Thrasyleo, Paedium, Philopator, Leucadia, Lindia, Lemniae, Paraterusa, Hetaera.

12. Pacuvius, these four plays, in this order : Atalanta, Periboea, Dulorestes, Hermiona; possibly also the Iliona and Medus.

13. Cicero de Republica. The title of this volume gave the author's name as ‘M. Tullius,’ not as ‘Cicero.’ Symbol, Cicero i.

(?) 14. A Glossary (?). Symbol, “Gloss. ii.”

15. A volume of Varro's Menippean Satires, containing those whose Latin titles began with P, or whose Greek titles began with περί: (1) Εὑρεν ἡ λοπὰς τὸ πῶμα, περὶ γεγαμηκότων, (2) Ἐχω σε, περὶ τύχης, (3) Περὶ ἔξαγωγῆς, (4) Mutuum muli scabunt, περὶ ψωρισμοῦ, (5) Ἀνθρωπόπολις, περὶ γενεθλιακῆς, (6) Marcopolis, περὶ ἀρχῆς, (7) Cygnus, περὶ ταφῆς, (8) Sciamachia, περὶ τύφου. (9) Synephebus, περὶ ἐμμονῆς, (10) Τὸ ἐπὶ τῇ φακῇ μύρον, περὶ εὐκαιρίας, (11) Ἄλλ' οὐ μενεῖς, περὶ φιλαργυρίας, (12) Papia papaε, περὶ ἐγκωμίων, (13) Pseudulus Apollo, περὶ Θεῶν διαγνώσεως, (14) Cosmotoryne, περὶ φθορᾶς κόσμου, (15) Gloria, περὶ φθόνου, (16) Flaxtabula, περὶ ἐπαρχιῶν, (17) Testamentum, περὶ διαθηκῶν, (18) Ἐκατόμβη, περὶ θυσιῶν, (19) Periplus I, Periplus II, περὶ φιλοσοφίας, (20) Octogenesis, περὶ νομισμάτων, (21) Serranus, περὶ ἀρχαιεσιῶν, (22) Ἔως πότε, περὶ ὥρῶν, (23) Desultorius, περὶ τοῦ γράφειν, (24) Devicti, περὶ φιλονικίας, (25) Prometheus Liber, (26) περὶ κεραυνοῦ, (27) Tithonus, περὶ γήρως, (28) Est modus matulae, περὶ μέθης, (29) Epitaphiones, περὶ τάφων, (30) Trihodites Tripylius, περὶ ἀρετῆς κτήσεως, and possibly others, e.g. περὶ αἰρέσεων and Vinalia, περὶ ἀφροδισιῶν. Symbol, Varro i.

16. Cicero (styled 'M. Tullius') de Deorum Natura, Book II.
Symbol, Cicero ii.

? 17. A third volume of Accius, containing the Myrmidones and Diomedes. Symbol, Accius iii.

18. Sallust: Jugurtha (with title 'Jugurthae bellum,' or merely 'Jugurtha'), Histories (with title 'Historiae'), and Catiline (with title 'Catilinae bellum'), in this order.

19. Afranius, a volume containing the Vopiscus, Privignus, Fratriae and Exceptus, in this order; possibly also the Divortium and Suspecta.

20. Cicero (styled 'M. Tullius') de Officiis, Book I. Symbol, Cicero iii.

21. The Danae of Naevius. Symbol, Naev. Dan.

22. Virgil.

23. Terence.

24. A volume of Cicero (styled 'M. Tullius'), containing the letters 'ad Caesarem iuniorem' (with this form of title), followed by the Verrine and Philippic orations. Symbol, Cicero iv.

25. Lucilius Satires, Books XXVI.—XXX. Curiously enough, the list compiled from these books began with Book XXX and ended with Book XXVI, presumably because Nonius had begun his task of excerpting with the last book of the Satires. The title 'Saturae' is never cited in this series. Symbol, Lucilius ii.

26. A Glossary (?). Symbol, Gloss. iii.

27. A Glossary of Verbs arranged in strict alphabetical order. Symbol, Alph. Verb.

28. A Glossary of Adverbs, arranged in strict alphabetical order. Symbol, Alph. Adverb.

29. A volume of Cicero (styled 'M. Tullius'), containing: de Officiis II—III, Hortensius, de Senectute, in this order. Symbol, Cicero v.

30. A volume of Plautus, with the A-plays: Amphitruo, Asinaria, Aulularia, in this order. Symbol, Plautus ii.

31. A second volume of Varro's Menippean Satires, containing these Satires, in this order: Marcipor, Andabatae, Lex Maenia, Mysteria, Agatho, Quinquatus, Endymiones, Virgula divina, Gerontodidascalus, Parmeno, Hercules tuam fidem, Meleagri, Ταῦφη Μενίππου, Sesqueulixes, Hercules Socraticus, Sexagesis, Γνῶθι σεαυτὸν, Eumenides. Symbol, Varro ii.

32. Gellius Noctes Atticae.

33. A third volume of Varro's Menippean Satires, with the Bimarcus, Manius, Modius, "Ovos λύπας, in this order. Symbol, Varro iii.

34. Cicero (styled 'M. Tullius') de Finibus. Symbol, Cicero vi.

35A. The first part of a Glossary (?), mainly from Varro, not alphabetical. This first part included Varro's Epistles. Symbol, Gloss. iv.

36. Sisenna, Historiae, Bks. III, IV.

35B. The second part of the Varro-Glossary (?) mentioned above. This second part included Varro Rerum Humanarum lib. XX. Symbol, Gloss. iv.

37. Cicero (styled 'Cicero') Orator and de Oratore (in this order). Symbol, Cicero vii.

38A. Part of a Glossary in rough alphabetical order. Symbol, Gloss. v.

39. Cicero (styled 'Cicero') Academica and Tusculanae disputationes (in this order). Symbol, Cicero viii.

40. Varro de Re Rustica, Bk. I. Symbol, Varro iv.

38B. The other part of the Glossary in rough alphabetical order. Symbol, Gloss. v.

41. Varro (1) de Vita populi Romani, (2) Catus vel de liberis educandis (in this order). Symbol, Varro v.

iii. Analysis of Contents<sup>n</sup> of the 'Compend. Doctr.', Books I, V—XX.

BOOK I, DE PROPRIETATE SERMONUM, i.e. the Etymology of Words, and Words used in the older literature in their etymological sense.

Gloss. i.			(aetas	mala
1 senium	Titin.	Velit.,	Plaut.	Men.
	Nov.	Gallin.,	756; bona aetas
	(?)Caecil.	Ephes.	M. Tull. Sen.)
			3 velitatio	Plaut. Asin. 307

<sup>n</sup> I give the lemmas of each book of the 'Compendiosa Doctrina,' arranged in their order of sequence. After each lemma I give the reference to the passage of the author from which Nonius obtained it; but, for the sake of saving space, I omit the references to the extra-quotations. The quotation that stands first in Nonius' paragraph is almost invariably the source from which the lemma came. Where however this practice is departed from, or where there is any reasonable doubt about the exact source, I give more than one reference. In the case of Glossaries all the quotations cited in the Glossary are given. At the head of each batch of lemmas I indicate by means of the symbols, already explained, the rough list from which Nonius took them. The numbers on the left give Mercier's paging.

phrygiones	Titin. Barbat. Virg. Aen. IX	lurcones	Plaut. Pers. 421 concentuariare Plaut. Pseud.
Plautus i.
hostimentum	Plaut. Asin. 172, 377	finitores	Plaut. Poen. 48 passum [Plaut. Stich.
4 tolutum	Plaut. Asin. 706	12 expes <sup>t</sup>	369] Poen. 312 exules <sup>t</sup> Acc. Eurys.
capulum	Plaut. Asin. 892	vestispici	Virg. G. III supgilare Plaut. Trin.
5 temulenta	Plaut. Aul. 355	supgilare	Plaut. Truc.
cinaedi	Plaut. Aul. 422	Lucretius.
6 exercitus	Sall. <sup>o</sup> Jugurt. bell. 71, Plaut. Bacch. (frag.)	13 austra	Lucr. V 516
tenus	Plaut. Bacch. 792	veterina	Lucr. V 865
inlicire <sup>p</sup>	Naev. Lycurg. (quotation, proba-	crepera	Lucr. V 1296
pelices	bly Plaut. Cist. 37, omitted)	14 Avernus	Lucr. VI 740
calvitur	Plaut. Cas. 169	Naev. Lyc.
7 frigere	Plaut. Cas. 267	vitulantes	Naev. Lycurg.
defloccare	Plaut. Cas. 967	Accius i.
depexum <sup>q</sup>	Ter. Heaut.	extorris	Acc. Eurys.
sartores	Plaut. Capt.	15 enoda	Acc. Eurys.
8 nautea	Plaut. Curc. 99	grummus	Acc. Oenom.
tricae	Plaut. Curc. 613	torrus	Acc. Melan.
caperrare	Plaut. Epid.	16 expectorare	Acc. Phoen.
9 examussim	Plaut. Men. 50 (amussim, Amph. 843; emussitata, Mil. 632)	extispices	Acc. Medea
mutus <sup>r</sup>	Naev. Lycurg.	lactare	Acc. Medea dispennere	Plaut. Mil. 1407	succussare	Acc. Philoct.
10 focula	Plaut. Pers. 104	Pomponius.
bardum	Plaut. Pers. 169	17 strena	Pomp. pictores
inlex et exlex <sup>s</sup>	Plaut. Pers. 407	adulatio	M. Tull. Deor. Nat. II
		manducones	Pomp. pictores
		senica	Pomp. pictores
		gradarius	Lucil. Sat. XIV
		exdorsuare <sup>u</sup>	Plaut. Aul. 398
		18 delirare	Pomp. Prostib.

<sup>o</sup> Inserted from 295. 5?<sup>p</sup> Either from a note on tenus or from Plaut. Bacch. 1151.<sup>q</sup> From a note on defloccare. Cf. 62. 23 ‘delibratum,’ decorticatum, ut ‘dear-tuum,’ per artus discessum.<sup>r</sup> From a note on examussim (cf. Paul. Fest. 54 Th. quidam ‘amussim’ esse dicunt non tacite, quod mutare interdum dicitur loqui) or possibly from Plaut. Mil. 664 mutum mare.<sup>s</sup> The proper place of the lemma teralium, which the MSS. wrongly insert in the middle of this lemma is uncertain. Possibly it belongs to the ‘Gloss. i.’ series. Cf. 537. 19.<sup>t</sup> These two lemmas should, I fancy, stand beside extorris (p. 14 M.).<sup>u</sup> Perhaps inserted from 95. 12.

centuriatim	Pomp. Prostib.
rumen	Pomp. Prostib.
rudus	Lucil. Sat. XI
rutrum	Pomp. Pannuc.
nebulones	Pomp. Pannuc.
19 truam	Pomp. Pannuc.
evannetur	Pomp. Pannuc.
vafrum	Pomp. Praec. Post.
20 particulones	Pomp. Praec. Post.

Novius (this list in Book I has supplied only extra-quotations, e.g. to the lemma tolutim, p. 4 M. See section v.)

Accius ii.

clepere	Acc. Epig.
corporare	Enn. Androm., Acc. Stas. vel Trop.
circus	Acc. Androm.
medicina	Acc. Phin.

Lucilius i.

cernuus	Lucil. Sat. III
21 stricturae	Virg. VIII <sup>x</sup> , Lucil. Sat. III
quiritare	Lucil. Sat. VI
caries	Lucil. Sat. VII
virosae	Lucil. Sat. VII
22 capronae	Lucil. Sat. VII
cerebrosi	Lucil. Sat. XV
gliscit	Turpil. Philop., Acc. Aeneadae
prostomis	Lucil. Sat. XV
tricones <sup>y</sup>	Lucil. Sat. XI

Ennius (only extra-quotations, e.g. to enoda, p. 15).

Turpilius.

sagae	Lucil. Sat. VII, Turpil. Boeth.
-------	------------------------------------

Pacuvius.

23 lapit	Pacuv. Perib.
moenes	Pacuv. Dolor.

Cicero i.

petulantia	M. Tull. Rep. IV
procacitas	M. Tull. Rep. IV
24 Kalendarum	Varro V.P.R. I consulum et
praetorum	Varro V.P.R. II
ignominia	M. Tull. Rep. IV
fidei	M. Tull. Rep. IV
portitores	M. Tull. Rep. IV
25 seditionis	M. Tull. Rep. VI

Gloss. ii.

hamiotas	Varro Bimarc.
valgum	Nov. Mil. Pomet.
vatax	Lucil. XXVIII
catax	Lucil. Sat. II
silones	Varro Γνῶθι σε
bronci	Lucil. Sat. III
compernes	Lucil. Sat. XVII
26 vari	Lucil. Sat. XVII

Varro i.

lingulacae	Varr. Pap. pap.
rabulae	Varr. Pap. pap.
ebullire <sup>z</sup>	Cic. Tusc. III
rapones	Varr. Pap. pap.
27 strabones	Varr. Flaxt.
extermina- tum <sup>a</sup>	Lucil. XXIX
exodium	Varr. Hecat.
putus	Plaut. Pseud. 989, Varr. He- cat.
28 compedes	Varr. Prom.
fulgura	Varr. περὶ Κερ.
coagulum	Varr. Est Mod.

Cicero ii, Accius iii (not used).

Sallust (only extra-quotations, e.g. to calvitur, p. 6 M.).

<sup>x</sup> Possibly inserted from 524. 2.

<sup>y</sup> From note on rabulae, Varr. 1<sup>ap.</sup> pap.?

Varr. Hecat.?

<sup>z</sup> Possibly inserted from 338. 10.

<sup>a</sup> From note on exodium,

Afranius.

mulierosi	Afran. Vopisc.
flagriones	Afran. Vopisc.
edulia	Afran. Privign.
merenda	Afran. Fratr.

Cicero iii.

29 pedetemp-	M. Tull. Off. I tim	120
calces <sup>b</sup>	Virg. V
subligaculum	M. Tull. Off. I 129
mediocritas	M. Tull. Off. I
	130
30 modestiam	M. Tull. Off. I
	142

Naev. Dan. (not used).

Virgil.

antes	Virg. G. II
camurum	Virg. G. III. 55
immune	Virg. G. IV
dirum <sup>c</sup>	Virg. G. III 468
exordium	Virg. A. IV 284
inops	Virg. VIII 100

Terence.

31 defrudare	Ter. Phorm. 44
sudum <sup>d</sup>	Virg. VIII 529
inritare	Lucil. Sat. I,
	Ter. Phorm. 932
ablegare	Ter. Hec. 414
32 arcanum <sup>e</sup>	Virg. A. IV 422
tormines	Cic. Tusc. II
monumenti	M. Tull. ad
	Caes. Epist. II <sup>f</sup>
rivales	Ter. Eun. 353
gestire	Ter. Eun. 558
involare	Ter. Eun. 648
33 propinare	Ter. Eun. 1087

[pedetemptim]Cic. Verrinae actio I]Cicero iv.

insulsum	M. Tull. ad
	Caes. iun. Epist.
II
ignavum	Virg. G. IV 168,
	III. 42 <sup>g</sup> , M.
	Tull. ad Caes.
	iun. II
calamito-	M. Tull. Verrin.
sum	Divinat.
serium	Afran. Privign.
34 interpolare	M. Tull. in Verr.
	act. II (II, i)
everriculum	M. Tull. Verrin.
	V de signis (II,
	iv, 53)
divaricari	M. Tull. de signis (Verr. II,
	iv, 86)
vacillare	M. Tull. Phil.
	III

Lucilius ii.

praestrin-	Plaut. Mil. glor.,
gere <sup>h</sup>	Lucil. XXX
35 angina	Lucil. XXX
arquatus	? (Lucil. XXX)
privum	Lucil. XXX
nugator	Lucil. XXX
foramina <sup>i</sup>	Cic. Tusc. I 47 discernicu-
lum	Lucil. XXX
fratrum	Nigidius
36 subplantare	Lucil. XXIX
coniungere	Lucil. XXIX
fenestrae <sup>k</sup>	Cic. Tusc. I 46
emungi	Lucil. XXIX

<sup>b</sup> Possibly inserted from 415. 2; 257. 51; 406. 35.<sup>c</sup> That this lemma originally preceded the lemma immune is suggested by the apparently designed alphabetical order of these Virgil-lemmas.<sup>d</sup> This and the preceding lemma have, I fancy, been transposed.<sup>e</sup> Possibly taken from a note on Ter. Hec. 431 in arcem. Cf. Paul. Fest.<sup>12. 5</sup> Arcani sermonis significatio trahitur ab arce, etc.<sup>f</sup> See p. 9, above. <sup>g</sup> Possibly inserted from 460. 6; 386. 38.<sup>h</sup> Possibly belongs to preceding series. Cf. 373. 26.<sup>i</sup> Cf. fenestrae, below.<sup>k</sup> Cf. foramina, above. Are both lemmas the result of one marginal insertion?

	adglomerare	Virg. Aen. II
	collare	Lucil. XXIX
	depilati	Lucil. XXIX
	excuriari	Varr. Hippoc.
	pensum	Lucil. XXVIII
37	aqua intercus	Lucil. XXVIII
	maltas	Lucil. XXVII
	monogram- mi	Lucil. II, XXVII
	portorium	Lucil. XXVII
	impertire	Lucil. XXVII
	sedulum	Lucil. XXVII
	scripturarios	Lucil. XXVI
38	versipelles	Lucil. XXVI
	conibones	Lucil. XXVI
	capital	Plaut. Men., Lucil. XXVI
	clandestino	Lucil. XXVI
	idiotas	Lucil. XXVI
	expirare	Lucil. III <sup>1</sup> , XXVI.
Gloss. iii (Alph. Verb.?)
	eliminare	Pacuv. Dulor, Pomp. Concha, ENN. Med. ex., Acc. Meleag.
39	incoxare	Pomp. Pann.
	condepsere	Pomp. Nupt.
	vituperare (vitio dare?)	Ter. Andr.

		Alph. Verb.
	ordire	Acc. Amph., Afran. Susp.
	pilare	Afran. Comp., Nov. Exod.
	populare	Pacuv. Chrys., Ter. Phorm.
40	rabere	Varro Idem Atti, Caecil. Hyp. Rostr.
	supersedere	Turpil. Paed., Plaut. Epid.

	titinnire	Afran. Vopisc., Nigidius XVIII
	verminari	Pomp. Hirn. Papp.
Alph. Adverb.
	canatim	Nigidius Comm. Gramm.
	cossim	Pomp. Porc.
	infabre	Pac. Niptr.
	saepiunt <sup>m</sup>	Afran. Matert.
Cicero v.
	stigmatias	M. Tull. Off. II 25
	reserare	M. Tull. Off. II 55
	abundare	Virg. G. IV
	tergiversari	M. Tull. Off. III
	prudentiam	M. Tull. Hort.
42	adpendix	M. Tull. Hort.
	convivii	M. Tull. Sen. 45
	occationem	M. Tull. Sen. 51
	coagmenta	M. Tull. Sen. 72
	verniliter <sup>n</sup>	Caecil. Fenerat.
	pecuniosi et locupletes	M. Tull. Rep. II 16
43	viritim <sup>n</sup>	M. Tull. Rep. II 26

		Plautus ii.
	vernas	Plaut. Amph. 179
	concinnare	Plaut. Amph. 529
	paupertas	Varro V.P.R. I
44	pandere	Varro V.P.R. I blatis	Plaut. Amph. 626
	percontari	Plaut. Amph. 710
	prodigia	Plaut. Amph. 739

<sup>1</sup> Possibly inserted from 279. 35.<sup>m</sup> Probably from a discussion of the Adverb saepe.<sup>n</sup> These lemmas look like the conclusion of the Alph. Adverb. series above.

cerriti

Plaut. Amph.
(frag.)

calcitrones

Plaut. Asin. 391

45 votitum

Plaut. Asin. 789

verberare

Plaut. Aul. 42

cassum

Plaut. Aul. 191

croccitum

Plaut. Aul. 625

sublevit

Plaut. Aul. 667

investes

Virg. A. VIII

Varro ii.

inferum

Varr. Marcip.

46 Syrus

Varr. Marcip.

evirare

Varr. Marcip.

ludibria

Virg. VI 74

febris

Varr. Andab.

vulpinari

Varr. Myst.

sufflatum

Varr. Agath.

vespertilio

Varr. Agath.

47 exorrectum

Varr. Endym.

iugatum

Cic. Tusc. III 17

prodius

Varr. Virg. Div.

granaria

Varr. Gerontod.

torculum

Varr. Gerontod.

cingillum

Varr. Gerontod.

Tutilina

Varr. Herc. t. f.

Tutanus

Varr. Herc. t. f.

48 silicernium

Ter. Adelph.,

suffundatum

Varr. Meleag.

edones

Varr. Taφ. Men.

elixum

Varr. Taφ. Men.

parochos

Varr. Sesqueul.

49 Trossuli

Varr. Sesqueul.

proboscis

Varr. Sexag.

cetari

Varr. Γνῶθι σε.

tonimus

Varr. Eum.

dierecti

Varr. Eum.

praesepia

Virg. A. I., Varr.

"Ονος λύπας

50 subrigere

Virg. A. IV

lingulaceae

Plaut. Cas.

Gellius.

fures

(= Gell. I 18)

<sup>a</sup> Cf. iugeri, below.<sup>b</sup> The first etymology of the word probably comes from a note on Cic. Orat. 50, the extra quotation.<sup>c</sup> Cf. ador, above.

		ventorum
		proprietates (= Gell. II 22)
51	penus	(= Gell. IV 1)
	laevum	(= Gell. V 12)
	rudentes	(? = Gell. VIII 14)
	infestus	(= Gell. IX 12)
	maturare	(= Gell. X 11)
	lictor	(= Gell. XII 3)
	52 soror	(= Gell. XIII 10)
	lues	Lic. Mac. Ann. II
	humanita-	(= Gell. XIII 17)
	tem
	ador <sup>o</sup>	Varr. R.R. I 9
	faciem	(= Gell. XIII 30)
	53 vestibula <sup>p</sup>	(= Gell. XVI 5)
	bidentes	(= Gell. XVI 6)
	iugeri <sup>q</sup>	Varr. R.R. I 10
	faenus	(= Gell. XVI 12)
	54 recepticum	(= Gell. XVII 6)
	siticines <sup>r</sup>	(= Gell. XX 2)
	rumentum	(= Gell. XX 1, 28)
	55 arcera	(= Gell. XX 1, 29)

Varro iii.

tropaei	Varr. Bimarc.
luxum
colinam	Varr. Modius
modestum	Varr. Modius
infans	Cic. Orat., Lucil. XIX, XV, Virg. A. II,
	Varr. "Ονος λύπας
sarcinatrixis	Varr. "Ονος λύπας

Cicero vi (supplies extra-quotation to enoda, p. 15 M.).<sup>r</sup> Should follow arcera, below.

Gloss. iv A.

	petauristae	Varr. Epist. ad Caes., V.P.R. II
57	curiam	Varr. V P.R. II
	legionum	Varr. V.P.R. II
	assas
	enixae

Sisenna.

	remulcare	Sis. Hist. III(?)
	congenuclare	Sis. Hist. III
58	agilem	Sis. Hist. III
	expediti	Sis. Hist. IV
	testudines	Virg. A. I, Sis. Hist. IV
	insinuari	Sis. Hist. IV

Gloss. iv B.

	adolere	Virg. A. I, etc.
	accensi	Varro Rer. Hum. XX
59	nefarious and adoreum	Varr. V.P.R. I propitium	Ter. Adelph., Ter. Andr.
	inpancrare	Varr.
	mansuetum	Virg. G. III, etc.

Cicero vii.

	cinnus	Cic. Orat. 21
60	enucleate	Cic. Orat. 28
	rutundum	Cic. Orat. 40
	rabula	Cic. Orat. 47
	meridies	Cic. Orat. 157
	inepti	Cic.de Or. II 17
	devorsoria	Cic.de Or. II 234
61	sanniones	Ter. Eun., Cic. de Or. II 251

Varro iv.

	heredioli	Varr. R.R. I 10
	legumina	Varr. R.R. I 23
	porcae	Varr. R.R. I 29
	occatio	Varr. R. R. I 31, 1
	poma	Varr. R. R. I 31, 6
62	fraccescere	Varr. R.R. I 55

Gloss. v A.

	calonum (and lixarum)	(elixus Varr. V. P.R. I) confluges	Liv. Andromeda
	consedo	Cass. Hem. Ann. IV
	conticinium
	delibratum	Virg. G. II 77
	exterebrare	Plaut. Astraba
63	grumae	Enn. Ann. XVIII, Lucil. III
	luculentum	Lic. Mac. Ann. I, Plaut.-Cornic.
	logi	Cic. pro Gallio, Turp. Caneph.
	fulgoratoris	Cato de Mor. Cl. Ner.
	moletrina	Cato in Therm.
	panis	Varro V.P.R. I
	mustulentum	Plaut. Cist.
64	prolubrium (and convicium)	Acc. Androm., Naev. Colax, Laber. Compit., Varr. L.L. V
	trag. inc., pedato	Cato Orig. I, Cato Dissuas. de fener.
	praeclavium	Afran. Omen, Afran. Fratr.
	propages	Pacuv. Antiopa, Enn. (Ann.)
	praegreditur	Pacuv. Atalanta
65	promicare	Naev. Agrypn.
	praevius	Cicero Alcyones

Cicero viii.

	digladiari	Cic. Acad. I
	aequor	Cic. Acad. II
	Maeniana	Cic. Acad. IV (II) 70
	natrices	Cic. Acad. IV (II) 120
	exultare	Cic. Acad. III
66	excordes	Cic. Tusc. I 18
	manum	Cic. Tusc. I 28
	fodicare	Cic. Tusc. III 35

Gloss. v B.

politiones	Enn. Sat. III, Ann. IX
praeficiae	Plaut. Frivol., Plaut. Truc., Lucil. XXII
67 pareutactoe	Lucil. IX, XXVIII, Varr. Comp. Sat.
proletarii	Cato de Trib. Mil., Cass. Hem. Ann. II
prosapies	Cato Orig. I

Varro v.

optiones	Varr. V.P.R. III
----------	---------------------

Possibly the lemmas curiam, legionum (and assas, enixae?) belonged to this series and were entered at p. 57 by Nonius in suite of the extra-quotation to petauristae. See above, p. 6.

BOOK V, DE DIFFERENTIA SIMILIUM SIGNIFICATIONUM,
i.e. Synonymous Words.

Gloss. i. (not used).*Plautus i.

421	cupido et amor	Plaut. Bacch. (frag.)
	amare et diligere <sup>s</sup>	Cic. ad Brut.
422	perire et interire	Plaut. Capt. 690
	alere et edu- care	Plaut. Men. 98
	tollere et auferre <sup>t</sup>	Virg. A. VIII
	horrendum	Virg. A. III,
	et horri- dum	Plaut. Pseud. 68

423 menetrix et prostibulum<sup>u</sup>

Plaut. Cist.

genetrix et mater<sup>u</sup>

Plaut. Men. 19

pudet et pigetPlaut. Pseud.
281424 osculum et savium<sup>x</sup>

Varro V.P.R. I

sacrificare

Virg. A. IV,

et litare

Plaut. Poen.

Lucretius.*expleri et satiari

Lucr. III

425 arcus et arquus

Lucr. VI.

Naev. Lyc. (not used).*Accius i.*fors et fortuna

Acc. Astyan.

ferus et

Acc. Tereus

ferox

Virg. G. II 209,

anticus et

Varr. R. H. XX,

antiquior

Acc. Phoen.,

Lucil. XIV, M.

Tull. de Amic.

426 faustus et festus

Virg. A. VI 70

cuius et

Acc. Teleph.

Pomponius (not used),*Novius (not used).*Accius ii.*animus et

Acc. Epig.

Lucilius i.*427 vultus et

Sall. Cat. 15,

Lucil. Sat. I

<sup>s</sup> Taken from note on Plaut. Bacch. (frag.), just quoted?

<sup>t</sup> Taken from note on Plaut. Men. 98?

<sup>u</sup> Should these stand before alere et educare?

<sup>x</sup> Probably from a note on some line of Plautus.

sebum et un-
guentum Lucil. Sat. IV mussare et Virg. A. XI 345, murmur- 454
are <sup>y</sup>

priores et
primores Lucil. Sat. VIII 428 poesis et

poema Lucil. Sat. IX [fora et fori This lemma inserted in the MSS. in the middle of the preceding is a marginal insertion from 447, 26.]

doctus et
peritus M. Tull. Off. III

Ennius.

429 urbs et Virg. A. I, Enn.
civitas Teleph.

Turpilius.

cogitare et deliberare Turpil. Boeth. scius et conscius <sup>z</sup>

Pacuvius.

auspiciun et augurium <sup>a</sup>
430 monstra et Virg. A. III
ostenta 365
iniuria et contumelia Pacuv. Perib.
fulmen et fulgor et fulgoritum Virg. G. I

Cicero i.

iurgium et lis M. Tull. Rep. IV

audacia et Sall. Cat. bell.
audentia 58, Virg. A. X merx et M. Tull. Rep.
mercatura III (IV?)
Varro i (not used).

Cicero ii.

superstitio M. Tull. Deor. et religio Nat. II 71 432 peius et Virg. G. IV, A. deterius VIII
circus et M. Tull. Deor.
globus Nat. II 47
manubiae M. Tull. Lex et praeda Agr.

Accius iii.

433 pervicacia Accius Myrm.
et pertin-acia Accius Myrm. sensus et Cic. de Or. (I) sensa 32

Sallust.

iuventus et Virg. G. II, Sall.
iuventa Catil. bell. 14

Afranius.

434 morata et Afran. Vopisc. morosa Afran. Vopisc. vegetus et vigens profesti et festi Afran. Privign. quaerere et requirere Afran. Fratr.

Cicero iii.

specula et Virg. A. X, M. speculum <sup>b</sup> Tull. in Clod., et Cur., Varr.
Eum.

<sup>y</sup> Perhaps from a note on some line of Lucil. like II Mu. 27 non laudare hominem quenquam neque mu facere in quem.

<sup>z</sup> From a note possibly on Turpil. Epicl. (ap. Non. 501. 17); at enim scies ea quae fuisti inscius.

<sup>a</sup> Possibly from a note on some passage of Pacuvius in the style of vv. 83—85 R.

<sup>b</sup> It is possible that this lemma comes from a note on Cic. Off. I, 69, the confiteri et profiteri	Cic. pro Manil.

435 ulcus et vulnus	Virg. G. III, A. IX
quartum et quarto	Varr. Discipl. V, Enn. (Ann.) (?= Gell. X, 1, 6)
turpe et foedum	M. Tull. Off. I 123
formae et figurae	M. Tull. Off. I 126
dignitas et venustas	M. Tull. Off. I 130

Naev. Dan. (not used).Virgil.

monstra et	Virg. A. III 58
prodigia	and 365

(?) Terence.

436 celare et caelare	Ter. Andr., Virg. A. VI
--------------------------	----------------------------

Cicero iv.

ignoscere	M. Tull. ad
et conce-	Caes. iun. I dere
contemnere	M. Tull in Verr.
et despici-	act. II (i), ad
cere	Caes. III

Lucilius ii.

437 cupiditas et cupido	Lucil. XXIX(?)
aemulatio	Virg. A. VI, M.
et imitatio	Tull. in Caesa- rianis (pro Marc.)
probatum
et specta- tum	Lucil. XXVI
bellum et proelium	Lucil. XXVI

cavere et vitare	Lucil. XXVI
---------------------	-------------

Gloss. iii. or Alph. Verb.
vetustiscere	Nigidius Comm.
et veteras-	Gramm. X, M.
cere	(Tull.) ad Hirt. VII

Alph. Adverb (not used).*Cicero v.

438 nocens et nefarious	M. Tull. Off. II
innuere et	Ter. Ad., Virg.
adnuere <sup>e</sup>	A. XII, M. Tull. Hort.
noxia et	Virg. A. I, VII,
noxia	M. Tull. Hort.
plus et	Virg. G. I 94,
multum	M. Tull. Epist. ad Cat.

Plautus ii.

439 sperata et dicta	Plaut. Amph.
mutuum et	Plaut. Asin. 248
fenus simulare et
dissimulare <sup>d</sup>	Sall. Catil. bell.
nutare, ad- nuere, nic- tare	Plaut. Asin. 784
440 castitas et pudicitia	Virg. G. II, A. VI, VII

Varro ii.

pascere et alere	Varr. Gerontod
ora et orae	Virg. (A. I), XII, I extinguere
et obpri- mere	Cic. Amic.

passage quoted (along with the passage from Cic. in Clod. et Cur.) in the 'Cicero iii' sequence in Book IV, s.v. longum (p. 339).

<sup>e</sup> The lemma flagrare et fragrare is inserted in the middle of this lemma in the MSS. <sup>d</sup> Possibly from a note on ad simulabat, Plaut. Asin. 581.

Gellius.

- 441 morbus et vitium (= Gell. IV 2) meminisse
et in memoriā redire (= Gell. VIII 7) die quarta et die quarto (= Gell. X 24) mentiri et mendacium
dicere (= Gell. XI 11) festinare et (= Gell. XVI properare 14) 442 matrona et (= Gell. XVIII mater fami- 6)
lias

Varro iii.

- avarus et Virg. G. II,
avidus Sall. bell. Catil.
audacia et 7
Sall. (Cat.) 58,
audentia Virg. A. X, IX, VIII
prospicere et respicere Varro Manius

Cicero vi (not used), Gloss.
iv, Sisenna, Cicero vii (supply extra-quotations, e.g. to hor-rendum et horridum, p. 422 M., priores et primores, p. 427 M.)

Cicero viii.

- 443 furor et in- Cic. Tusc. III
sania 11
confidentia et fidentia Tusc. III 14 invidia et Cic. Tusc. III invidientia 20
aegrotatio Cic. Tusc. III et aegritu- 23
do iracundus Cic. Tusc. IV et iratus 27
444 laetari et Cic. Tusc. IV gaudere 66

- pernitas et velocitas Cic. Tusc. V 45
metus, timor, etc. Cic. Tusc. V 52 innocens et innocuus Virg. A. X

Gloss. v.

- legere et Varro de Ruselgere <sup>e</sup> ticatione I 445 miserari et Acc. Eurys., misereri Acc. Eris. acerosum et aceratum multum et satis
446 omne et Lucil. XV, IX totum
eniti, inniti
et obniti Virg. A. VI, G.
IV, etc., Ter.
Andr. inlix et in- Plaut. Poen., lex Plaut. Pers.
447 ergastylum Lucil. XV et ergastylus fremere et Virg. G. II, A. frendere III, Pac. Antiopa (bis), Plaut.
(frag.), Acc.
Troad.
fora et fori Virg. A. VI

Varro v.

- educere et educare Varr. Catus 448 aborsus et abortus

BOOK VI, DE IMPROPRIIS, i.e.
Words used metaphorically.

Varro iii.

- edolare Varr. Bimarc.
sulcus Varr. Bimarc.
penula Varr. Manius
vitreum Varr. Modius

<sup>e</sup> This may come from the 'Varro iv' list, but see section vii, below.

Cicero vi (not used).Sisenna.

tela	Sis. Hist. III
449 silentium
fieri	Sis. Hist. IV
caecum	Sis. Hist. IV
labra	Virg. Buc. V, Sis. Hist. IV

(?) Gloss. iv.

interfici et	Plaut. Men.,
occidi	Lucil.(inc.),etc.
450 gannire	Varro, Lucr. V, etc.

Cicero vii (and viii?)

dotatam	Cic. de Or. I
putidus	Cic. de Or. III
	51
cincinni ac
fucus	de Or. III 100
abdicare	Pacuv. Atal.

Varro iv (not used).Varro ii.

equisones	Varr. Marcipor.
451 meridies	Varr. Marcipor.
raeda	Varr. Marcipor.
fascea, 'pro cortice'	Varr. Gerontod.
liber, 'pro cortice'	Virg. G. II <sup>f</sup>
viscus	Varr. Parm.
calcar	Varr. Sesqueul.
ebrii et ieiuni	Varr. Eum.
452 gibber	Varr. Eum.
torrere	Varr. Eum.
aedifican- dum	Virg. A. II

Gellius.

squalere	(= Gell. II 6)
transgressus	(= Gell. X 26)
453 bibere	Virg. Buc. III
libido	Sall. Catil. bell.

Plautus ii.

usu	Plaut.
furtum	Amph. 845
454 ingredi	Virg. G. IV, Plaut. Amph. (frag.)
obsequia	Plaut. Amph. (frag.)
versutos	Plaut. Asin. 61
devorari	Plaut. Asin. 649
bicipitem	Varr. V.P.R. IV
defecata	Plaut. Aul. 79
malitiam	Plaut. Aul. 215
beluam	Plaut. Aul. 561
grocire	Plaut. Aul. 624

Gloss. i.

rostrum	Plaut. Men.
fatum	Virg. A. VII (bis), IV
rictum	Titinius

Plautus i.

456 stuprum	Amph. 883
thensaurus	Plaut.
compos.	Amph. (frag.)
vivus	Plaut. Epid.
indoles	Virg. A. I
457 alacritas <sup>g</sup>	Plaut. Mil.
catuli	Cic. Tusc. V. 48
compressus	Virg. G. III,
opifex <sup>h</sup>	Plaut. Truc. 268
	Plaut. Truc. 497
	Cic. Tusc. V 34

(?) Lucretius.

458 semina	Virg. G. II
sumen	Lucil. Sat. IV
exuvias et	Virg. G. III 437,
spolia	Accius Bacch.,
divortia	Lucr. (IV)
	Virg. A. IX

Naev. Lyc., Acc. i

(not used).

<sup>f</sup> From note on the preceding passage of Varr. Gerontod.<sup>g</sup> Cf. opifex, below.<sup>h</sup> Cf. alacritas, above.

Pomponius, Novius (supply extra-quotations to rictum, rostrum, p. 455), Accius ii (supplies extra-quotation to exu vias et spolia, p. 458), Lucil. i (cf. sumen, p. 458), Ennius, Turpil. Pacuv. Cic. i <sup>1</sup>(not used).

Varro i.

virgines	Varro περὶ Εὐγενίας
enixae	Virg. A. III
pransi	Varr. Flaxt.

Cicero ii, Accius iii (not used). Sallust (supplies extra-quotation to stuprum, p. 458), Afranius, Cicero iii (not used), Naev. Dan. (supplies extra-quotation to compotem, p. 456).

Virgil.

459 os	Virg. A. IX, etc., G. III 453
dorsa et tergora	Virg. G. III 361
virgo <sup>i</sup>	Cic. Orat. 64
nidi	Virg. G. IV 16
imbris	Virg. G. IV 114
460 pecudes	Virg. G. IV 327 and 168
pax	Virg. G. IV 534
profundus	Virg. A. I 58
procacitas	Virg. A. I 536
putidus	Cic. Orat. 27
devotus	Virg. A. I 712
461 reus <sup>k</sup>	Virg. A. V 237
dapes <sup>k</sup>	Virg. A. III 630
domus	Virg. A. VI 81
incestus	Virg. A. VI 149
revocare pedem	Virg. A. IX 124
murices <sup>l</sup>	Virg. A. V 205
462 dentes	Virg. G. II 406, A. VI 3

Terence (not used).

Cicero iv.

locuples	M. Tull. ad Caes. iun. II
monumenta	M. Tull. in Verr. act. II (i)
promeritum	Plaut. Amph. 570

Lucilius ii.

463 pallor	Lucil. XXX
bonus	Lucil. XXX
multare	Naev. Colax
disciplinosis	Cato de Re Milit.
propitiis	Lucil. XXVII

Gloss. iii (cf. multare, disciplinosis, above).

Alph. Verb.

cachinnare	Acc. Phin.
tacere	Virg. A. IV. (bis)

Alph. Adverb.

adfari <sup>m</sup>	Acc. Tereus
---------------------	-------------

Cicero v.

fastigia	Virg. G. II <sup>n</sup> , M. Tull. Off. III 33
464 numerus	M. Tull. Off. III 50

Gloss. v.

fervor	Virg. G. I
templum	Virg. A. IV
vestigia	Virg. A. V
parere	Caecil. Chalc., Virg. A. XI
viri	Virg. Buc. VII, G. III

<sup>1</sup> Cf. virgines, p. 458, above.

<sup>2</sup> Inserted from 255. 22?

<sup>3</sup> Inserted from 302. 10?

<sup>k</sup> Have these lemmas been transposed?

<sup>m</sup> Cf. III. 35 s.v. famulanter.

465	grundire	Caecil., Laber. Sedig., Claud. Ann. XVI
	insania	Virg. Buc. IX
	elegantes	M.Tull.in Clod. et Cur., Cato Carm. de Mor.
	amarus	Virg. A. X

Varro v.

	multitudo	Varr. V.P.R. II
	sanguinu-
	lentus	Varr.V.P.R.IV
466	pondus	Varr.V.P.R.IV
	carere <sup>o</sup>	Turpil.Demetr.
	audiendum	Virg. G. I
	cavus	Virg. A. VI <sup>p</sup> , X 63 <sup>6</sup>
	lavare <sup>q</sup>	Virg. G. III, A. X 72 <sup>7</sup> , etc.
	animaee <sup>r</sup>	Virg. A. XI 24

BOOK VII, DE CONTRARIIS GENERIBUS VERBORUM, i.e.
Abnormal Verb-forms.

(1) Active Voice Section.

Gloss. i.

467	aucupavi	Titin. Velit., Plaut. Truc., Plaut. Men., ENN. Medea, Pac. Chrys.
-----	----------	---

Plautus i.

	vagas	Plaut. Mil.
	suffragant	Pomp. Macc. Praet.
	meret	Plaut.Men.359, 707
	auspicavi	Plaut. Pers.
	deluctavi	Plaut. Trin.
469	scruto <sup>s</sup>	Plaut. Aul.

Accius i.

	auguro	Acc. Oenom.
	adsensit	Acc. Neopt.
	cunctant	Acc. Alphes.
	accinge	Pomp. Macc. Gem.
	contempla	Acc. Philoct.
470	altercas	Pacuv. Iliona
	arbitrabunt	Plaut. Stich.
	amplexa	Acc. Alcm.
	criminat	ENN. Sat. III

Accius ii.

	dignavi	Acc. Meleag.
	miserarent	Acc. Athamas
	largi	Lucil. XIV

Turpilius.

	intui et con-
	tici	Turpil. Paed.
	proficisceret	Turpil.Hetaera

Pacuvius.

	moderant	Pacuv.Periboea
471	sortirent <sup>t</sup>	Varr.Rer. Hum. XX

Varro i.

	polliceres	Varr. Anthrop.
--	------------	----------------

(?) Sallust.

	populat	Virg. G. I
--	---------	------------

Cicero iii.

	punitur	M. Tull. Off. I 88
	ruminat	Virg. Buc. VI
	fabricantur	M. Tull. Off. I. 147

Lucilius ii.

	palpatur	Lucil. XXIX
	luctant	ENN. (Ann.) IX
	bellantur	Virg. XI
	partiret	Lucil. XXIX
	inpertit	Lucil. XXVII

<sup>o</sup> Inserted from 497. 21? <sup>p</sup> Inserted from 419. 25? <sup>q</sup> Inserted from 503. 39? <sup>r</sup> Inserted from 464. 25? From this point I omit to notice non-use of lists. <sup>s</sup> Inserted from 317. 31?

<sup>t</sup> A marginal adscript? See section vi, below.

Gloss. iii.

cohorta-	Quadrig. Ann.
rent	V
moderant	Acc. Epig.
commisere-
scimus	Virg. A. II
proeliant	Enn. Achilles
conplete	Pomp. Fullones
473 expurgis-	Pomp. Agam.
ceret	Supp.
labasco	Accius
congredias	Plaut. Epid.
certatur	Pacuv. Arm.
	Jud.
frustro	Pomp. Maial.
imitat	Varr. Epist.
	Lat. II
execrare	Afran. Incend.
progredi	Novius Vindem.
consolare	Varr. Oedipoth.
minitas	Liv. Danae
474 mutuet	Caecil. Asotus
percontare	Novius Malevoli
ominas	Pomp. Cret. vel Pet.
savies	Pomp. Munda, Novius Quaestio
paciscunt	Naev. Bell. Poen. VII
convivant	Pomp. Munda
mirabis	Pomp. Patruus
urinantur	Cic. Acad. II
miserete	ENN. Hec.
opino	Plaut. Bacch.
475 promeres	Plaut. Trin.
opitula	Liv. Eq. Troi.
fite	Cato de Praed. Mil., Crassus Il. XVI, Liv. Odyss.
paenitebunt	Pacuv. Arm. Jud.
partiret	Afran. Divort.
recordavit	Quadrig. Ann. V

Alph. Verb.

poti	Pacuv. Iliona
praestolat	Turpil. Paed.
476 revortit	Pomp. Maial.
rheticasti	Novius Asinus
tutant	Plaut. Merc.

(II) Passive Voice Section.*Plautus i.

patitor	Plaut. Asin.
copulantur	Plaut. Aul.
praesagitur	Plaut. Bacch.
expalpabitur	Plaut. Vid.
reddibo	Plaut. Cas.
ludificata
ero	(Plaut. Mil.)
osculavi	Titin. Insubra
expedibo	Plaut. Truc.

Pomponius.

477 manduca-	Pomp.
tur	Agric.

Turpilius.

miseretur	Turpil. Epicl.
muneratur	Turpil. Thrasyl.
rixat	Varr. Arm. Jud.

Pacuvius.

adiutatur	Pacuv. Dulor.
-----------	---------------

Cicero i.

pigneraretur	M. Tull. Rep. I
--------------	-----------------

Varro i.

478 murmurari	Varr. Εὑρεν ἡλοτ.
excalceatur	Varr. Pseud.
	Apoll.
nutritur et nutricatur	Varr. Testam.

Cicero ii (supplies extra-quotations to nutritur et nutricatur).

Lucilius ii.

volam	Lucil. XXVIII
-------	---------------

Gloss. iii.

comman-
ducatur	Lucil. IV
479 esuribo	Pomp. Augur
fatiscuntur	Acc. Epinaus.
conscreabor	Plaut. Pers.
fruticari	Cic. Att. XV
exugebo	Plaut. Epid.

Alph. Verb.

copulantur	Plaut. Aul.
invenibo	Pomp. Bucc.
	Adopt.
poeniuuntur	M. Tull. Tusc. I
480 sacrifican-	Varr. Her. Div.
tur	XIV
discreputit <sup>u</sup>	Cic. de Or. III
spolor	Afran. Crimen

Cicero v.

verecunda-
tur	M. Tull. Hort.

Plautus ii.

convertitur	Plaut. Amph.
-------------	--------------

Varro ii.

ruminatur	Varr. Sexag.
precant	Varr. Eum.
miras	Varr. Eum.

Sisenna.

481 nolitote	Sis. Hist. III
--------------	----------------

Gloss. v.

gliscitur	Sempr. Asellio
	Hist. IV
ignescitur	Laber. Colax.
luxuriabat	Tubero Hist.
	XIV, Virg. G.
	III

Varro v.

focilatur	Varr. V.P.R. II emunge-
rentur	Varr. Catus

(III) Appended Section.*Gloss. i.

libertatem
uti	Titin. Quintus
potior il-
lam rem	Ter. Adelph.

Plautus i.

482 opus est il-
lam rem	Plaut. Cist.

Pomponius.

callet illam
rem	Pomp. Pictor.

Book VIII, DE MUTATIS DECLINATIONIBUS, i.e. Abnormal Noun-Stems.*Gloss. i.

apricatio	M. Tull. Sen.
itiner	Varro Prans.
	Par.
festinem	Titin. Quintus
483 lacte	Enn. (Ann.) X,
	Hemina Ann.
	IV

Plautus i.

mansuem	Plaut. Asin.
quaesti	Titin. Full.,
tumulti	Plaut. Aul.
484 victi	Plaut. Cas.
aesti	Plaut. Capt.
senati	Pacuv. Chrys.
vas	Plaut. Epid.
	M. Tull. Off.
	III 45
sumpti*	Plaut. Trin. 250
iteris	Naev. Lycurg.
exerciti	Acc. Arm. Jud.
aspecti	Acc. Astyan.
scriptio	Cic. de Or. II

* Transposed from p. 481 M.? Or is it not rather an interpolation?

* The lemmas sumpti-parti appear to be in reality extra-quotations to senati, above.

	salti	Acc. Melanip-
	lucti	pus
486	parti	Acc. Pelop.
	frons <sup>y</sup>	Pacuv. Atal.
		Virg. G. II,
	ibus	Varr. Parm.
		Titin. Gem.,
	excelsitas	Plaut. Mil.
		M. Tull. Off.
		III 24
	Campans	Plaut. Trin. 545
	pernicii	M. Tull. pro S.
		Rosc., Sis. Hist.
		VI (= Gell. IX, xiv, 8)
	herem	Naev. Gymn. <sup>z</sup>

Lucretius.

487	gelu	Lucr. V. 205
	vapos	Lucr. VI 952

Accius i.

	pervico	Acc. Arm. Jud.
	Ioni	Plaut. Aul. 556
	antistitam	Acc. Astyan.
	gemitu	Plaut. Aul. 722
	specis	Acc. Alcm.
	gallum	Varr. Eum.
	generibus	Acc. Alcm.
	Argus <sup>a</sup>	Plaut. Amph.
488	augura	Acc. Tel.
	humu	Varr. Prans. Par.
	flucti	Acc. Tel.

Pomponius.

	piscati	Pomp. Piscatores
	poematis	M. Tull. Off. III
	cultio	15 M. Tull. Sen. 56

Novius.

vulgariam	Novius Zona
pannibus <sup>b</sup>	Pomp. Macc.

Gem.

Accius ii.

indecoris	Acc. Atham.
fetis	Acc. Bacch.
sublima	Acc. Phin.

Lucilius i.

labosum	Lucil. Sat. III
nefantia	Lucil. Sat. III
gracila	Lucil. Sat. VIII
bacchanaliorum <sup>c</sup>	Sallust.

Ennius.

tumulti	Enn. Hec. Lytr.
progenii	Pacuv. Paulus
strepiti	Enn. Hec. Lytr.
admirabili-	M. Tull. Off.
itas	II 38
itiner	Enn. Teleph.
ferocia	Pacuv. Teuc.
deleritas	Laber.
holerorum <sup>d</sup>	Lucil. Sat. XV mixtura et moderatura <sup>d</sup>	Varr. V.P.R. I
guberna <sup>d</sup>	Lucil. Sat. XX

Turpilius*.

491	singularia	Turpil. Demetr.
	lubidinitas	Laber. Scylax
	fructi	Turp. Caneph., Turp. Het.
	mansio	Cic. Orat. 177
	volutabun-
	dus	M. Tull. Rep. II

<sup>y</sup> Belonged to the 'Varro ii' series and was entered here by Nonius in suite of the extra-quotation to parti from Varr. Andab. (See above, p. 6.)

<sup>z</sup> See section vii, below.

<sup>a</sup> Probably from a note on some line of Accius, e.g. 682 R.

<sup>b</sup> Possibly inserted from 154. 21, as a parallel to fetis, below.

<sup>c</sup> Cf. holerorum, below.

<sup>d</sup> These lemmas form the conclusion of the 'Lucilius i' series, and should stand after bacchanaliorum, p. 489.

porti	Turpil. Demi.
domuis	Var. Taφ. Mεν.

Pacuvius.

soniti	Pacuv. Dolor.
glutino	Lucil. XXVI

Cicero i.

cautio	Cic. de Or. II
492 ferocia	M.Tull. Rep. VI

Varro i.

gelo	Varr. Sesqueul.
cestis	Varr. Devicti
fructuus	Varr. Meleag.
quaesti	Varr. Prom. Lib.
senecta*	Virg. A. VI

Sallust.

inermis	Sall. Jug. bell.
Galliae	Sall. Hist. IV

Afranius.

493 effigi	Afran. Vopisc.
intemperia <sup>f</sup>	Gell. I 17
poemato- rum	Afran. Privign.

Terence.

cautio	Ter. Andr.
acritas	Acc. Neopt.
largitas	Ter. Adelph.
dextrabus	Liv. Odyss.
curatura	Ter. Eun.

Lucilius ii.

inberbi	Lucil. XXX
sescentum	Lucil. XXX(bis)

Alph. Verb.

494 pauperies <sup>g</sup>	ENN. Hecuba
----------------------------	-------------

Varro v.

aedis	Varr. V.P.R. I victuus	Varr. V.P.R. I

graduis	Varr. V.P.R. II
puerilitas	Varr. Catus
anuis	Varr. Catus
praecantrix	Varr. Catus
rituis	Varr. Catus
pronis <sup>h</sup>	Varr. Parm.
495 teneritas	Cic. Fin. V

BOOK IX, DE NUMERIS ET CASIBUS, i.e. Irregularities of Syntax.Gloss. i.

Acc. Sing	Sis. Hist. IV,
pro Gen.	Titin. Velit.,
Plur.	Titin. Gemin.
496 Acc. pro	Plaut. Amph.
Dat. <sup>1</sup>	257
Gen. pro
Acc.	Titin. Psalm.

(veretur illam rem Afran. Compit., Afran. Simul., Afran. Susp.)

497 Acc. pro	Titin. Gemina
Abl.
(Acc. vel
Nom. pro
Abl.	Turp. Demetr.)
498 Gen. pro	Plaut. Trin.,
Abl.	Cic. Tusc. IV
499 Dat. pro
Acc.	Titin. Barbat.
Acc. pro	M. Tull. Off. II,
Gen.	Virg. Buc. VII

Plautus i.

500 Abl. pro	Plaut. Pseud.
Gen.

Pomponius.

Acc. pro	Pomp. Praec.
Nom.	post.

* Cf. iuentus et iuventa, p. 433.† Perhaps in reality an extra-quotation to effigi.‡ Cf. 507. 18, s.v. evenat.

§ Possibly some of the lemmas in this series are really of the nature of extra-quotations, e.g. 'Acc. vel Nom. pro Abl.'

¶ Inserted from 178. 31?

Novius.

Nom. pro
Dat. Nov. Agric.

Accius ii.

501 Gen. pro
Dat. Acc. Neopt.

Turpilius.

Nom. pro
Gen. Turp. Epicl.
Abl. pro
Dat. Lucil.

Cicero i.

Gen. pro
Nom. M.Tull.Rep.VI

(?) Gloss. ii.

Abl. pro
Acc. Virg. A. V.

Varro i (supplies extra-quotations, e.g. to 'Acc. pro Abl.', p. 497).

Accius iii. Sallust.

502 Acc. pro Acc. Myrm.,
Gen. Sall. Hist. III

Afranius. Lucil. ii.

Acc. pro Lucil. XXVI, Dat. Afr. Vop.

Sisenna.

Dat. pro
Abl. Sis. Hist. III
Nom. pro
Abl. Sis. Hist. III

Book X, DE MUTATIS CONJUGATIONIBUS.

Gloss. i.

fervit Lucil. IX, Acc.
Nyct., Titin.
Setina

(fervēre Afran. Epist. Lucil. Sat.
IX, Virg. A. IV) (fervat Pomp.
Full.)

Plautus i.

503 lavit Virg. G. III<sup>k</sup>,
A. X<sup>k</sup>, Plaut.
Pseud.

(lavere Naev. Danae, Enn.
Telam., Enn. Hecuba) (lavite Titin. Psalm.)

Lucretius.

504 sonere Lucr. III

Accius ii.

505 expedibo Pacuv. Atal.,
Acc. Nyctegr.

Pacuvius.

nolito<sup>1</sup> Lucil. XXX axim Pacuv. Perib.

Afranius.

'fervitur
pro fervetur'
(503. 34) Afran. Vopisc.

Gloss. iii.

mantat Caecil. Hypo-bol Rastr.

artivit Nov. Dotata audibo Enn. Telam.,
etc.

506 fulgit Lucil. Sat. VII,
etc.

(fulgere Lucr. V, etc.)

es Lucil. XXIX, Pomp. Macc.
gem.

Alph. Verb.

amplant Pacuv. Teucer aperibo Pomp. Verni-ones

<sup>k</sup> Inserted from 466. 20?

<sup>1</sup> Perhaps has been transposed with following lemma.

	cupiret	Lucr. I
507	dicebo	Novius Dapat.
	edim	Caecil. Asot., Novius Buccul., Pomp. Condic., Plaut. Poen.
	facitur	Nigid. Comm. Gramm. XIX
	evenat	Enn. Hecuba
	faxim	Enn. Phoen.
	moneris	Pacuv. Arm. Jud., Pacuv. Chrys.
	nivit	Pacuv. Paulus
	oboedibo	Afran. Mariti
	operibo	Pomp. Praef. Mor.
508	paribit	Pomp. Bucc. Auct.
	perveni- bunt	Pomp. Pyth. Gorg.
	reddibo	Plaut. Vid.
	reperibitur	Pomp. Anul. Poster., Plaut. Epid., Caecil. Obolost possetur <sup>m</sup>	Quadrig. Ann. I sapivi	Novius Virg. Praegn.
	venibo	Pomp. Macc. Gem.
	poteratur <sup>n</sup> , potestur	Caelius Ann. I, Pacuv. Chrys., Quadrig. Ann. III
	soluerit	Caelius Ann. VII
509	vivebo	Novius Dapat.

Plautus ii.

deplora-
bundus	Plaut. Aul. 317
coctum	Plaut. Aul. 325
macet	Plaut. Aul. 564

BOOK XI, DE INDISCRETIS ADVERBIIS.

	Gloss. i. humaniter M. Tull. ad Pans. I diserte Afran. Divort.
	disertim Titin. Velit.
	insaniter Pompon. Auctoratus
	severiter Titin. Prilia
510	communi- tus
	blanditer celere benigniter
	festiviter
	Varro Rer. Div.
	Titin. Gemina
	Pacuv. Paulus
	Titin. Gemina
	Nov. Gemini

Plautus i.

	avariter	Plaut. Curc.
	amiciter	Plaut. Pers.
	probiter	Varr. Octog.
	munditer	Plaut. Poen. 235
	saeviter	Plaut. Poen. 335
511	maestiter	Plaut. Rud.

Lucretius.

	proprietim	Lucr. II
	ampliter <sup>o</sup>	Lucil. XIII, Pomp. Her. Pet., Plaut. Stich.
	aliquan-	Quadrig. Ann. VI
	tisper
512	duriter	Ter. Andr.

Accius i.

cautim	Acc. Alphes.
strictim	Cic. de Or. I

Lucilius i.

	firmiter	Lucil. Sat. X
	fidele	Plaut. Capt.
	aequiter	Pacuv. Atal.
	publicitus	Lucil. Sat. XII
513	proterviter	Enn. Pancrat.
	ignaviter	Lucil. Sat. XVI

<sup>m</sup> Cf. poteratur, below.<sup>n</sup> Cf. possetur, above.<sup>o</sup> Should stand, I fancy, after maestiter.

Varro i.

mutuiter Varr. Octog.

(?) Afranius.

perspicace Afran. Divort.

Alph. Adverb.aspriter Sueius Pulli celeranter Acc. Antenoridae

dapsile Pompon. Rusticus

exquisitum Varro Ajax Stram.hilare M. Tull. de Or.
(III), Afran.
Privignus514 festinatim Pompon. Asina pugnitus<sup>p</sup> Caecil. Fallacia ignaviter Quadrig. Ann.
IIfuttile Enn. Phoen. humanitus Turpil. Paed., Cass. Hem.inimiciter Hist. IV, Afran.
Repudiatusmemore Acc. Didasc. I Pompon. Philosophiainmortalitus Turpil. Hetaera
largitus Afran. Materteraeiracunditer Caecil. Subditivus minutum Lucil. V

515 minutum Pompon. Verres Salvus superbiter Afran. Purgamentum, Naev.

longinque Bell. Poen. VI Enn. Andr.perplexim Aechm. saniter Plaut. Stich.rareiter Afran. Megal. perspicace Caecil. Pausim.

Afran. Divort.

516 contemtim Naev. Bell.

temeriter Poen.

restrictim Acc. Amphitr.

praeclariter Afran. Thais

Quadrig. Ann.

III

torviter Pompon. Auctoratus

puriter Pompon. Aruspex vel Pexor

Rusticus

reverecunditer Pompon. Marcus Virgo

Sisenna.certatim Virg. A. III, Sis. Hist. III

abunde Sis. Hist. IV

Gloss. v.517 miseriter Laberius properiter<sup>q</sup> SerenusBook XII, DE DOCTORUM IN- DAGINE, i.e. Various Peculiarities of Republican Latin.*Gloss. i.desubito Titin. Prilia, Enn. Pancrat.,Afran. Emanc., Caecil. Asot., Quadrig. Ann.II, Nov. Tripert.
Turpil. Boeth.,Enn. Phoen., Afran. Incend.,
Afran. Omen.Picumnus Aem. Macer Ornithogon. I,Hyginus, Fab.
Pictor Rer.

Gest. I

518 derepente Ter. Eun.

<sup>p</sup> Perhaps from a note on funditus.<sup>q</sup> See below, section vii.

<sup>r</sup> Should this stand beside compos., p. 521 M.?

Does the first part of this lemma belong to 'Gloss. i'?

tabernae	Varr. V.P.R. II Statilinus,
etc.	Varr. Catus

BOOK XIII, DE GENERE NAVIGIORUM.

Plautus i.

celox	Plaut. Asin.
533 corbita	Plaut. Poen. (bis)
horia	Plaut. Rud. (bis)
cercyrus	Plaut. Stich.

Turpilius.

534 lembus	Acc. Deiph., Turpil. Leucadia
------------	----------------------------------

Cicero i.

myoparo	M. Tull. Rep. III
---------	-------------------

Varro i.

faselus	Varr. Desultor.
---------	-----------------

Sallust.

lenunculus	Sall. Hist. II
actuariae	Sall. Hist. II
lintres	Virg. G. I
scaphae	Sall. Hist. II
codicariae	Sall. Hist. IV
pristis	Clodius Rer. Hum. XII

Afranius.

cumba	Afran. Exceptus
-------	-----------------

(?) Sisenna.

536 onerariae	Sis. Hist. III
---------------	----------------

(?) Gloss. v.

anquiniae	Lucil. (inc.)
prosumia	Caecil. Meretr.,
	Caecil. Aethrio

BOOK XIV, DE GENERE VESTIMENTORUM.

Gloss. i.

tunica	Titin. Velit., Cic. Catil., Virg. (Aen.), Titin. Quintus
537 calautica	M. Tull. in Clod. Pomp. Pannuc.
paenula	Varr. V.P.R. III
aulaea	Varr. V.P.R. III
plagae	Enn. Telephus (bis)
stola	Plaut. Men. 469
palla <sup>t</sup>	Turpil. Philop.
strofium	Varr. Cosm.
abolla	Sall. Hist. II
sagum	Sall. Hist. III
paludata-	Virg. A. IV 137
mentum
539 chlamys

Plautus i.

regilla	Plaut. Epid. 223
ralla	Plaut. Epid. 230
rica	Plaut. Epid. 232
caesicum	Plaut. Epid. 230
indusium	Plaut. Epid. 231
540 patagium	Plaut. Epid. 231
supparum	Plant. Epid. 232
exoticum	Plaut. Epid. 232
plumatile	Plaut. Epid. 233

Novius.

mollicina	Novius Paedium
-----------	----------------

Lucilius i.

amphitapoe	Lucil. Sat. I
------------	---------------

Turpilius, Varro i, Sallust.
(See note on palla in "Gloss. i" sequence.)

Afranius.

toga	Afran. Fratr.
541 laena	Virg. A. IV <sup>u</sup>

<sup>t</sup> In Book I likewise (p. 3 M.) this Plautus-quotation may belong to 'Gloss. i.' But the remaining lemmas strofium—chlamys seem to have been entered here in suite of the extra-quotation to palla from the Lucilius i list.

<sup>u</sup> Inserted from 240. 25, 549. 16?

mereticum Afran. Excepvestis tus

Virgil. Cicero iv.
carbasus Virg. A. VIII, XI, M. Tull. in Verr. de Suppl.
(II, v, 30)
toga præ- M. Tull. de texta Suppl. (Verr.
II, v, 36)

Plautus ii.

limbus<sup>x</sup> Plaut. Aul. 519 flammeus<sup>x</sup> Plaut. Aul. 510

Varro ii.

542 ricinium Varr. Taφ. Μεν. reticulum Varr. Sesqueul. tapete Varr. Herc.
Socr.

Cicero viii.

culcita Cic. Tusc. III

Varro v.

subucula Varr. V.P.R. I capitia Varr. V.P.R. I encombemata Varr. Catus

BOOK XV, DE GENERE VASO-RUM.Plautus ii.

543 aula Plaut. Amph.
(frag.)
matella Plaut. Amph.
(frag.)
mortarium Plaut. Aul. 95 pelvis Laber. Virgo
fidelia Plaut. Aul. 622

Varro ii.

patella Varr. Eum.

Gloss. iv.

544 cupae et tinae Varr. V.P.R. I urnula Varr. V.P.R. I cadi Lucil. XVIII urnarium Varr. Taφ. Μεν. polybrum Liv. (Odyss.)
simpuum Varr. Est. Mod. lenis Afran. Fratr. obba Varr. Est. Mod. cantharus Virg. Buc. VII dolia Varr. Est. Mod.

Cicero viii.

alabaster Cic. Acad. II
scyfus Virg. (A. VIII)
batiola Plaut. Colax. calices Varr. Est. Mod.<sup>y</sup>,
Cic. Tusc. III
cymbia Virg. A. V
crateres Virg. A. VII

Varro iv.

546 orcae Varr. R.R. I 13
nassiterna Varr. R.R. I 22
catinus Varr. R.R. I 63

Gloss. v.

calamistrum Cic. Orat. carchesia Virg. A. V 77,
G. IV 380,
Lucil., Catullus
Veronensis
hirnea Plaut. Amph. mixtarium Lucil. V

Varro v.

547 calpar Varr. V.P.R. I trulleum Varr. V.P.R. I armillum Varr. V.P.R. I sinum et Virg. Buc. VII, galeola Varr. V.P.R. I

<sup>x</sup> Have these lemmas been transposed?

<sup>y</sup> Inserted from 545, 2? For the intruding Virgil lemmas see section vii.

lepitiae	Varr. V.P.R. I
creterra	Naev. Lycurg., Varr. V.P.R. III

BOOK XVI, De Genere Calcimentorum (lost).

BOOK XVII, DE COLORIBUS
VESTIMENTORUM.

Gloss. i.

cumatilis	Titin. Setina
molochi-

Plautus i.

impluviatus	Plaut. Epid. 224
caltula et	Virg. Buc. II,
crocotula	Plaut. Epid. 231
cerinum	Plaut. Epid. 233
ferrugi-	Virg. G. IV,
neum	Plaut. Mil.

Virgil.

Plautus ii.

BOOK XVIII, DE GENERE CIBORUM.

Varro ii.

Varro iii.

Cicero vi.

Cicero viii.

Varro iv.

Gloss. v.

Varro v.

BOOK XIX, DE GENERE AR-

MORUM.

Gloss. i.

Lucilius i.

Varro i.

Sallust.

<sup>a</sup> Have these lemmas been transposed?

lanceae	Sall. Catil. bell.	(?) Gloss. iv.
falerae	56 Sall. Jug. bell. 85	556 conti Virg. A. IX 510
parma	Sall. Hist. IV
ferentarii	(III) Cato de ReMil., Sall. Catil. bell, 60
verutum	Sall. Hist. III
	Virgil.	Sisenna.
555 cetra	Virg. A. VII 732	manipuli Sis. Hist. III
peltae	Virg. A. I	materae Sis. Hist. III
gaesa	Virg. A. VIII	malleoli Sis. Hist. IV
falarica	Virg. A. IX 705	catafractae Sis. Hist. IV
sparum	Virg. A. XI	falces et harpagae Sis. Hist. IV
	Lucilius ii.	Gloss. v.
ballistae	Lucil. XXVIII	ansatae Enn. (Ann.) V
	Varro iii.	coryti Virg. (A. X)
venabulum	Virg. A. IX 553, Varr. "Ovos λύπας"	Book XX, DE PROPINQUITATUM VOCABULIS (contains no quo- tations).

Results of the Analysis.

We have now examined the whole of the facts by which the theory stated on p. 3 may legitimately be tested; for the three Books (II—IV), omitted from our analysis, indicate by their alphabetical arrangement that they may owe their present form to a mediaeval editor. That the theory is fully established, no one, I think, can venture to deny. It needed only a full exposition of the facts to demonstrate the mechanical regularity with which Nonius composed his dictionary, going through one list after another of words which he had culled from various authors and entering in each book the suitable words from each list in the same order as he found them, that is to say, in the order of their occurrence in each author's pages. In the case of the authors whose works have been preserved to us, Plautus, Lucretius, Cicero, etc., we see this order to have been followed by Nonius, and we cannot reasonably doubt that he followed the same order with the others, Accius, Pomponius, Novius, Lucilius, Ennius trag., Turpilius, Pacuvius, Cic. Rep. and Hortens.. Varro Menipp., (also the V.P.R. and Catus), Afranius, Sisenna. We have thus obtained a criterion for the arrangement of the fragments of these Republican authors, which supersedes the guess-work hitherto practised by editors; and these fragments must, in this respect at least, be re-edited.

We have obtained also a valuable aid to the restoration of the text of the Compendiosa Doctrina, a work which, besides its actual value as a dictionary, is our great store-house for the fragmentary remains of the literature of the Republic, and has preserved for us a great deal of ancient grammatical lore. Since all our MSS. come from a single mediaeval archetype, the text they transmit cannot fail to be marred by omissions, insertions and transpositions<sup>a</sup> as well as other faults. But before applying the criteria we have obtained to the emendation of the text, it will be well to proceed to the analysis of the remaining books. For, as has been already mentioned, the alphabetical re-arrangement of these books is very slight. All that has been done, whether by Nonius himself or by a later editor (e.g. some mediaeval abbot), is the grouping together of words beginning with the letter A in one section, of words beginning with the letter B in another section, and so on, without regard to alphabetical arrangement (even by ABC— or AB—) inside a section. The arranger would appear to have gone through the lemmas, entering in its proper section each lemma as he came to it, so that the original order was not wholly reversed.

Although therefore a certain amount of caution is necessary in making inferences from the features of these books, it will not do to neglect their evidence altogether. And possibly a detailed analysis of them may throw light on the question whether they owe their present form to Nonius himself or to another hand.

<sup>a</sup> The transposition of a single lemma does not much injure the text, as a rule. But the transposition of a batch of lemmas is more serious. It might come about in various ways; e.g. a leaf may have become loose and have dropped out and then been replaced at a wrong part of the MS. Since Nonius seems to observe an amount of regularity in the order in which he uses his various lists, we may find a means of detecting such transpositions.

iv. Analysis of Contents<sup>b</sup> of Books II—IV.

BOOK II, DE HONESTIS ET NOVE VETERUM DICTIS, i.e. Words used by good authors in an unusual form or sense.

A-SECTION.

Sisenna.

68 apud <sup>c</sup>	Sis. Hist. IV
apisci <sup>c</sup>	Sis. Hist. IV
abstemiūs <sup>c</sup>	(Varr. Sat. Men.?)
69 adipatum <sup>c</sup>	Cic. Orat. 25

Cicero viii.

adamare	Cic. Acad. II
adstipulari	Cic. Acad. IV (II)
addictum	Cic. Tusc. II

Varro ii.

aquilex	Varr. Quin- quatr.
aequimen- tum	Varr. Sexag.
aerificum	Varr. Γνῶθι σε

Gellius.

apludas	(= Gell. XI 7)
70 adulterio	(= Gell. XVI 7)

Varro iii.

anticipare	Varr. Bimarc.
aurigatur	Varr. Modius

Cicero vi.

architectari	Cic. Fin. II 5 <sup>2</sup>
aiat	Cic. Fin. II 7 <sup>0</sup>
anellus	Cic. Fin. V 3

(?) Gloss. iv.

amatio	Plaut. Rud.
adesum <sup>d</sup>	Sis. Hist. III

Cicero vii.

71 adtendere	Cic. de Or. (I) 161
adcommodat	Cic. de Or. II

<sup>a</sup> I follow the same plan as with the analysis of contents of the other books. In Book III Nonius' practice is to mention first, with or without an illustrative quotation, the normal gender (or form) of the word and then its peculiar gender, so that the passage which has supplied him with his lemma comes, as a rule, in the second, not the first, place. The same is true of Book IV. In Book IV however the difficulty of determining with absolute certainty the actual passage from which Nonius took his lemma is often very great. This book corresponds in form exactly to our own Latin dictionaries. The various meanings of a word are enumerated with illustrative quotations, the normal meaning being usually placed first. The quotation to illustrate the normal meaning (and often quotations illustrating other meanings too) comes generally from Virgil. Nonius thus appears, after having obtained his lemma from some passage where an unusual meaning of the word had occasioned a marginal note, to have supplemented the note with quotations from Virgil, as well as with the extra-quotations which the lists later consulted by him would provide. If these Virgil quotations are rightly regarded as not having come from any of his lists, the same may be true of such lemmas as offer nothing but Virgil-quotations (see section vii). Often we can see that what has suggested a lemma to Nonius has been the occurrence of the same word in different senses in the same list or in two lists consulted by him in immediate sequence. In such cases I join the two sources with the word 'and.'

<sup>b</sup> These four lemmas should, I fancy, follow adsum, p. 70 M. The quotation from M. Tull. de Off. (leg. de Rep. III) is either inserted from 522. 26 or comes from a note on the Sisenna-passage.

<sup>c</sup> See note on apud, p. 68 M.

Gloss. i.

autumnitas Varr. Serr., Varr.
Quinquatr., Varr. Ephem.
Naval.

aritudinem Varr. Prom. Lib. aboriatur Varr. Gallus ad Fund.

adulescentiaris Varr.  $\tau\delta\ \epsilon\pi\iota\ \tau\gamma$ $\Phi\alpha\kappa\eta$

72 ancillantur Titin. Prilia, Acc. Meleag.<sup>e</sup>

absonum Cic. de Or. (I)

115 algu Acc. Androm., Varr.  $\text{Ἐχω}\ \sigma\epsilon^f$ , Lucil. <sup>f</sup>

Plautus i.

aetatem Plaut. Asin. (bis)

altile Plaut. Cist.

assulatim Plaut. Capt. <sup>g</sup>

anxitudo <sup>h</sup> Acc. Eurys.

73 albitudo Plaut. Trin.

Lucretius.

adhaesum Lucr. III, IV

amolimini Ter. Andr.,

Pacuv. Hermi-

ona

Naev. Lyc.

acrimonia Naevius Lycurgus

Accius i.

abiugat Pacuv. Medus

augustitas Acc. Oenom.,

Acc. Alphes.

Afranius.

adsestrix Afran. Fratr.

atri dies Afran. Fratr.

74 adiutamini Pacuv. Chryses

Lucilius ii.

aera Lucil. XXIX

adpetones Laber. Virg.

advocasse Lucil. XXIX

armillum Lucil. XXIX

adulescen- turire Laber.

áuxiliatum Lucr. V

ardum Lucil. XXVII

averruncare Lucil. XXVI

apisci Lucil. XXVI

Alph. Verb.

accepso Pacuv. Teucer

adauctavit Acc. Aeneadae adaxint Plaut. Aul.

adfectare Plaut. Bacch.

adiugare Pacuv. Chrys.

aedituor Pompon. Aedit.

aeternare Varr. Rer. Hum.

II

albicatur Varr. Cave

Canem

apscondidit Caecil. Exul,

Pomp. Macc.

gem.

attigat Turpil. Leucad.

Acc. Epigoni,

Plaut. Bacch.

76 augificat Enn. Androm.

atrox Naev. Bell.

Poen. III

Alph. Adverb.

adquo Afran. Promus,

Afran. Privignus alternatim Quadrig. Ann.

IV

apricari Varr. Myst.

apsente no- Plaut. Amph.,

bis <sup>i</sup> Afran. Auctio

<sup>e</sup> Probably an 'extra-quotation.'

<sup>f</sup> Are these extra-quotations?

<sup>g</sup> The extra-quotations from Sueius Pulli and Plaut. Men. 859 come apparently from the 'Alph. Adverb.' list.

<sup>h</sup> From note on albitudo, below? In the S-section of this book the lemmas in the 'Plautus i' series consist wholly of nouns in -tudo.

<sup>i</sup> Cf. praesente 154. II in 'Alph. Adverb.' list.

Cicero v.

- antiquari M. Tull. Off. II
adlectat M. Tull. Sen.

Plautus ii.

- abusa Plaut. Asin.

Varro v.

- 77 assa voce Varr. V.P.R. II
arci Varr. V.P.R. IV
adminiculavi Varr. Catus

B-SECTION.*Gloss. i.

- baetere Varr. Toῦ παρός
belliores Varr. Testam.

Lucretius.

- brutum Lucr. III

Lucilius i.

- 78 bulga Lucil. Sat. VI

Cicero iv.

- bacillum M. Tull. de suppl. (Verr. II
v)

Alph. Verb.

- bacchari Virg. G. II;
Santra Nunt.
Bacch.

- blaterare Afran. Augur, Afran. Incend.

- 79 bount Pacuv. Medus

Plautus ii.

- baiulare Plaut. Asin.

Varro ii.

- bipennis Varr. Marcip.
(bis) biviras Varr. Lex Mae-
nia

Gellius.

- bovinatores (=Gell. XI 7)

Varro iii.

- bubulcitare Varr. Manius basis Varr. "Ovos λύπας 80 badius Varr. "Ovos λύπας

Sisenna.

- binum mil-
ium numero Sis. Hist. III

Gloss. iv B.

- balbe Varr. Rer. Hum.
XX

Cicero vii.

- baiolum Cic. de Or. II

Cicero viii.

- balbuttire Cic. Acad. IV

Varro iv.

- bura Varr. R.R. I

Gloss. v.

- blitea Plaut. Truc., Laber. Tusca
bucerias Lucr. II
baubari Lucr. V
bellosum Caecil.

Varro v.

- buas Varr. Catus

C-SECTION.*Gloss i.

- comest Varr. Marcopolis, Titin. Ge-mina, Titin.
Fullon., Afran.
Aequales

- cuia <sup>k</sup> Lucil. XXX contollere Plaut. Aul.
82 claritudo Sall. Jugurta conluvio M. Tull. Sen. conmalaxare Varr. Flaxt.
cetra Varr. Devicti
Corax Cic. de Or. III

<sup>k</sup> Possibly entered here in suite of extra-quotation from 'Lucil. ii' list to comest.

		Plautus ii.
	casteria	Plaut. Asin.
	coquinatum	Plaut. Aul. 408
83	curio	Plaut. Aul. 563
		Varro ii.
	culcita	Varr. Quin- quatr.
	cytrus	Varr. Gerontod.
	caecuttint	Varr. Gerontod.
	caballus	Lucil. III <sup>n</sup> , Varr. Parm.
	coda	Varr. Taφ. Μεν.
84	carnales	Varr. Sexag.
	crassum	Varr. Sexag.
	canum	Virg. A. I <sup>o</sup> , Varr. Eum.
		Gellius.
	cissium	( = Gell. VI 11)
	celeratim	( = Gell. XII 15)
	copiatur	( = Gell. XVII 2)
		Varro iii.
	confutare	Varr. Manius
	conpluries <sup>v</sup>	( = Gell. V 21)
		(?) Afranius.
	cognomines	Afran. Divort.
		(?) Terence.
	clipeat	Pacuv. Hermi- ona,
	(galeare	Cinna Epigramm.)
	convasare	Ter. Phorm.
		Lucilius ii.
	cluet	Lucil. XXX
	cibicidas	Lucil. XXVII
	contenturum	Lucil. XXVII
	canicas	Lucil. XXVII
	concorditas	Pacuv. Hermi- ona
	conmentum	Plaut. Amph.
	cribrum	Lucil. XXVI

Should this stand beside cette, below?
have been transposed. <sup>m</sup> Inserted from 16. 28? <sup>n</sup> Inserted from 313. 22?

<sup>p</sup> Should perhaps stand before cissium, above.

<sup>m</sup> These two lemmas seem to <sup>n</sup> Inserted from 16. 28? <sup>o</sup> Inserted from contemnifi-

cum Lucil. XXVI
cordi est Lucil. XXVI

(?) Gloss. iii.

89 congenu-clare Caelius Ann.
VII

Alph. Verb.

causari Acc. Medea, Af-ran. Emanc.,celebrescat Pac. Arm. iud. coepere<sup>a</sup> Acc. DiomedesCaecil. Hypob.
Rastr., Plaut.
Men. Plaut.
Truc.certiscant Pacuv. Chrys.
celebre<sup>r</sup> Acc. Aegisth.calliscerunt Cato Bell. Carth.
commetare Novius Bubulc.90 concalluit Cerdo, Afran.
VirgoM. Tull. Att. IV,
Deor. Nat. IIIconciere Acc. Medea, Afran. Depos.,

Pac. Dolor.

conglome-rate

congermane-scere Quadrig. Ann.
conlabella Laber. Anna

Per.

cymballis-sare Cassius Hem.
IIIconcinnare Naev. Bell.
Poen. IVcatulire Laber. Lac.
Avern.

Alph. Adverb.

91 caduciter Varr. Aetrio
cupienter Acc. Philoct.,

Enn. Phoenix

Cicero v.

conmemo-rare M. Tull. Sen.

Cicero vi.

consec-tarium M. Tull. Fin. IV

Sisenna.

concubia nocte Sis. Hist. IV

cistae Sis. Hist. IV

centones et cilicia Sis. Hist. IV

crebritudi-nem Sis. Hist. IV

92 caementa Sis. Hist. IV

Gloss. iv B.

cis Sall., Varr. Rer.
Hum. XXquadrifariam Varr. Rer. Hum.
XX

Cicero vii.

concalfacere Cic. de Or. II cavillantur Cic. de Or. III

Cicero viii.

catus Cic. Tusc. II
contrahi Cic. Tusc. III93 cicures Cic. Tusc. V 38
cuias Cic. Tusc. VI 108

Gloss. v A.

cibarium Varr. Modius, Varr. "Ovos, Cic.

Tusc. V 97

comedones Varr. Modius
coleum Varr. R.R. I 31,Virg. A. XII
continuari Sis. Hist. VI

94 cinefactum Lucr. III

<sup>a</sup> The concluding words of this lemma stand at the end of the lemma calliscerunt (below) in the MSS., a sure sign of a disturbance of the sequence in the archetype.

<sup>r</sup> From a discussion of diffidat, above?

Varro iv.

coxendices	Lucil., Varr. R.R. I 20
conditaneum	Varr. R.R. I 24

Varro v.

cenatus	Varr. V.P.R. III
cirri	Varr. Catus
catelli	Varr. Catus

D-SECTION.

Gloss. i.

dextima	Varr. περὶ αἰρέ- στων
desuevi	Titin. Gemina
95 dapalis	Titin. Varus
deivitant	Acc. Astyan.

Plautus i.

desquamat	Plaut. Aul.
deartuare	Plaut. Capt. 640, 672
demoliri	Sall. Hist. IV
dividos	Acc. Androm.
dispulverare	Naev. Gym- nast. <sup>s</sup>

Lucretius.

differitas	Lucr. IV
debil	Enn. (Ann.) IX

Pacuvius. Accius i<sup>t</sup>.

domuitio- nem	Pacuv. Hermi- ona
------------------	----------------------

Terence.

dissignare	Ter. Adelph.
------------	--------------

Lucilius ii.

deblaterare	Lucil. XXX
deletile	Varr. Modius
datatim <sup>u</sup>	Plaut. Curc.
dividia <sup>u</sup>	Acc. Arm. Jud.
dulcitas <sup>u</sup>	Acc. Tereus
discorditas <sup>u</sup>	Pacuv. Hermi- ona

deletio	Lucil. XXIX
depeculas-	Lucil. XXVI
sere	Plaut. (Mil.
difflare	Glor.), Lucil. XXVI

Alph. Verb.

danunt	Pacuv. Iliona, Plaut. Pseud., Naev. Bell. Poen. IV, Caecil. Ploc.
deamare	Afran. Vopisc.
decollare	Caecil. Noth. Nicas.
degulasse	Afran. Brundis.
delectare	Enn. Thyest., Quadrig. Ann. III
98 delica	Acc. Achill., Caecil. Obo- lost., Titin. Quintus
devorare	Acc. Aeneadae
dignet	Pacuv. Iliona

Alph. Adverb.

debiliter	Pacuv.
demagis	Lucil. XVI
diu	Titin. Fulones, Plaut. Merc. (Cas.)
dubitatum	Caelius Ann. III

Cicero v.

discedere	M. Tull. Off. III
-----------	-------------------

Plautus ii.

delegari	Plaut. Amph.
----------	--------------

Varro ii.

depsere	Varr. Myst.
dolitum	Varr. Agath.
denthar-	Varr. Quin-
pagas	quatr.

<sup>s</sup> See section vii. <sup>t</sup> See note on datatim, p. 96 M.

<sup>u</sup> For these four lemmas, which are out of place, see section vi.

descobi-
natis	Varr. Meleag.
desubulare	Varr. Sesqueul.
100 dormitio	Varr. Sexag.
dissentia-
neum	Nigidius
decidua	Laber.

Gellius.

duoetvice-
simo	(= Gell. V. 4)
diurnare	(= Gell. XVII 2, 16)
duritudo	(= Gell. XVII 2, 20)
deliciam	(= Gell. XIX 8)
diritas <sup>x</sup>	M. Tull. Sen.

Varro iii.

derisissi-
mus	Varr. Bimarc.
diis	Varr. "Ονος λύρας
101 dicteria	Varr. "Ονος λύρας

Sisenna.

dispalare	Sis. Hist. III
-----------	----------------

Cicero vii.

diloricare	Cic. de Or. II
divitior	Cic. de Or. III

Gloss. v.

deturbare	Sall. II, Virg. Aen. V, VI
dividae	Acc. Phoenissae deintegrase, Caecil., Pacuv. deiugare, Chrys., Cass.
denasci	Hem. Ann. II

E-SECTION.*Gloss. i.

elurescat	Varr. Prom. Lib.
102 evallaro	Titin. Prilia

Plautus i.

excantare	Plaut. Bacch.
extundere <sup>y</sup>	Afran. Epist.
exculpere	Plaut. Cist.
e regione	Cic. Acad. IV
exorbebo	Plaut. Epid. 188
103 egurgitem	Plaut. Epid. 582
expapillato	Plaut. Mil. Glor.

Lucretius.

exos	Lucr. III
------	-----------

(?) Afranius.
extrarium	Afran. Suspecta

Virgil.

errabundus	Virg. (Buc.)
excande-

scentia <sup>z</sup>	Cic. Tusc. IV
----------------------	---------------

Terence.

emungere	Ter. Phorm. 682
effutire	Ter. Phorm. 745

Lucilius ii.

elevit	Lucil. XXVI
eluviem	Lucil. XXVI

(?) Gloss. iii.

104 exponere	Cic. Acad. II
--------------	---------------

Alph. Verb.

expetunt <sup>a</sup>	Pacuv. Iliona
expalpare	Plaut. Poen., Pomp. Colleg., Plaut. Vidul.
expergo	Acc. Antig., Santra Nunt. Bacch.
extrabunt	Afran. Auctio

Alph. Adverb.

efflictim	Plaut. Poen., Pomp. Dotata
-----------	-------------------------------

<sup>x</sup> Inserted from 30. 20? <sup>y</sup> From note on exculpere, Plaut. Cist.

<sup>z</sup> Possibly entered here along with extra-quotation from 'Cicero viii' list to effutire, below. <sup>a</sup> Cf. 97. 13 s.v. danunt.

expulsim Varr. Serapis, Nigid. Comm.
XX

Cicero v.

eluvio M. Tull. Off. II
exhiberi M. Tull. Off. III eculei M. Tull. Hort.
emancu-patus M. Tull. Sen.

Plautus ii.

exiurare Plaut. Amph. exornare Plaut. Aul.

Varro ii.

equiso Varr. Trih.
Trip., Marcipor 106 eunuchare Varr. Lex Maen. equila Varr. Lex Maen. esurigo Varr. Taφ. Mev. ericius Varr. Sexag.

Gellius.

elucifcare (= Gell. X 17)
exigor (= Gell. XV 14) edulcare (= Gell. XV 25) equitem (= Gell. XVIII 5, 4) equitare (= Gell. XVIII 5, 9)

Varro iii.

107 exequiantur Varr. Bimarc.

Cicero vi.

exedra M. Tull. Fin. V

Sisenna.

ergo Virg. A. V, Sis.
Hist. IV
enixim Sis. Hist. IV
exinanita Sis. Hist. IV

Cicero viii.

exanclare Cic. Acad. IV
(II)

Gloss. v.

eugium Lucil. in Epodis, Laber. Centonarius 108 exoticum Plaut. Most.
ebriulare Laber. Hetaera, Laber. Aulu-laria
exfundare Caelius Antipater VII
externavit Catullus excissatum Plaut. Cist.

Varro v.

Edusa et Potina Varr. Catus
esculentum Varr. Catus ephippium Varr. Catus

F-SECTION.*Gloss. i.

109 famulantur M. Tull. Rep.
III

Plautus i.

firmitudo Plaut. Asin. fortunare Plaut. Trin.

(?) Novius. Naev. Lyc.

falla Novius Decuma
ficitas Novius Ficitor fimbriae <sup>b</sup> (Naev. Lycurg.) (flora) <sup>b</sup> Naev. Lycurg.

Accius ii, iii.

famulitas Acc. Androm. fidelitas Acc. Myrm.

Sallust.

110 falsum Sall. Jugurta
habuit Enn. (Ann.) IX
famul <sup>c</sup> Lucil. VII flaccet <sup>c</sup>

Naev. Dan.

fulgorivit Naev. Danae

<sup>b</sup> Ought these lemmas to follow fortunare, above?

<sup>c</sup> The source of these two lemmas is uncertain.

Virgil.

friget Virg. Aen. VI

Lucilius ii.

favitorem Lucil. XXIX

folliculum Lucil. XXVI

Alph. Verb.

fligi Liv. Aegisth.,
Acc. Epinaus,
Acc. Aegisth.

111 fragescere Acc. Aegisth. fuam Pacuv. Dulor.

Alph. Adverb.

facul Lucil. VI
famulanter Acc. Tereus fluctuantim Afran. Pompa fortunatim Enn. Ann. I 112 frustatim Pompon. Verr.
Aegr.
fastidiliter<sup>d</sup> Varr. Cras Credo

Cicero v.

fugere M. Tull. Off. III
fatigare Virg. A. VIII

Plautus ii.

frausus Plaut. Asin.

Varro ii.

fax Varr. Gerontod.

Gellius.

113 flavisas (= Gell. II 10)
formidolosus (= Gell. IX 12)
frunisci (= Gell. XVII 2)

Varro iii.

fellare Varr. Manius

Cicero vi.

fallaciloquentiae M. Tull. Fin. IV
fabellae M. Tull. Fin. V

Sisenna.

fera vite Sis. Hist. IV

foramen Sis. Hist. IV

Cicero vii.

flexanima Cic. de Or. II

Varro iv.

114 frons Virg. G. II<sup>e</sup>, Varro R.R. I

Gloss. v.

falae Enn. (Ann.) XV foria Pompon. Mac-cuss, Laber.
Panilic.
flores Caecil.

Varro v.

februare Varr. V.P.R. I

G-SECTION.*Gloss. i.

grunnire Varr. Aborig.
115 grandire Varr. Rer. Div.
II
granditatem Sis. Hist. IV gravidinosif Cic. Tusc. IV glaratores Varr. Mut. Mul.
Scab. grandiloqui Cic. Orat.

(?) Plautus i.

guttatim Plaut. Merc.

(?) Accius i.

116 gracilitudo Acc. Amph.
grandae-vitas Acc. Alcm.

(?) Pacuvius.

geminitudinem Pacuv. Atal.

<sup>d</sup> Cf. 112. 9 s.v. mutatiliter.

<sup>e</sup> Inserted from 486. 7?

<sup>f</sup> Inserted from 32. 13?

(?) Gloss. ii (i?)

gnaritas	Sall. Hist. III
gallulare	Novius Exo- dium
gratulari	ENN. Hec.
garrire	Cic. de Or. II
gargari- diare	Varr. Epist. ad Fuf.
gallinas	Cic. Acad. IV
gabalum	Varr. 'Αλλ' οὐ
genialis	Santra de Ant. Verb. III
gangrena	Lucil. Sat. I

Terence.

genius	Ter. Phorm.
--------	-------------

Lucilius ii.

118 gumiae	Lucil. XXX
gluma	Varr. R.R. I 48
gerdius	Lucil. XXX

Alph. Verb.

gravidavit	Caecil. Tithe
------------	---------------

Alph. Adverb.

germanitus	Pompon. Praef. Morum
------------	-------------------------

Cicero v.

generosus <sup>g</sup>	M. Tull. Off. III 86
gratiosus <sup>g</sup>	M. Tull. Off. III 58
gratificari	M. Tull. Hort.

Plautus ii.

gerrae	Plaut. Asin.
--------	--------------

Varro ii.

119 gallare	Varr. Eum. (bis)
-------------	------------------

Varro iii.

ganeones	Varr. Modius
----------	--------------

Varro iv.

glubere	Varr. R.R. I 55
---------	-----------------

Gloss. v.

gramiae	Caecil.
gigeria	Lucil. VIII
glis	Laber. Aq.
	Cald., Plaut.
	(inc.)
genius	Laber. Imag.

H-SECTION.*Gloss. i.

habentia	Claudius VII
120 Hora	Enn. Ann. I

Plautus i.

hallec	Plaut. Aul.
halophanta	Plaut. (Circ.)
hippocampi	Laev. Sirenoc.
hara	Varr. Prom. lib.
hilaritudo	Plaut. Mil. glor.

Accius i.

hiscere	Acc. Arm. iud.
honestitudo	Acc. Oenom.

Lucilius ii.

121 hilum	Lucil. XXX
hornum	Lucil. XXVIII

Alph. Verb.

hilaresco	Varr. Epist. Lat. I
hostire	Pacuv. Teuc., Laev. Eroto- paeg.

Gellius.

halucinari	(cf. Gell. VIII lemma iii)
------------	-------------------------------

Cicero vi.

hilaretur	M. Tull. Fin. II
-----------	------------------

Cicero viii.

heres	Cic. Acad. II
-------	---------------

<sup>g</sup> Perhaps these two lemmas have been transposed.

Gloss. v.

122 hinnos	Varro(R.R.II?)
hillas	Laberius (inc.), Laber. Catular.
hinni- bundae	Claud. Ann. XVI

I-SECTION.

incurvi-
scere <sup>h</sup>	Cic. de Or. III

Cicero viii.

infinitatem	Cic. Acad. IV
insanitas	Cic. Tusc. III 10
infractio	Cic. Tusc. III 14
iuglandes	Cic. Tusc. V
123 ingenerare-
tur	Cic. Acad. III

Gloss. i.

iuvenitas	Varro Tithon.
itum	Titin. Setina
implicare	Afran. Brundis.
inaniis	Plaut. Aul.
incitas	Plaut. Trin.
incertat	Pacuv. Dulor., Plaut. Epid.
icit	Plaut. Truc., Plaut. Vid.
	Pacuv. Arm.
	iud., Afran.
	Simul., Caec.
	Demand.
124 inuncare	Lucil. XV
insolum	Afran. Crimen.
inibi	Afran. Matert.

Plautus i.(cf. incertat, above.)Naev. Lyc.

ignoti	Naev. Lycurg.
iniurie	Naev. Lycurg.

Accius ii.

incilare	Acc. Meleag.
----------	--------------

Lucilius i.

125 innubere	Lucil. Sat. VI
--------------	----------------

Cicero i.

infestum mare ha-
beret	M. Tull. Rep. III imbrices
ac tegulas	Sis. Hist. III
inpigratas	M. Tull. Rep. III

Afranius.

intolerabilis	Afran. Privign.
---------------	-----------------

Virgil.

inconsulti	Virg. A. III 452
inluvies	Virg. A. III 593

Lucilius ii. Gloss. iii.

126 invidiosum	Lucil. XXVI
indulgitate	Sis. Hist. III

Alph. Verb.

ieientare	Pompon. Bucc.
	Adopt., Plaut.
	Curc., Afran.
	Crim.

ignavit	Acc. Aeneadae
inaudire	M. Tull. ad Pans., Nov.
	Maliv., Pac.
	Arm.iud., Afran.

infelicent	Caecil. Naucl., Plaut. Poen.
	Laber. Nupt.
	Virg. G. IV,

iniquat	Acc. Antenor., Pac. Chrys.
integrare	Pompon. He- taer., Nigid.

127 irascere	Comm.Gramm. IX
--------------	-------------------

<sup>h</sup> This with the following five lemmas should stand after invitus, p. 130 M.

Alph. Adverb.

iamdiu	Turpil. Hetaera, Enn. Alcm., Caecil. Pausim., Liv. Ajax
incursim	Caecil. Fallacia
indiscrimi- natim	Varro L. L. XVIII
insanum et immane	Plaut. Nervol., Sall. II
iuxtim	Sisenna ab Urbe Condita, Liv. Aegisth.

Cicero v.

128 inanima	M. Tull. Off. II
indolentia	M. Tull. Off. III 12
indicare	M. Tull. Off. III 62
ineptitudo	Caecil. Harpaz.

Plautus ii.

igitur	Plaut. Amph. 209
involare	Plaut. Amph. 245
iudicatum	Plaut. Asin.
inpendio	Plaut. Aul. 18
129 indipiscere	Plaut. Aul. 774

Varro ii.

incrustatum	Varr. Taφ. Mεν.
inpotens	Cic. Tusc. IV

Gellius.

inauditum	Gell. VI 6
infestum	(= Gell. IX 12, 4)
ignarum	(= Gell. IX 12, 20)
inlatebrare	(= Gell. XVII 2)
inimicitia	(= Gell. XIX 8)

Varro iii.

inpuno <sup>i</sup>	Lucil. II
---------------------	-----------

Cicero vi.

infinitio	Cic. Fin. I
-----------	--------------------

Sisenna.

130 in populum	Sis. Hist. III
inmissum	Sis. Hist. III
iuusso	Sis. Hist. IV

Cicero vii.

iactuosae	Cic. Orat. 125
incisim	Cic. Orat. 213
importatum	Cic. de Or. I 38
infitiatores	Cic. de Or. I 168
insignite	Cic. de Or. II 349
invitius	Cic. de Or. II 364

Varro v.

131 inextingui- bilis	Varr. Catus
innumerali	Lucr. II

L-SECTION.*Gloss. i.

later <sup>k</sup>	Varr. Hecat.
lutavi <sup>k</sup>	Varr. Hecat.
lucuns <sup>k</sup>	Varr. Peripl. II
longurio <sup>k</sup>	Varr. Triphall. lotiolente	Titin. Varus

Accius i.

cf. laetitudo, below.

Turpilius.

132 lenitudo	Turpil. Philop. laetitudo <sup>l</sup>	Acc. Alcm.
largitas	Turpil. Parater.
lumino- sum <sup>m</sup>	Cic. Orat.

<sup>i</sup> Cf. 167. 17 s.v. rapinatores (in the 'Varro iii' series).

<sup>k</sup> Possibly these belong to the 'Varro i' series and have been inserted at the beginning of the section, having been omitted at their proper place, owing to a scribe's confusion of largitas and laxitas, below.

<sup>l</sup> Transposed with lenitudo?

<sup>m</sup> Inserted from 130. 11?

Sallust.

laxitas Sall. Hist. IV

Gloss. iii.

lamentas <sup>n</sup>	Pacuv. Hermiona
laetare	Liv. Aegisth.
litterosus	Cass. Hem. Ann. III

Alph. Verb.

latibulet	Laev. Erotop., Publil. Putatores
lupari	Atta Aq. Cald., Lucil. V

Varro ii.

lusus Varr. Marcipor.

Gellius.

laboriosum (= Gell. IX 12)
lutescit (= Gell. XVIII 11)

Varro iii.

libellionem	Varr. Manius
limum	Varr. Manius

Cicero vii.

laceſſere Cic. Orat.

Cicero viii.

<sup>134</sup> lentitudi-
nem	Cic. Tusc. IV

Gloss. v.

leae	Lucr. V.
ligellum	Plaut. Aul.
licitari	Enn. (Ann.), Caecil. Hymn.
longiscere	Enn. (Ann.) XVII, Enn. (Ann.)
ligurrire	Hor. (Sat.), Catull. (frag.)

latrocinari	Plaut. Cornic., Enn. (Ann.)
Laverna	Plaut. Cornic., Lucil. XVII
<sup>135</sup> luculentia-	Caecil. Hymnis, Laber. Tusca
tatem	Plaut. Cas.
lustratus	Varr. Discipl.
lusciosi	VIII, Varr. Andab.

Varro v.

lemures Varr. V.P.R. I

M-SECTION.

Gloss. i.

mollitudi-
nem	Varr. Pap. Pap.
mirius	Varr. Γνῶθι
mandare	Sis. Hist. III

Plautus i.

<sup>136</sup> macritudine	Plaut. Capt.
mustum	Naev. Gymnast <sup>o</sup>

Lucretius.

maximitas	Lucr. II
multesima	Lucr. VI

Accius i.

miseritu-
dine	Acc. Astyan.
maestitudo	Acc. Teleph.

Accius ii.

magnitate Acc. Bacch.

(?) Lucilius i.

macellum Lucil. VI

Pacuvius.

macore	Pacuv. Perib.
matrescam	Pacuv. Dolor.

<sup>a</sup> Does this come from the Pacuvius list, having been transposed with laxitas? <sup>o</sup> See below, section vii.

(?) Gloss. ii.

munia	Sall. Hist. III
metari	Virg. G. II
mammæ-
tam	Plaut. Poen.
musimones	Lucil. VI
maestas	Laber Tusca
mictilis	Lucil. XX

Accius iii.

maestaret	Acc. Myrm.
-----------	------------

Sallust.

138 madore	Sall. Hist. IV
mercatis	Sall. Hist. V

Afranius.

maceries	Afran. Exceptus
----------	-----------------

Naev. Dan.

manubias	Naev. Danae
----------	-------------

Lucilius ii.

mutuum	Lucil. XXVII
mordicus	Lucil. XXVI
monstrifi-
cabile	Lucil. XXVI

Alph. Verb.

mendarier	Plaut. Vid.
mertaret	Acc. Anten., Acc. Deiph.
139 muginari	Lucil. VII, Atta Aq. Cald.

Alph. Adverb.

medullitus	Varr. Cras Credo, Plaut. Truc., Enn. Sat. III
meritissimo	Turpil. Parater., Caecil. Asot.
minitabili-	Acc. Aeneadae,
ter	Pac. Antiopa
morsicatim	Sueius Pulli
mutatiliter	Varr. Cras Credo

Plautus ii.

mordicibus	Plaut. Aul.
------------	-------------

Varro ii.

140 Maeander	Varr. Ταφ. Μεν.
mansum	Varr. Γνῶθι
mulieravit	Varr. Γνῶθι

Gellius.

memordi,
etc.	(= Gell. VI 9)
metus	(= Gell. IX 12)
mendicimo-
nium, etc.	(= Gell. XVI 7)

Varro iii.

141 medioxime	Varr. Modius
masculum	Varr. Ὄνος λύρας

Cicero vi.

mancum	M. Tull. Fin. III
--------	-------------------

Gloss. iv A.

minutum	Varr. Epist. Lat.
---------	-------------------

Sisenna.

maceriae	Sis. Hist. III
manipula-
tim	Sis. Hist. III
multifariam	Sis. Hist. III marsup-
pium	Varr. Catus
molimen-
tum	Sis. Hist. IV

Gloss. iv. B.

modimpe-	Varr. Rer. Hum.
ratores	XX

Cicero vii.

magnilo-
quentia	Cic. Orat.
ministratrix	Cic. de Or. I male au-
diam	Cic. de Or. II
multitudo	Cic. de Or. III
	(bis)

Cicero viii.

mulierositas	Cic. Tusc. IV
--------------	---------------

Gloss. v.

memoria	Pacuv. Chrys.
murmuril-	Plaut. Rud.,
lum	Plaut. (inc.)
143 mediastri-	Lucil. XV, Cato
nos	Praec. ad fil.

Varro v.

cf. marsuppium, above, p. 141.

N-SECTION.

Plautus i.

nuperum	Plaut. Capt. 718
neminis	Plaut. Capt. 764

Accius i.

noxitudo	Acc. Arm. Jud.
----------	----------------

Pomponius.

nubere	Pompon. Pan-
	nuc.

Accius ii.

nitiditatem	Acc. Bacch.
-------------	-------------

Virgil.

numen	Virg. A. II
-------	-------------

Lucilius ii.

noenum	Lucil. XXX
--------	------------

Alph. Verb.

144 nevult	Titin. Setina, Plaut. Trin.
nigret	Pacuv. Chrys., Acc. Bacch.
nitidant	Enn. Cresph., Acc. Theb.
nixurire	Nigidius Comm. Gramm. XXV
notificem	Acc. Atreus

Plautus ii.

numellae	Plaut. Asin.
nugivendos	Plaut. Aul.

Varro ii.

145 nidus	Varr.	Quin-
		quatr.

Gellius.

nidulantur	(= Gell. III 10)
nescium	(= Gell. IX 12)
noctescere	(= Gell. XVIII 11)

(?) Cicero vi.

nepam	Plaut.	Cas.
	(ENN. TRAG.), M.
	TULL. FIN. V

Sisenna.

nex	Sis.	Hist. IV
-----	------	----------

Varro v.

nenia	Varr.	V.P.R. IV
-------	-------	-----------

O-SECTION.

Plautus i.

146 obscaevavit	Plaut.	Asin. 266
opimitas	Plaut.	Asin. 282
obba p	Varr.	Est. Mod.
opulentitas	Plaut.	Mil. glor.

Accius i.

orbitudinis	Acc.	Amph.
-------------	------	-------

Pomponius.

ocquini-
scere	Pomp.	Prostib.

Accius ii.

oblitterare	Acc.	Agam.
-------------	------	-------

Afranius.

offendo	Afran.	Vopisc.
olat	Afran.	Fratr.

Alph. Verb.

obsorduit	Caecil.	Hypob.
	Rastr.
obstrigillare	Enn.	Sat. II
obvarare	Enn.	Ach.

Alph. Adverb.

obsecun-	Nigidius de Dis
danter	I
oculitus	Plaut. Cornic.
ossiculatim	Caecil. Fallacia

Cicero v.

officere	M. Tull. Off. III
148 olivitatem	Varr. Gloria

Plautus ii.

occepso	Plaut. Amph.
	673
osa sum	Plaut. Amph.
	900

Varro ii.

orbitum	Varr. Γνῶθι
---------	--------------------

Gellius.

opuliscere	(= Gell. XVIII 11)
------------	-----------------------

Cicero vii.

occule	Cic. de Or. II
--------	----------------

Cicero viii.

opinabilem	Cic. Acad. I
------------	--------------

P-SECTION.*(?) Gloss. iii.

paenu-	Novius Fulloni-
larium	cum
149 plebitatem	Cato pro Veterio
petilum	Lucil. XXII
paces	Varr. V.P.R.III
pondō mille octingen-
tum	Varr. V.P.R.III
panus	Lucil.IX,Afran.
	Matert., Nov.
	Oratio

penicula-	Enn. XI Ann.,
mentum	Lucil. XIX,
	Caecil. Fenerator

150 prognariter	Plaut. Persa
perperos	Acc. Pragm. (bis)
praecox	Enn. Ann. VIII, Lucil. III, (Varro Syneph.), Novius
populatim	Pompon. Mac- cuss praemiatores
nōcturni	Naev. Agrypn.
populacia	Laber. Late Loq.
possestrix	Afran. Libertus
perpetuassit	Enn. Ann. IX
151 praecisum et
omasum	Naev. Nervol.
pisculentum	Cato Orig. V, VII
pasceolus	Plaut. Rud.

Plautus ii.

piem	Plaut. Asin. 506
portisculus	Plaut. Asin. 515
perplexabile	Plaut. Asin. 792
praesegmina	Plaut. Aul. 312
152 pipulo	Plaut. Aul. 445
picos	Plaut. Aul. 701

Varro ii.

percellere	Varr. Parm.
pinsere	Varr. Taφ. Μεν.
porcas	Varr. Taφ. Μεν.
putidum	Varr. Taφ. Μεν.
paenitu-
dinem <sup>q</sup>	Pacuv. Teuc.
153 praebitio	Varr. Eum.
pueros	Varr. Eum.
paxillus	Varr. Eum.

Gellius.

proxumi	(= Gell. X 24)
---------	----------------

<sup>q</sup> Inserted from 169. 28; 185. 2; 243. 5?

properatim<sup>r</sup> (= Gell. XII 15)
permities<sup>s</sup> Lucil. XXIX

Alph. Verb.

parcuit Naev. Quadrigem. perbitere Pacuv. Perib., Titin. Fullon., Liv. Tereus, Enn. Hec. pigrire Acc. Epig., Acc. Chrysippus provigere Pacuv. Teuc.
puellascere Varr. Baiae

Alph. Adverb.

palaestricos Afran. Exceptus populatim Caecil. Obolost. praesente Pompon. Syr., Acc. Melan., Fenestella Ann. II, Nov. Minta med. primiter Pompon. Macc. Gem., Lucil. V prognariter Plaut. Pers. properatim Quadrig. Ann. II, Pomp. Bucc. adopt., Caecil. Ploc., Pac. Teuc., Acc. Teleph.

Cicero v.

155 praefractum M. Tull. Off. III

Gloss. i.

pulcritas Caecil. Harpaz. proletarii Enn. Ann.
prospica Naev. Astiologa pollentia Plaut. Rud.
propitiabilis Enn. Caupuncula pauxillisper Plaut. Truc.

156 ponderitatem Acc. Pragm. I puritia Varr. Rer. Div. I

praelumbare puerae pupae pipare
procudere 157 praecox
pauperat Novius Vin-
dēm.
Varr. Devicti
Varr. Aborig.
Varr. Aborig.
Varr. Τὸ ἐπὶ τῷ φ.
Varr. Syneph.
Plaut. Mil. glor., Plaut. Acharist., Titin. Privigna, Titin. Varus
Lucil. XXX
Titin. Gemina
(bis)

Plautus i.

pollictores Varr. Mut. Mul., Cosmot., Plaut.
Asin.

putamina Plaut. Capt.

Lucretius.

158 pestilitas Lucr. VI

Accius i.

paeniturum Acc. Epinaus.

Accius ii.

pausa Acc. Epigon.
prosperari Lucil. XXVI

---

puellos <sup>t</sup>	Varr. Testam.
pecus	Plaut. Rud.
159 percitum	Plaut. Amph.
pecua	Naev. Gymn.

---

putret Pacuv. Teuc., Acc. Erig.

Lucilius i.

protollere	Lucil. Sat. I
priva	Lucil. Sat. I
prodigitas	Lucil. Sat. VI

Pacuvius.

160 porcet	Pacuv. Atal.
prolixitu-
dinem	Pacuv. Dulor.

<sup>r</sup> The quotation from Caecilius may come from the 'Gloss. v' h.t. <sup>s</sup> Cf. proficisci, p. 160 M.

<sup>t</sup> Ought this, with the three succeeding lemmas, to follow putamina, p. 157 M.

(?) Gloss. ii.

perfica. Lucr. II

Afranius.petiolus Afran. ExceptusLucilius ii.petigo Lucil. XXX porrigo Lucil. XXX profligare<sup>u</sup> M. Tull. Tusc.
V, (= Gell. XV
5<sup>v</sup>)Varro iii.161 patritum Varr. Manius pertidere Cic. Orat. popinones Varr. ManiusCicero vi.putidum M. Tull. Fin. V percursio-nem Cic. Tusc. IVSisenna.162 praefersti- Sis. Hist. IV natim (III?)
praestolari Sis. Hist. III permittere Sis. Hist. III proicere Sis. Hist. IVCicero vii.petulantiam Cic. de Or. II pressu Cic. de Or. III(?) Gloss. iv.paupertates Varro V.P.R. I paupertinum Varro V.P.R. I plumarium Varr. CatusCicero viii.163 purpurascit Cic. Acad. II perpendiculi Cic. Acad. IIpingue Cic. Acad. IV (II)probatu dif-ficle Cic. Tusc. V
palpo Plaut. Merc.Varro iv.peminosum Varr. R.R. I 51 pisare Varr. R.R. I 63Varro v.praecida-neum Varr. V.P.R.III palangae Varr.V.P.R.III pondō du-centum Varr.V.P.R.III

R-SECTION.

(?) Gloss. i.<sup>x</sup>164 rutunde Cic. Fin. IV ruta<sup>y</sup> Cic. de Or. IIPlautus i.ravum<sup>z</sup> Cic. Acad. IV ravis Plaut. Aul. rurant Plaut. Capt.
rarenter<sup>a</sup> Caecil. Ploc., Pomp. Ergast. ructus Plaut. Pseud.Accius.

165 resupinas Acc. Antig.

Terence.ringitur Ter. Phorm.
riscus Ter. Eun.Lucilius ii.reciproca (Lucil.?)
repedare Lucil. XXVIAlph. Verb.redandru- Lucil. IX, are Pacuv. Chrys.<sup>u</sup> Cf. permitties, p. 153 M.<sup>v</sup> Perhaps an extra-quotation.<sup>x</sup> Or should the three opening lemmas follow recentiorum, p. 167 M.?<sup>y</sup> Possibly inserted from 54. 18; 384. 15. <sup>z</sup> From note on ravis, below?<sup>a</sup> From note on rurant 'est rusticantur.' Cf. 186. 1. s.v. vilicari 'est rusticari.'

redhostit Acc. Amph.,
Acc. Didasc. II

S-SECTION.

repueras- Novius Agric.
cere

Gloss. i.

retorissat Pompon. Medi-cus

saltuatim<sup>d</sup> Sis. Hist. VI (cf. Gell. XII, xv)

ramites<sup>b</sup> Plaut. Merc., Plaut. Poen.,

scapum Varr. Bimarc. sutrinas Varr. Herc.

Varr. Trihod., Lucil. Sat. IX

scabre Varr. Manius strigosus Masur. Sab.

ruspari Acc. Nyct., Acc.
Meleag.

XVII (cf. Gell.
IV, xx, 11)

regredere Enn. Ach. ruminari Varr. Tanaquil, suspiciosum Cato de Re Flor.

(cf. Gell. IX, xii, 7)

Alph. Adverb.

rusticatum Pompon. Aleones

169 subices<sup>c</sup>
etc.

Enn. Ach. (cf.
Gell. IV, xvii,
14)

Plautus ii.

167 rumiferare Plaut. Amph.

scriptas,
etc.

Plaut. Nervol.
(cf. Gell. III,
iii, 6)

Varro ii.

returare Varr. Agath. rutuba Varr. Sexag. revocare Varr. Sexag.

sabulum Varr. Ταφ. Μεν.
suctu Varr. Γυῶθι
super Virg. A. I scabres<sup>f</sup> Enn. Androm. secundare Virg. A. VII, Propert. Eleg.
IV

Gellius.

recentari (= Gell. XV 25)

simat Lucil. VII

Varro iii.

rapinatores Varr. Bimarc.

170 scurrile Cic. de Or. II

(?) Gloss. iv.

reda<sup>e</sup> Varr. Epist. ad Varr.

sordet Acc. Aegisth.

Cicero vi.

recentiorum M. Tull. Fin. II

sublabrare Novius Decuma

Varro v.

rumam Varr. Catus

sublimare Enn. Medea

168 reiculas Varr. Catus

superstitent Enn. Melan.

septuose<sup>g</sup> Pacuv. Antiopa

sempiterne Pacuv. Medus septemfa- Santra Verb.

riam Antiq. III

simulter Plaut. Pseud.

scripta<sup>h</sup> M. Tull. Hort.

succidiam<sup>h</sup> M. Tull. Sen.

<sup>b</sup> Perhaps s.v. rumpere (ramites).    <sup>c</sup> Or is this lemma inserted from 29. 10?

<sup>d</sup> Possibly inserted from 187. 32 (in a 'Gellius sequence').

<sup>e</sup> Cf. subiecere (p. 387 M.), in a 'Gloss. i' sequence.

<sup>f</sup> This and the seven following lemmas seem to belong to the Alph. Verb. series.

<sup>g</sup> This and the three following lemmas seem to belong to the Alph. Adverb. series.

<sup>h</sup> These two lemmas seem to belong to Cicero v.

		Terence.
171	signatam superbos suggillare	Lucil. XXIX Plaut. Amph. Varr. Lex. Maen.
	satullem singulum sperem scalpurrire	Varr. περὶ αἰρ. Plaut. Cist. Varr. Aborig. Plaut. Aul. 467
172	sommurnas satias squalam socienno scaturrex somnicu- losus	Varr. Prom. lib. Acc. Astyan. Enn. Telam. Plaut. Aul. 659 Varr. Est. Mod. Laber. Sorores
		Plautus i.
	saevitudo	Plaut. Bacch. 2
173	suavitudo	Plaut. Bacch. 27
	severitudine	Plaut. Epid.
	sorditudine	Plaut. Poen.
		Lucretius.
	sententia	Lucr. IV
	speciem	Lucil. XXX
	sodalis	Cic. de Or. II
		Accius i.
	solitate	Acc. Erys.
	subiti	Acc. Arm. Jud.
	sanctitudo	Acc. Tereus
174	satu	Acc. Pelopid.
	scriptione	Varr. Anthropol.
		Accius ii.
	segnitas	Acc. Aen. aut. Dec.
		Lucilius i.
	scelerosi	Lucil. Sat. I
		Afranius.
	speratum	Afran. Fratr. (bis)
		Ter. Heaut. Lucr. I, Virg. G. I, III
		Lucilius ii.
	sacerdae	Lucil. XXX
	simitu	Lucil. XXX
	subsiccivum	Lucil. XXVIII
	supplosio- nem <sup>i</sup>	Cic. de Or. III
	superbilo- quentia <sup>i</sup>	Cic. Tusc. IV
	sarcinator	Lucil. XXVIII
		Alph. Verb.<sup>k</sup>
	sospitent	Enn. Melan. Pac. Medus.
		Alph. Adverb.<sup>l</sup>
	singulatim	Caecil. Hypob. Rastr., Caelius Ann. I, Lucil. XIX
	solemnitus	Liv. Aegisth.
		Varro iii.
	scenatilis	Varr. Modius
	saperdae	Varr. Modius
	surditatem	Cic. Tusc. V
	simplicitus	Plaut. Merc.
	suscitabulum	Varr. "Ονολύπας
	similitas	Caecil. Syracus.
		Cicero vi.
	salebras	M. Tull. Fin. (II)
		Gloss. iv.
	sublestum	Plaut. (Pers.)
		Cicero vii.
	supellectilis	Cic. Orat. 79
	scurrile	Cic. Orat. 88
	sportas	Sall. Hist. II
	sodes	Cic. Orat. 154

<sup>j</sup> Inserted here in suite of extra-quotation to subsiccivum from 'Cicero vii' list.

<sup>k</sup> See note on scabres, p. 169 M. It is worth mention that sospitare occurs in a line of Lucil. XXVII (472 M. 13).

<sup>l</sup> See note on septuose, p. 170 M.

scopas	Cic. Orat. 235
178 sciuntur	Cic. de Or. II

T-SECTION.

Alph. Verb.

taetret	Pacuv. Perib.
tetinerit	Pacuv. Medus,
	Acc. Clyt., Pa-
	cuv. Hermione

tetulit	Acc. Androm.,
	(?)Caecil. Hypo-

Alph. Adverb.

taxim	Pompon. Bucc.
	Adopt.
temerius	Accius Didasc.
	II
testatini	Pompon. Verr.
	Aegr.
tractim	Plaut. Amph.
	313

Varro ii.

tudiculare	Varr. Marcip.
traps	Varr. Parm
179 tegillum	Varr. Sesqueul.

(?) Gloss. iv.<sup>m</sup>

terta	Varr. Ἐχωνε
temperatura	Varr. Ἀλλον
torto	Pacuv. Dolor.
tonsus	Plaut. Amph.
	444
tuburcinari	Titin. Prilia
tabificabile	Acc. Medea
tuatim	Plaut. Amph.
	554
tetritudo	Acc. Philoct.
180 temnere	Lucil. XXX

Varro iii.

taxis	Varr. Modius <sup>n</sup>
tippula	Varr. Bimarc.
tonescit	Varr. Bimarc.

Cicero vii.

transenna	Cic. de Or. I 162
tironem	Cic. de Or. I 218
trutina	Cic. de Or. II

Cicero viii.

181 turpari	Cic. Tusc. III
-------------	----------------

Gloss. v.

tenerascere	Lucr. III
tricinium	Varr. Eum.
tetrica	Varr. Τοῦ πατρός,
tarditu-	Virg. Aen. VII
dinem	Plaut. Poen.,
temeritu-	Acc. Alcm.,
dinem	Acc. Diom.
tenta
182 tristitas	Pacuv. Dulor.
	Lucr. II, VI,
	Lucil. Sat. VI and XI, XXX
torporavit	Pacuv. Atal.,
titubare	Turp. Leucad.
tortor	Turp. Hetaera
tunicare	M. Tull. Phil.
	XIV, Virg. Aen.
	V, Ter. Heaut.
	Pompon. Full.
	Dec.
	Varr. Logom.

Varr. v.

titionem	Varr. V.P.R. II
----------	-----------------

V-SECTION.

Gloss. i.

vulgavit	Plaut. Amph.
	(frag.)
183 veget	Pompon. Maial.
vereundum	Plaut. Amph.
	901
venor	Enn. Nemea

<sup>m</sup> Can this be 'Gloss i'?<sup>n</sup> Inserted from 176. 14?

vicissatim	o	Naev. Bell. Pun.
	IV
visceratim	o	Enn. Androm.
unose	o	Pacuv. Iliona
utrasque		Hemina Hist.
	IV
vivum		Virg. A. I
vegrande		Lucil. XXVI

(?) Plautus i.

184	vanans <sup>p</sup>	Acc. Alcm.
	vanitudo	Plaut. (Capt.)

Lucretius.

variantia		Lucr. I 653
viscus		Lucr. I 837
vagor		Lucr. II

Accius i.

vetustas <sup>q</sup>		Ter. Hec.
vastities <sup>r</sup> ,		Plaut. Pseud.,
etc.		Acc. Eurys.
185	vastescant	Acc. Phoen.
	vicissitatem	Acc. Phoen.

Accius ii.

ullo <sup>s</sup>		Acc. Epig.
verruncant		Acc. Aen. aut
		Dec.

Turpilius.

vilitant		Turpil. Lindia
186 vilicari		Pompon. Er-gast., Afran.
		Suspecta, Tur-
		pil. Parater.
vinnulum		(auct. inc.)

Sallust.

vitabundus		Sall. Hist. III
volentia		Sall. Hist. IV

Naev. Dan.

valentia		Naev. Danae
----------	--	-------------

Lucilius ii.

vomica		Lucil. XXIX
Viriatum		Lucil. XXVI
vescum		Lucil. XXVI

Plautus ii.

187 volup		Plaut. Asin. 942
-----------	--	------------------

Varro ii.

virginde-
miam		Varr. Agath.
viracium		Varr. Meleag.
vulga		Lucil. II, Varr. Sexag.

Gellius.

verrucam		(= Gell. III 7)
vibices		(= Gell. X 3)
vellicatim		(= Gell. XII 15)
188 victurus		(= Gell. XIV 1)
virescit		(= Gell. XVIII 11)

(?) Gloss. iv.

viro		Lucr. II
venerata		Virg. A. III
uter		Caecil. Imbr.

Sisenna.

vicatim		Sis. Hist. III
---------	--	----------------

Cicero vii.

vultuosum		Cic. Orat. 60
vermicu-
latum		Cic. Orat. 149
venalicii		Cic. oratio Cor- neliana II (ap. Orat. 232)
vocare		Cic. de Or. I
189 verecundari		Cic. de Or. III 36
versutilo-		Cic. de Or. III
quas		154

<sup>o</sup> Inserted from 'Alph. Adverb.' list along with extra-quotation to utrasque?
Or do all four belong to 'Alph. Adv.'?

<sup>p</sup> From note on vanitudo, or inserted from 16. 19?

<sup>q</sup> Perhaps from note on Acc. Phoen. ap. Non. 426 M. 1, s.v. antiquus.

<sup>r</sup> From note on vastescant?

Cicero viii.

- uncinatum Cic. Acad. IV
vendita-
tionem Cic. Tusc. II

Varro iv.

- viere Varr. R.R. I

Varro v.

- undulatim Varr. V.P.R. I verbecem Varr. V.P.R. I

- zonatim Lucil. VI

BOOK III, DE INDISCRETIS GENERIBUS, i.e. Words used with different genders.

A-SECTION.*Gloss. i.

- 190 angiportus Plaut. Cist., M.
Tull. de Div.
arbitrium Plaut. Asin. armenta Enn. (Ann.)
absintium Pacuv. aerarium Varr. Gerontod. admonitio M. Tull. Fin.
V. 4
191 auditus M. Tull. Fin.
V. 42
artus Plaut. Men.

Plautus i.

- angues Plaut. Amph.
Acherontem Plaut. Capt.
amnem Plaut. Merc.
192 araneae Plaut. Stich. aetas Plaut. Trin.

Lucretius.

- accipiter Lucr. IV

Naev. Lyc.

- arva Naev. Lycurg., Pacuv.

Accius i.

- 193 anfractum Acc. Eurys.

(?) Varro i.

- aevitas Varr. Tithon.

Cicero v.

- aera M. Tull. Hort.
acina M. Tull. Sen. 52

Gloss. iv.

- autumnus Varr. Serranus

(?) Gloss. v.

- alvus Accius Annal., Calvus
accubitio-nem<sup>s</sup> M. Tull. Sen. 45

B-SECTION.

- 194 bubo Agellius (Asel-lio?) Hist. I balneae M. Tull. Hort. balteus Varr. Rer. Div.
XI, Acc. Didasc.
VIII, Liv. IX
buxum Enn.
blandimen-
tum Cic. Rep. IV

C-SECTION.

- (?) Gloss. i. iii-v.
clivus Memmius, Cato
de trib. mil.
195 cima Corn. Celsus consitura M. Tull. Rep. I crux Enn. Ann. XI
culter et cul-tellus Varr. Gerontod.
cor Enn. (Ann.)
XIII
cupressus Enn. (Ann.)
carra Sis. Hist. IV, Varr. Caeus II
certamen Sis. Hist. IV

<sup>s</sup> Possibly should stand between aera and acina, above. Or is it inserted from 42. 8?

196	querellae compita	Virg. A. IV Varr. de scen. orig. III, Cae- cil. Tithe
	consor- tium <sup>t</sup>	Lucil. XXIX, M. Tull. Off. III, Tit. Livius
	chartam <sup>t</sup>	Lucil. XXVII
	clipeus	Virg. A. IX, Lic. Macer, La- ber. Sorores caementa	Enn. (trag.)
	clunes	Plaut. Agroec.
197	caelum	Lucr., Varr. Rer. Div. VI, Enn. (Ann.) (bis)
	castitas et castimo- nia	Varr. Rer. Div. I (bis), Naev.
	callis	Carm. Pun. Bell. Liv. XXII

(?)Varro iv.

culleus	Varr. R.R. I 2
corbes	Varr. R.R. I 15

Gloss. i.

quis	Liv. (trag.) Cae- cil.
canalis	Lucil.
cinis	(Calvus?)
colus	Cic. de Or. II
capillus	Plaut. Most.
cursus	Plaut. Asin., (curriculum Cic. Timaeus)

Plautus i.

qualest	Plaut. Amph.
contagio <sup>u</sup>	Lucr. III
catellae	Plaut. Curc.
corius	Plaut. Poen. 139
calx	Plaut. Poen. 908

Lucretius.

cortex	Virg. Buc. IX, Lucr. IV
200 calor	Plaut. Merc.

Novius.

caseum	Nov. Macc.
--------	------------

Accius ii.

collum	Acc. Epig.
castra	Acc. Aen. aut Dec.
copulae	Acc. Phin.

Lucilius i.

201 cepe	Lucil. Sat. V (bis)
cubitus	Lucil. Sat. XVI
colubra	Lucil. Sat. XX

Cicero i.

contemptus	M. Tull. Rep. V
------------	-----------------

Varro i.

202 compen- dium	Varr. Sciam.
---------------------	--------------

Sallust.

crocum	Virg. G. IV, Sall. Hist. II
--------	--------------------------------

(?)Gloss. iii-v.

conatus	Acc. Atreus.
candela- brum	Caecil. Meretr.
cardo	Gracchus Pelia- des
census	Cic. in Consu- latu Suo crines	Plaut. Most., Atta epigramm.
cummi	Cinna

Do these belong to the 'Lucil. ii' series, possibly with clipeus (cf. glaau).
p. 208 M.)?

<sup>u</sup> Should this lemma stand before cortex, below?

D-SECTION.

203	dorsum	Plaut. Mil.
	decorem	M. Tull. Deor.
		Nat. II
	despectus	M. Tull. Off. II
	dominatio	M. Tull. Rep. I (bis)
	debitum	M. Tull. pro Planc.
	diluvium	Lucr. V, Horat. C. IV

E-SECTION.

Lucretius.

204	eventus	Lucr. I (bis)
-----	---------	---------------

Accius ii.

error	Acc. Neopt.
-------	-------------

Lucilius i.

epulum	Lucil. Sat. XIII
ervum	Varr. Long. Fug.

F-SECTION.

Gloss. i.

frontem	Titin. Setina
---------	---------------

Lucretius.

205	finem	Lucr. I
	funis	Lucr. II
	fretum	Lucr. VI

Accius i.

206	favor	Acc. Oenom.
	fetus <sup>v</sup>	Virg. Buc. VII
	frenos	Virg. A. VIII, Acc.

Pomponius.

forum	Lucil. III, Sall. I, Pomp. Petitor
-------	---------------------------------------

Alph. Adverb.

frigus <sup>x</sup>	Varr. Cras Credo
---------------------	------------------

Lucilius ii.

fulmentum <sup>y</sup>	Lucil. XXVIII
famulatio	Cic. de Amic.

Sisenna.

207	fluvius	Sis. Hist. IV
-----	---------	---------------

Cicero vii.

flexus	Cic. Orat.
--------	------------

G-SECTION.

Plautus i.

guttur	Plaut. Mil. glor.
--------	-------------------

Lucilius i.

genu	Lucil. Sat. IV
gelu	Afran. Epist.

Varro i, Virgil.

208	grando	Virg. G. I, Varr. Trih. Trip.
-----	--------	----------------------------------

(?) Lucilius ii.

gladius <sup>z</sup>	Lucil.
----------------------	--------

Varro ii.

ganeum	Varr. Sesq.
--------	-------------

Gloss. v.

grues	Laber. Fullon., Virg. G. I, Lucil. Sat. IV
-------	--

greges <sup>a</sup>	Lucr. II
---------------------	----------

H-SECTION.

horrea	Calidius in Q. Gell.
--------	-------------------------

I-SECTION.

Lucilius i.

intiba	Lucil. Sat. Vand XX
--------	------------------------

<sup>v</sup> Perhaps inserted from Virgil list along with extra-quotation to frenos.

<sup>x</sup> Cf. 139. 9 s.v. medullitus.

<sup>y</sup> Have this and the preceding lemma been transposed?

<sup>z</sup> Cf. clipeus, p. 196 M. <sup>a</sup> Recurs in Book II, p. 26 in same series.

Cicero iv.

- 209 interitus M. Tull. Verrin. frument. (II,
iii)

(?) Gloss. iii-v.

- insomnium Caecil. Ploc.
intestinum Varr. Marcopolis ingressus M. Tull. in Ora-tore perfecto (Orat. II)
iocus Laev. Protesil.

L-SECTION.*Gloss. i.

- 210 lentem Titin.

Plautus i.

- lux Plaut. Aul. lucrum Plaut. Pers. labium Plaut. Stich.

Accius ii.

- lacerti Acc. Atreus

(?) Virgil.

- 211 loca Virg. A. I, Naev.
Bell. Pun. VI

(?) Gloss. iii.

- lapides Enn. (Ann.)

Varro iii.

- luxuria Varr. Manius

Cicero vi.

- lusus M. Tull. Fin. V

Sisenna.

- labrusca<sup>b</sup> Virg. Buc. V, Culex

(?) Gloss. iv.

- liba Nigid. de Dis

Varro iv.

- 212 lupinum Varr. R.R. I 13

Gloss. v.

- |           |                   |
|-----------|-------------------|
| lympha    | Lucil.            |
| licentiam | Laber. Pauper-    |
| latrina   | tas               |
| lutum     | Laber. Compi-     |
| lanitium  | tal., Lucil. VI,  |
|           | XI                |
|           | Claudius Ann.,    |
|           | Cic. Epist. ad    |
|           | Hirt.             |
|           | Laber. Pauper-    |
|           | tas, Virg. G. III |

M-SECTION.*Plautus i.

- mercatus Plaut. Trin., Plaut. Amph.

Accius ii.

- 213 melos Acc. Bacch.

Lucilius i.

- medimnum Lucil. Sat. XV

Varro i.

- margaritum Varr. Pap. pap.
and Hecatombe

Lucilius ii.

- 214 messem Lucil. XXVII mendum M. Tull. Verr.
(II, ii) Lucil.

Gloss. iii.

- |       |        |        |
|-------|--------|--------|
| metus | Naev.  | (Bell. |
|       | Pun.), | Enn.   |
|       | (Ann.) |        |

Varro ii.

- murmur Varr. Sexag.

(?) Gloss. v.

- |         |               |
|---------|---------------|
| mundus  | Lucil. XVI    |
| miseria | Laber. Carcer |

<sup>b</sup> Cf. 449. 13 s.v. labra. The lemma came from a note on Sisenna Hist. IV fr. 103 P.

N-SECTION.

Lucilius ii.
nundinae Lucil. XXVI

Gloss. iii.

215 nasus Lucil. VII, Lucil. XXII
nepos enn. (Ann.)
nuntius

Varro iii.

nervi Varr. "Ovōs λύπας
novalia Virg. G. I

O-SECTION.

Plautus i. obsequium Plaut. Asin.

Lucilius i.

216 ostrea Lucil. Sat. IX,
XIII and III

(?) Gloss. iii—v.
oves Varr. Rer. Hum.
XXII (et alibi)
obsidio enn. (Ann.)

P-SECTION.

Gloss. i.

putei Varr. Gallus vel Fund.
piscatio Cic. Fin. II 217 pulvis enn. VIII Ann.
posticam Titin. Velit., Titin. Fullones,
Lucil. VIII

Plautus i.

partus Plaut. Aul. 75, 276, and Truc.
218 praesepia Plaut. Curc. 228
panis Plaut. Curc. 367

pingue est<sup>c</sup> Nov. Tripert. perdix Varr. Admi-
rand.

Lucretius.

palpebrum Lucr. IV

(?) Novius

pannus Nov. Tabellaria
purpurissum Nov. Sanniones

(?) Accius i.

permities<sup>d</sup> Acc. Melan.
219 palumbes Lucil. XIV,
Plaut. Bacch.,
Pomp. Dives

Lucilius i.

pigror Lucil. Sat. X (pigret enn. (Ann.)
XVI, Accius Clytaem.)

Varro i.

pali Varr. Flaxt.

Cicero ii.

periculum M. Tull. Deor.
Nat. II

Afranius.

paratio Afran. Privig.

Lucilius ii.

penus<sup>e</sup> Lucil.
220 polypus Lucil. XXIX

Gloss. iii—v.

paupertas Caecil. Ploc. papaver Varr. Admi-
rand., Plaut.
(Trin.)

pilleus Plaut. Cornic. prosecta Lucil. XIV, Varr. Rer. Div.
XIV

<sup>c</sup> From note on Plaut. Curc. 367?

<sup>d</sup> Should this lemma follow palpebrum, above? Or does it come from the note on serviti Acc. Clytaem. ap. Non. 226. 10?

<sup>e</sup> Possibly from a note on Virg. A. I 703.

	pedis	Plaut. Vid.		simile est	Titin. Fullones,
	pluvia	Laber. Late			Naevius Gym-
		Loq.			nast.
221	pistillus	Munatius			Plautus i.
	propago <sup>f</sup>	Enn. (Ann.)		schema	Plaut. Amph.
	patibulum	Licin. Rer.			117
		Rom. XXI,		225 scrobes	Plaut. Amph.
		Plaut. Carbon.			(frag.)
				syngraphas	Plaut. Asin.
					Lucretius.
				silex	Lucr. I
				spicae	M. Tull. Sen.
					Accius i. ii.
	rictus	Lucr. V and		226 squalor	Acc. Eury.
		Titin.		suasiones	?
				servitus	Acc. Clyt.
	(?) Afranius.				Turpilius.
	rogus	Afran. Epist.		scutum	Turpil. Demi-urg.
					Varro i.
				seplasium	Varr. Syneph.
					and Anthrop.
					Cicero iii.
				stupor <sup>g</sup>	Acc. Erigona
				statura	M. Tull. Off. I
					126
					(?) Gloss. iii.
				stirpem	ENN. Ann. V,
					Pacuv. Atal.,
					Virg. A. XII
					Cicero v.
				227 satio	M. Tull. Sen.
					T-SECTION.
					Gloss. i.
				tactus	Cic. Tusc. IV
				tale	Titin. Setina

<sup>f</sup> Recurs in Gloss. v series in Book I, p. 64 M.<sup>g</sup> From note on Cic. Off. I 126?

Plautus i.

- tonitrus Plaut. Amph. tergum Plaut. Asin. and Pseud.

Lucretius.

- textus Lucr. V

Accius i.

- terriculae Acc. Epinaus.

Lucilius i.

- 228 torquem Lucil. Sat. XI

Pacuvius.

- timor Pacuv. Perib.

Varro i.

- tractus Varr. Mut. Mul.

Virgil.

- tribulae Virg. G. I 229 torpor<sup>h</sup> Sall. Hist. I tapete Virg. (A. IX)

Gloss. iii.

- tributum Cato Orig.
testa

Varro ii.

- turdi Varr. Quinq.

Varro iii.

- tarditas Varr. Bimarc.
tibia Varr. Modius
Tartara Virg. VI

U-SECTION.*Plautus i.

- uterus Plaut. Aul.
230 venatus Plaut. Mil. glor.

Lucretius.

- vultus Lucr. IV

Accius i.

- vulgaris Sis. Hist. III, Virg. A. II, Acc Eurys.
usus Plaut. Amph.,
Acc. Oenom.

Lucilius i.

- 231 vectis<sup>i</sup> Lucil. Sat. IV

Pomponius.

- vespres<sup>i</sup> Pomp. Porcius

Sallust.

- vadum Sall. Hist. I

Virgil.

- vespera Plaut. Amph., Virg. G. III

(?) Lucilius ii.

- utres Lucil.

Varro ii.

- 232 vigiliae Varr. Endym

Cicero vi.

- victus M. Tull. Fin. V

BOOK IV, DE VARIA SIGNIFICATIONE SERMONUM, i.e. a Latin Lexicon.

A-SECTION.*Gloss. i.

- advorsum Titin. Gemina anima (?) Titin. Fulones

Accius i.

- 233 aptam (?) Acc. Melan.
and 'Demer.'

Lucilius i.

- 235 aequales (?) Lucil. Sat. V

<sup>h</sup> Perhaps comes from the 'Sallust' list and should precede tribulac.

<sup>i</sup> Have these two lemmas been transposed?

Turpilius.

- 236 apertum (?) Turpil. De-miurg.

Pacuvius.

- 237 autumare Pacuv. Perib.
and Dolor.
altum<sup>k</sup> (?) Acc. Arm.
Jud.
aditus<sup>k</sup> Acc. Medea

Accius iii.

- 238 adtendere Acc. Diomed.
(bis) appellare<sup>1</sup> M. Tull. Off. III (appellere Afran. Except.)

Sallust. (Cicero i ?)

- aemulus (?) Sall. Hist.
III, M. Tull.
Rep. I 239 argutum Virg., etc.
accipere Virg., etc.
240 ardere Virg.

Cicero iii.

- acre (?) M. Tull. Off.
I (bis)

Virgil.

- 241 aer Virg. G. II 123
amarum Virg. A. IV 15 242 admonere<sup>m</sup> Virg. A. X 586
ambire (?) Virg. A. IV 283 agerere<sup>n</sup> Varr. Bimarc. audacia Virg. A. V
atrum (?) Virg. A. VI 576 alumnos (?) Virg. A. VI
595 and 876
243 agere (?) Virg. A. VII
199

- 244 asperum (?) Virg. A. IX
263 aequare Virg. A. IX 337

Cicero iv.

- accommo- M. Tull. in datum Verr. act. II (i) and in Verr.
frument. (iii)

Lucilius ii.

- 245 aridum Virg., Plaut.
anceps Lucil. XXIX
(bis)

Gloss. iii.

- aura Virg. Varr. Eum.

Alph. Verb.

- argutari Enn. Phoen.,
Nov. Exod.
Titin. Fullonia
246 attollere Virg. A. III,
Pacuv. Medus,
Pacuv. Arm.
Jud.
auscultare Pacuv. Chrys., Afran. Sim.,
Priv., Enn. Melan., Caecil.
Symb., Pomp.
Asina

Cicero v.

- adducere (?) M. Tull. Sen.
aequor Virg.

Plautus ii.

- 247 advenire Plaut. Amph.
aestus (?) Plaut. Asin.

Varro ii.

- acerbum Varr. Agath.
album Varr. Sesq.

<sup>k</sup> Should these lemmas follow aptam, p. 233 M.?

<sup>l</sup> Inserted here from Cicero v list in suite of extra-quotation from that list to adtendere?

<sup>m</sup> Perhaps inserted here along with extra-quotation to ambire from Virg. A. X 243.

<sup>n</sup> Cf. gerere, p. 316 M.

Gloss. iv.adolere<sup>o</sup> Virg.(?) Gloss. v.248 alescere Lucr. II, Laber.
Soror.B-SECTION.*(?) Lucilius ii.

bellum Lucil. XXIX

C-SECTION.*Gloss. i.committere (?) Pacuv. Nip-tra249 confutare Titin. Setina condere (?) Sall. Catil.
bell.

colere Virg., etc.

cedere Virg., etc.

251 cursus Virg.

castigare Virg.

252 carpere Virg.

cunctari Virg., etc.

capere Lucr. II, Virg.,
etc.

254 corripere Virg.

quassatum Virg.

certare Virg.

255 crepare (?) Horat. Carm.
I

comparare Ter. Eun., Ter.

Andr., Titin.

Gemina

257 componere Virg., etc.

calx Lucil. Sat. VII,

Virg. A. V

callet Caecil. Asot.,

Acc. Aegisth.,

Afran. Abducta,

Pacuv. Atal.,

Serenus Opusc.

258 contendere Plaut. Vid., Cic.

Epist. Cass.,

Virg. A. V,

Licin. Macer

Accius.260 cernere Acc. Chrysipp., Epinaus.Lucil. i.

261 circumferre Lucil. Sat. II

Turpilius.262 confidentialia Pacuv. Atal.
(bis), Turpil.
Leucad. and HetaeraPacuvius.consternari Pacuv. Perib. and Dolor.263 curriculus Varr. Epist. ad Jul. Caes.Cicero i.calumnia M. Tull. Rep.
IIIVarro i.calidum Varr. περὶ κέρη.Cicero ii.caelum M. Tull. Deor contentus Virg., etc.
Nat. II

264 cogere Virg., etc.

265 claudere Virg.

Sallust.citum Virg. Aen. VIII, Sall. Cat. bell.Cicero iii.

citare (?) M. Tull. Off. I

Virgil.

266 cadere (?) Virg. G. I capessere (?) Virg. A. I

<sup>o</sup> This lemma recurs in Book I in the Gloss iv series.

	commo- dum <sup>p</sup> candet 267 castum censere <sup>q</sup>	Lucil., Plaut. Asin. Virg. A. IV Virg. A. VI Varr. Capr. Proel., Acc. Eurys., Naev. Poen. bell. VI, Cass. Hem. Hist. II, Quad- rig. Ann. VI coicere <sup>q</sup>	continens Lucilius ii.	M. Tull. ad M. Cat., Epist. ad Sen.
274	curatum conducere		curatum conducere	Lucil. XXX Lucil. XXX. and XXIX
	concele- brare			Lucil. XXX
275	credere		credere	Lucil. XXVIII (bis)
	commodare		commodare	(?) Lucil. XXVII
	captare		captare	Lucil. XXVII
	cognoscere		cognoscere	(?) Lucil. XXVI
			(?) Gloss. iii-v.
276	competere		competere	Sall. Hist. I
			D-SECTION.
			Gloss. i.
			damnare	(?) Titin. Velit.
277	delicere		delicere	Titin. Quint.
			defendere	Virg. Buc. VII, Enn. Ach.
			delica	Titin. Quint.
			Plautus i.
278	delenitus		delenitus	M. Tull. ad Cass. I and Plaut. Amph.
			degere	Plaut. Aul. 165
			dare	and Epid. Virg., etc.
279	deponere		deponere	(?) Plaut. Aul. 575 destitui
				Naev. Gymnast.
			Accius i.
280	dedicare		dedicare	Acc. Alphes.
			Pomponius.
			dicere	(?) Pomp. 'Pis- tores'

<sup>p</sup> Possibly inserted here in suite of extra-quotations to capessere from Plautus ii list.

9 Do these lemmas come from the 'Alpha-Verb.' list?

<sup>r</sup> See below, section vii.

Accius ii.

281 dignatus Acc. Neopt.

Lucilius i.

dominus Lucil. Sat. VI

Turpilius.

282 deliberare Turp. Philop.

Sallust.

discrimen (?) Sall. Hist. I

Virgil.

duci (?) Virg. Buc. IX

284 differre (?) Virg. G. III

durum (?) Virg. G. IV

decernere Virg., etc.

286 dimissum (?) Virg. A. III dignari <sup>320</sup> Virg. A. III 475

discere Virg. A. V

287 defunctum Virg. A. VI 83
and 306Terence.distrahere (?) Ter. Phorm. and Virg. A. VII

dicare M. Tull. Epist.

detrahere ad Caes. I

(? ) Ter. Heaut.

Cicero iv.288 despicere M. Tull. in Verr.
act. II i.deicere M. Tull. in Verr.
act. I, Phil. Iand ad Caes. iun. IILucilius ii.289 deductum<sup>s</sup> Lucil. XXX and XXVII

deferre Lucil. XXIX

destinare Lucil. XXIX

docere Lucil. XXIX

(?) Alph. Verb.290 deligere Plaut. Curn., Titin. Prilia(?) Alph. Adverb.

dextrum Virg.

Gellius.deprecor (= Gell. VII, xvi)Cicero vii.divortium Virg. A. IX, Cic. de Or. IIIE-SECTION.*Plautus i. (?) Gloss. i.)exigere (?) Plaut. Aul. and Capt.

291 elidere (?) Plaut. Rud.

292 exanclare (?) Plaut. Stich.

Accius i. and ii. (?) Gloss. i.)eliminari Enn. Med. exul, Acc. Phoen. and Meleag.Cicero i.

elidere M. Tull. Rep. II

293 excipere (?) M. Tull. Rep.
IVSallust.

evadere (?) Sall. Jug. bell.

56

294 explorare<sup>t</sup> (?) Virg. G. I 175

exercere (?) Sall. Jug. bell.

71

and M. Tull.
Off. IVirgil.

295 equitem Virg. G. III

116 exteritum Virg. G. III

434

experiri (?) Virg. A. I

<sup>s</sup> The example from Cic. Rep. I may be inserted from 85, 17.<sup>t</sup> Should this lemma follow exercere?

<sup>u</sup> Should this lemma follow explicare?

<sup>x</sup> Perhaps from note on insultare Lucil. XXIX. (ap. Non. 330. 20).

311	ferire	(?) Virg. Buc. IX	Sallust.
	fovere	(?) Virg. A. I 18	hiare Sall. Hist. IV, Virg. G. II 508
312	fetum	(?) Virg. A. I 51
	fasces	(?) Virg. G. III	Virgil.
	fundere	(?) Virg. A. I 192	319 horrendum (?) Virg. G. II 387
			haurire (?) Virg. G. III and IV 426
313	filum	Virg. A. X and Lucil. XXIX	320 honor (?) Virg. G. IV 326
	flagitium	Lucil. XXIX
			Cicero v.
	fides	M. Tull. Hort.	I-SECTION.
			Gloss. i (or Plautus i?) invitare (?) Virg. G. I 302, Plaut. Amph.
			321 iuxta (?) Sall. Jug. bell., Plaut. Trin.
			322 insolens <sup>z</sup> (?) Ter. Andr., Pac. Atal.
316	grassari	Titin. Velit.	Naev. Lyc.
	garrulae	Varr. Peripl. I	ingenium Naev. Lyc.
			Accius i.
			323 immane Acc. Medea
			Pomponius.
			intestatus Pomp. Pictores
			Accius ii.
	gradus	M. Tull. Off. I	invadere Acc. Atham.
			Lucilius ii.
			324 iubere Lucil. Sat. VI
317	gestire	Virg. G. I, Lucil. XXX	Cicero i.
			impurus M. Tull. Rep. III
			Varro i.
			imbuere Varr. Syneph., Acc. Philoct.
			H-SECTION. Gloss. i.
	herba	Virg.
	habere	Virg. etc.
318	habitare	Varr. Serm. Lat. III

<sup>y</sup> Possibly belongs to Virgil series and should follow gratias.<sup>z</sup> Cf. insolum, 'insolitum' in 'Gloss. i' series, 124. 19.

		Lucilius ii.
ilico <sup>a</sup>	Pacuv. Medus, Caecil. Noth. Nicas., Turpil Leuc. Naev. Bell. Poen. VI, Acc. Eurus., Hemina Hist. I	330 immittere Lucil. XXX inducere Lucil. XXIX, XXX, XXVII and XXVI
325 ignoscite iter	Varr. Gloria Ter. Hec.	insultare Lucil. XXIX interficere Lucil. XXIX and XXVIII interpellare Lucil. XXVIII ire Lucil. XXVIII insigne Lucil. XXVII
	Sallust. innocens	Sall. Jug.	Plautus ii. inpedire Plaut. Amph.
	Virgil.
indulgere	(?) Virg. G. II 276 and 344	L-SECTION.
326 inane	(?) Virg. G. III 170	Gloss. i.
iacet	(?) Virg. G. III 354 and 343	laevum Virg. lac Titin. Psalt. legere (?) Titin. Velit.
327 improbum	(?) Virg. G. III 430	Plautus i.
iacere	(?) Virg. G. IV 294	333 lustra Plaut. Asin. linguere Virg.
iactari	(?) Virg. A. I 227 and 29	limare Plaut. Bacch.
328 involvere	(?) Virg. A. II interpres	334 liquidum (?) Plaut. Cas. 335 laudare Plaut. Capt. lustrare (?) Plaut. Pseud.
intendere	Virg. A. III 359 and IV 608
imponere	Virg. A. IV 453 and 639	Novius.
intentum	Virg. A. V 136 and 137	336 limen Nov. Macc. exul
329 imago	Virg. A. VII 179	Accius ii.
increpat	(?) Virg. A. VIII 527	levare (?) Acc. Meleag. 337 lautum (?) Acc. Stas. vel Trop.
	Cicero iv.
invehi	M. Tull. ad Caes. iun. III	Lucilius i, Cicero i.
intendere	M. Tull. de suppl. (Verr. II, v)	lentum (?) Lucil. Sat. I, and M. Tull. Rep. V
		Accius iii.
		‘locum, de- cus’ (341) 16) Acc. Diom.

<sup>a</sup> Has this lemma been inserted here from the ‘Alph. Adverb.’ list in suite of the extra-quotation to imbuerere from Acc. Philoct. (taken from the ‘Alph. Verb.’ list)?

Cicero iii.

languor <sup>b</sup>	M. Tull. Off. I 123
339 longum	(?) M. Tull. Off. I 69
luxuria	M. Tull. Off. I 106
340 laxum	M. Tull. Off. I 139

Virgil.

locandum	(?) Virg. A. I 427
laetum	(?) Virg. A. I 590
341 lassum	Virg. A. IX

(?) Gloss. iii.

locus	Acc. Eurus., Acc. Diom.
-------	----------------------------

M-SECTION.*(?) Gloss. i.

(macte	Virg. A. IX, Cic. Tusc. I)
--------	-------------------------------

Plautus i.

mactare	Plaut. Amph.
342 modicum	Plaut. Bacch.
343 mitis	Plaut. Mil.
mater	Plaut. Men.

Pomponius.

344 merum	Pomp. Piscatores
-----------	------------------

Lucilius i.

meret	(?) Lucil. Sat. XV
-------	-----------------------

Varro i.

345 medica-
mentum	Varr. περὶ ἔγαγ .
minutum	Cic. Fin. I
malignum	Virg.

(?) Cicero iii.

346 moliri	(?) M. Tull. Off. I
------------	---------------------

Virgil.

molle	(?) Virg. G. III 41 and II 47 <sup>c</sup>
347 mirari	Virg. G. III 49 and IV 215
micare	Virg. G. III 84 and A. I 90
348 mittere	(?) Virg. G. III 323 and A. I 202
mandare	(?) Virg. A. III 50
349 maturum	(?) Virg. A. V
metus	Virg. A. VII 60 and VI 276
manere	(?) Virg. A. VII 59 <sup>c</sup>
350 monstrum <sup>c</sup>	Virg. A. III 59 and 658

Cicero iv, Lucilius ii.

maculosum	M. Tull. Verr. act. I, de suppl. Verr. (II v) and Lucil. XXX
-----------	---

Lucilius ii.

metiri	Lucil. XXX
manicae	Lucil. XXX
maestum	Lucil. XXIX (bis)
351 mutare	Lucil. XXVI (ter)

Cicero v.

moveare	M. Tull. Off. III
---------	-------------------

Plautus ii.

meditari	Ter. Andr., Plaut. Amph.
----------	-----------------------------

N-SECTION.*(?) Gloss. i.

nobile	(nobilitarent, Titin. Prilia)
--------	----------------------------------

<sup>b</sup> Has this lemma been transposed from its proper place after luxuria, below, through a scribe's confusion of languor with longum?

<sup>c</sup> Should this lemma follow mandare, above?

Accius i.

352 numero (?) Acc. Oenom.

Pacuvius.

353 niti (?) Pacuv. Perib.

(?) Gloss. ii.

nare Virg.

Sallust.necessitudo Sall. Jug. bell. and CatVirgil.354 nomen Virg. A. II nota Virg. A. V 87
nudum Virg. A. V 871
and 135O-SECTION.*Gloss. i, Plautus i.occupatus Plaut. Amph.
and Cic. Tusc.
V, Titin, Velit.Accius.356 opinio (?) Varr. Eum. <sup>d</sup>, Acc. Eury. .
obscenum Acc. Oenom.
and Astyan.
357 obitus Acc. Antig.
omen Virg.Lucilius i.olim Virg. A.I, Lucil.
Sat. XIX
358 optare Lucil. Sat. XIXTurpilius, Pacuvius.offendere Turp. Parater, and Pacuv. IlionaCicero iii.359 obscurum M. Tull. Off. I 116 observare (?) M. Tull. Off.
I 149(?) Virgil.

360 oratores Virg. A XI

Cicero iv.occurrere M. Tull. de
suppl. (Verr.II,
v)Lucilius ii.offerre Lucil. XXIX and XXVI obducere Lucil. XXIXCicero v.

361 orare M. Tull. Off.III

Plautus ii.oppido Plaut. Amph. oppetere Plaut. Asin.(?) Gloss. iii.

obesum Laevius Carm.

P-SECTION.*(?) Gloss. i.proprium Sis. Hist. IV, Plaut. Cist.
(Most.), Virg.,
Ter. Andr.Plautus i.362 praevertere Plaut. Amph.
527 and 1068
promittere Plaut. Rud.Turpilius.363 protelare<sup>e</sup> (?) Turp. Lemn.Lucilius i.prodere<sup>e</sup> (?) Lucil. Sat. VCicero i.364 periculum (?) Sis. Hist. IV, M. Tull. Rep.
III<sup>d</sup> Possibly inserted from 242. 30.

' Have these two lemmas been transposed?

Sallust.

- pressum Virg.
 365 pretium Liv. Ach., Sall.
 Jug. bell.
 366 patibulum Sall. Hist. III,
 Titin. Fullon.

Virgil.

- petere (?) Virg. Buc. III
 367 propter (?) Virg. G. III 13
 ponere (?) Virg. G. III
 13 and 403
 368 pernix Virg. G. III 230
 and 92
 pullum (?) Virg. G. III
 389 and 75
 plagae (?) Virg. A. I and IV
 369 putare (?) Virg. A. VI 33<sup>2</sup>
 370 piare Virg. A. VI 379, 153 and 569
 passum f Virg.
 parcere (?) Virg. A. VI 853
 pax (?) Virg. A. VII
 371 praestare Virg. M. Tull.
 Off. III 65 and 66
 pium g Virg. G. III 513,
 A. VI 662
 372 praecipere Virg. A. XI 491
 and 328
 pulsatum Virg. A. XII

Terence.

- 373 producere Ter. Adelph.
 314, 402, and Heaut. 144
 proluvies Ter. Adelph.
 985 and Heaut.
 294

Cicero iv.

- projectum M. Tull. de sign.
 and Phil. IV
 (Verr. II iv, 21)

- 374 praestringere
 poscere<sup>h</sup>

- M. Tull. de sign.
 and Phil. II
 (Verr. II iv, 105)
 Varr. Parm.,
 Virg.

Lucilius ii.

- proferre M. Tull. Rep.
 III, Lucil.
 XXVII

Alph. Verb.

- penetrare Plaut. Trin.

Alph. Adverb.

- pariter Novius Dec., Titin. Prilia,
 Afran. Omen,
 Afran. Abducta,
 Pacuv. Niptr.

Plautus ii.

- 375 posterius Plaut. Asin. 63
 postulare Plaut. Asin. 506

(?) Gloss. iv.

- paret Virg.

Cicero viii.

- portenta Cic. Tusc. I

Gloss. v.

- 376 protinus Afran. Epist., Plaut. Astraba,
 Plaut. Curc.,
 Naev. Colax,
 Varr. L. L. VII,
 Virg. G. IV,
 etc., Sisenna<sup>i</sup> Hist. I, IV, Tu-bero Hist. I, Virg. Aen. X,
 etc.

- 378 plaga

- Virg. A. VII,
 IV, Pacuv. Atal.
 Varr. Prom.,
 Afran. (inc.)

<sup>f</sup> Possibly from a note on Aen. VI 421 or 740.

<sup>g</sup> Cf. piare, above.

<sup>h</sup> Cf. rogare, p. 383 M.

<sup>i</sup> Possibly from the 'Sisenna' list.

parumper Virg. A. VI, ENN. Ann. I
(bis)

R-SECTION.

Gloss. i.

restare Ter. Andr., Virg.
A. IV.

religio Varr. Anthropol.

379 rarum Virg.

ruere Virg.

380 rigidum Virg.
relatum Virg. A. XI

Plautus i.

381 reddere (?) Plaut. Aul.
and Most.

remi, 'navales pedes'<sup>k</sup> Virg. A. V

Lucretius.

referre (?) Lucr. I

Pacuvius, Virgil.

382 rimari Virg. Pacuv.
Atal. and Iliona

Terence.

rumpere (?) Ter. Hec.
and Eun.

Cicero iv.

383 rogare M. Tull. Verrin.
divin., ad Caes.
iun. I and Phil.
II

Lucilius ii.

remissum (?) Lucil. XXIX

recipere (?) Lucil. XXIX

384 redundare Lucil. XXVIII
redire Lucil. XXVII

(? Alpha. Adverb<sup>1</sup>.

rursus (?) Enn. An-drom.

(?) Gloss. iii-v.

385 rumor Sall. Hist. II,
Virg. A. VIII,
Fenestella Ann.
XXII, Enn.
Ann. VII

S-SECTION.

(?) Gloss. i.

sublatum Virg.
386 sufficit Virg., etc.
suspensum M. Tull. in Verr.
(pro Rabirio) species (?) Liv. Aegisth.

segne Virg.
387 saltus Virg.
subiecere Virg.
servare Virg.

388 supremum Virg.
saevum Virg.
superare Virg., etc.

389 stratum Virg.
secundum Virg.

390 submissum (?) M. Tull. Off.
I 124
severum Virg., etc.
solvere Virg., etc.

391 superbum Virg.
stare (?) Titin. Velit.
392 spissum Caecil. Dardan.,
Titin. Gemina,
Afran. Incend.,
Afran. Matert.

Plautus i.

393 statim (?) Plaut. Amph.
239 and 276
superstites (?) Plaut. Asin.

16
spurcum Afran. Divort.,
Plaut. Asin. 807

394 siccum Plaut. Asin. 857
395 seges (?) Plaut. Aul. 45
396 sumere (?) Plaut. Aul.

674 sufferre Plaut. Cas.

<sup>k</sup> From note on Plaut. Men. 350. Cf. 461. 31.

<sup>1</sup> Possibly still Lucilius ii. Cf. 165. 9 s.v. reciproca.

- 397 surgere Virg. G. I, Sall.
Hist. V
sacrum (?) Plaut. Poen.

Accius i.

- 398 saucii Acc. Phoen.

Accius ii.

- supplicium (?) Acc. Epig.

Lucilius i.

- Samium Lucil. Sat. VII and XIII

Ennius.

- 399 spernere Enn. Hect. lytr.

Turpilius.

- subducere Turp. Lind. and Parater.

Varro i.

- 400 stupidus Varr. περὶ ἔγαντος

Sallust.

- suspicere Sall. Jug.

Virgil.

- subigere (?) Virg. A. I 266

- 401 sumnum (?) Virg. A. II

- 402 spectare Virg. G. I 158,

etc.

- stringere (?) Virg. A. VIII

62

- 403 succedere Virg. A. VIII

123

- subit (?) Virg. A. VIII

362

and IX 344

- 404 secare Virg. A. X 107

and IX 102

- squalidum Virg. A. X 314

Terence.

- scitum Ter. Andr.

- sedet Virg. A. V 418

Cicero iv.

- sustulit M. Tull. Phil. X

Lucilius ii.

- spargere Lucil. XXIX
signare Lucil. XXIX
(bis)

Varro ii.

- solidi Varr. Sesq.

Gellius.

- subnixum (= Gell. XVII ii. 4<sup>m</sup>)

T-SECTION.*Gloss. i.

- tandem Titin. Gemina 406 tamen Plaut. Rud. toga Titin. Gemina
and Fullon

Plautus i.

- tollere (?) Plaut. Poen.

Ennius.

- 407 tenacia Enn. Hect. lytr. tempestas Sall. Jug.
408 trepidare<sup>n</sup> Virg. A. IX 114
and 418

Turpilius.

- tangere (?) Turpil. De-metr.

Varro i.

- 409 triste (?) Varr. Trihod.
Triplyl.

Cicero ii.

- 410 trahere (?) M. Tull. Deor.
Nat. II

Virgil.

- tardum (?) Virg. G. II 126
tendere Ter. Phorm., Virg.

<sup>m</sup> The two (one?) Virgil quotations are added by Nonius.

<sup>n</sup> Perhaps inserted here from the 'Virgil' list along with extra-quotations to tangere from A. IX.

411	turpe	(?) Virg. G. III 51 and 299
	tenerum	Virg. G. III 326
	tenue	(?) Virg. G. III 335
412	tenet	(?) Virg. G. IV 321 and 483
	tremere	Virg. A. II 199
	trahere	Virg. A. II 508 and II 550
	temptare	(?) Virg. A. VIII
413	taetrum	(?) Virg. A. X

Terence.

torquere	(?) Ter. Eun.
----------	---------------

Cicero iv.

tueri	M. Tull. Epist. ad Caes. I, Virg.
-------	--------------------------------------

Lucilius ii.

414	tergora	(?) Lucil. XXVIII
	transmittere	Lucil. XXVIII

Plautus ii.

temerarium	Plaut. Asin.
------------	--------------

Varro ii.

tegetes	Varr. R.R. I 22
taleas	Varr. R.R. I 40

U-SECTION.*Gloss. i.

volare	Ter. Hec.
415	vastum <sup>o</sup>	(?) Cic. de Or. (I)

Plautus i.

ventus	Plaut. Cist.
virtus	Plaut. Mil. 676 and 728

Lucretius.

vesci	(?) Lucre. V
-------	--------------

Pomponius.

416	velare	Pomp. Pannuc.
	vola	Varr. Epitaph.

Cicero i.

vanum	(?) M. Tull. Rep. V
-------	------------------------

Varro i.

417	vastitas	Varr. Prom. Lib.
-----	----------	------------------

Cicero iii.

ultimum	(?) M. Tull. Off. I
---------	---------------------

Virgil.

418	urguere	(?) Virg. G. II
	vincere	(?) Virg. G. III 289 and 17
	vertere	(?) Virg. A. II
419	vindicare	(?) Virg. A. IV
	usus	(?) Virg. A. VIII
	vita	Virg. A. VI
	venire	Virg. A. VII
420	verrere	(?) Virg. A. III
	via	Virg. A. X
	vestigium	Virg. A. V

Lucilius ii.

volutari	Lucil. XXX(bis)
vis	Lucil. XXVI

(?) Alph. Adverb.

vix	(?) Virg. (Aen.) II
-----	------------------------

Results of Analysis of Books II—IV.

It is plain from the foregoing analysis that the 're-arranged' books retain the characteristic features of the others, and that their evidence must not be neglected in determining the proper sequence of the fragments of lost Republican literature; although some sections of Book III especially are too small to be of service, and in Book IV the attainment of certainty in our analysis is hindered by a good many things. One of these hindrances however may be something of a help. I refer to the way in which a lemma is occasionally broken up in our MSS. For example, the concluding part (256. 36-41) of the lemma comparare (255. 30-256. 41) appears in our MSS. in three portions, separated from the rest of the lemma: viz. vv. 36-37 after 257. 10, vv. 38-39 after 258. 16, vv. 39-41 after 262. 36. The last editor of Nonius, Prof. Lucian Mueller, has made a practice of treating almost every case<sup>p</sup> of the kind in Book IV as a mere scribal error, and has reunited all these straggling portions with the main body of the lemma. Undoubtedly there was every temptation for a scribe to omit part of the lemmas in this book, for they consist of a number of clauses, each beginning with the same word, e.g. Comparare est sociare, adiungere . . . Comparare, adacquare . . . Comparare, componere, machinari, and so on. A scribe's eye would readily wander from the word comparare in one line to the same word a few lines below, with the result that the intervening portion would be omitted. The reviser of the MS. would add the omitted portion in the top or bottom margin of the page; and when the MS. came to be copied, the reviser's addition would be written in a wrong part of the text. In the case of 257. 36-37 Comparare iterum aestimare, etc., the word iterum shews us that these lines must have originally formed part of the whole lemma and could not have been set down by Nonius in the place in which our MSS. offer them, viz. in the middle of the lemma Componere. The text presented by our MSS. is clearly wrong: Componere, lenire. Vergilius Aen. lib. I Sed motos praestat componere fluctus. Comparare iterum aestimare. Accius Epinausimache Proin tu id cui fiat, non qui facias, compara. Componere, disponere, constituere, etc. At the same time it is rash to assume that Nonius never made the mistake of entering one or two meanings of a word from one of his lists in oblivion of the fact that he had entered other meanings of the same word from a previous list. We have already found instances in the other books of the same word being entered from different lists at different parts of the book ; for, as we have seen, there is practically no indication of Nonius' dictionary having been subjected to any process of revision before publication. And in point of fact one or two of these isolated portions of lemmas in Book IV give clear indication of having been set down by Nonius himself in the place which they occupy in our MSS., for their 'leading-quotation' comes from a list which is precisely the list that should follow in order of sequence at this particular point. Some clear cases of genuine repetitions of this kind I have indicated in the analysis above. Unfortunately it is not possible in each and every case of repetition to obtain clear evidence of genuineness or the reverse.

◦ Cf. vastitas, below.

<sup>p</sup> Not, e.g., clidere p. 291 and 292, dignatus p. 281 and dignari p. 286, plagae p. 368 and plaga p. 378, trahere p. 410 and p. 412. In other books he tolerates these repetitions, e.g. (Book V) föra et fori p. 428 and p. 447.

This leads to another question. How far can we posit a regular order of sequence in Nonius' employment of his various lists, and use this as a means of detecting transpositions and omissions in our MSS.? At first sight there would seem to be no reason why Nonius should not have varied the order in the different books, taking up one list or another as his fancy directed him. But when we look at the actual analysis of the whole work, we are struck with the great regularity with which the lists follow each other ; first the 'Gloss. i.' list, with its characteristic quotations from Titinius, &c., then the 'Plautus i' list, then the 'Lucretius' list, then the others in the order in which I have enumerated them on pp. 7 sqq., and finally the 'Varro v' list with quotations from Varro's 'Vita Populi Romani' and 'Catus.' That Nonius should have omitted occasionally to consult one or more of his lists is also likely enough on a priori considerations. But how far do the facts attest this? It would of course be absurd to regard every case of absence of representatives of this or that list from this or that book as a proof that something had been omitted in the archetype of our MSS. In Book X, De Mutatis Conjugationibus, there is hardly opportunity for the use of list no. 28 (from a Glossary of Adverbs) ; in Book XI, De Indiscretis Adverbii, no. 27 (from a Glossary of Verbs) could not well be represented. We cannot be surprised that in this or that book (e.g. Book XVIII, de Genere Ciborum, Book XIII, de Genere Navigiorum) Nonius found nothing available in certain of his lists ; and indeed we can see from his use of Gellius' 'Noctes Atticae' how capricious and superficial was his selection even from ample materials. We need not wonder if in Book I he seems to take from Virgil a word here and a word there so as to make a small alphabetical sequence, or if in Book II, S-Section (172-3), the use of Plautus (i.e. 'Plautus i') is limited to a few words ending in -tudo. Often indeed the absence of a list is more apparent than real. Nos. 2 ('Plautus i') and 41 ('Varro v'), which generally shew themselves near the beginning and at the end of a book, are not really absent from Book XIX, de Genere Armorum. From the first Nonius took cataulta (Plaut. Capt.), from the second, rorarii (Varro V.P.R. III), but finding these lemmas already entered, the first from list no. 1, the second from list no. 9, he merely appended the quotation from Plaut. Capt. and the quotation from Varro V.P.R. III to the quotations which he had already entered from list no. 1 (Plaut. Curn., Titinius Setina) and no. 9 (Lucil. VII, Lucil. X). The extra-quotations in a book thus attest the use of a list which has failed to supply the leading - quotation of any lemma. That these extra-quotations were accumulated as Nonius went through his various lists, is certain. For they follow the same order as the lists themselves. Suppose the first extra-quotation to be from list no. 2 ('Plautus i'), the next will be from list no. 3 ('Lucretius'), or, if Lucretius fails to supply a suitable quotation, from the next list, and so on. Now this method of procedure seems to help us to judge rightly the cases of abnormal sequence of the lists. If in any particular book the order of the lemmas with their primary quotations violates the normal sequence observed by Nonius in his use of his lists, and if the order in which the extra-quotations present themselves shews precisely the same deviation, then we can rest assured that the deviation is due to Nonius himself, who, for some reason or other, took up one list before, instead of after, another. But if the extra-quotations in the book follow the normal order, then we must examine whether the order of the lemmas has not been transposed by some accident in the transmission of the text, such as the detachment of a leaf or the omission (and subsequent insertion at a wrong place) of the contents of a page.

This new clue to the textual criticism of the 'Compendiosa Doctrina' must therefore be made available before we attempt to apply the knowledge we have already gained by the examination of the leading quotations of the lemmas. We must examine the extra-quotations too. To go through the extra-quotations of all the books would take too much space. I shall content myself with giving as a specimen the analysis of the extra-quotations of Book I and of the other Books (excluding II-IV) where the number of extra quotations is sufficiently large to make an analysis profitable.

v. The extra-quotations<sup>a</sup> in Books I, V-X.

BOOK I.

1 senium	(5) Acc. Epinaus., (6) Pomp. Praec. post., (9) Lucil. Sat. XV, (11) Turp. Dem., (12) Pac. Perib. (aetas mala (5) Acc. Amph., (11) Turp. Philop., (12) Pac. Perib., (19) Afran. Vop.)	cinaedi	Rep. IV, (15) Varr. Est mod., (33) Varr. Modius
3 velitatio	(2) Plaut. Men., (11) Turp. Lind., (19) Afran. Priv., (27?) Caecil. Pausim.	6 exercitus	(9) Lucil. Sat. I, (33) Varr. "Ovos λύπας
phrygiones	(2?) Plaut. Men., (15) Varr. Cosm.	pelicis	(3) Lucr. II, (19) Afran. Susp., (22) Virg. III
4 tolutim	(7) Nov. Gallin., Macc. ex., (9) Lucil. Sat. VIII, (15) Varr. Trih. trip., (28?) Pomp. Dec. full., (31) Varr. Agath.	calvitur <sup>r</sup>	(this word re-curred in no. 32 and Nonius re-wrote the paragraph with the help of Gell. IV iii. 3)
capulum	(7) Nov. Papp. praet., (9) Lucil. Sat. II, (15) Varr. Cosm.	7 frigere	(5) Acc. Eurys., (9) Lucil. Sat. XVII, (12) Pac. Dulor., (18) Sall. Hist. III
5 temulenta	(13) M. Tull.	8 tricae	(31) Varr. Virg. div., (33) Varr. "Ovos λύπας
		9 mutus	(9) Lucil. Sat. XI, (11) Turp. Demiurg., (19?) Afran. Epist., (31) Varr. Geront.
		10 inlex et exlex	(5) Acc. Epinaus.
			(9) Lucil. Sat.

<sup>a</sup> To save space I indicate by numerals, not by the titles hitherto used, the lists from which the extra-quotations have come. Thus the number '(1)' represents 'Gloss. i'; the number '(2)' represents 'Plautus i,' etc. See the table of lists on p. 7. I do not take account of single extra-quotations, where these may have come from a note on the line which forms the leading-quotation.

<sup>r</sup> The two quotations from Pac. Medus come from the note on Plaut. Cas. 169.

	II, (15) Varr. Sciam., (25) Lu- cil. XXX, (26?)	17 adulatio	(20) Cic. Off. I, (27?) Lucr., Acc. Prom.
	Caec. Harpaz., (36) Sisenna IV, (38?) M. Tull. pro Clu.	manducones	(25?) Lucil., (33) Varr. Bimarc.
lurcones	(9) Lucil. Sat. V, (31) Varr. Eum. (lurcare (9) Lucil. Sat. II, (27?) Pom- pon. Syr.)	18 delirare	(25) Lucil. XXVI, (30) Plaut. Amph.
12 vestispici	(19) Afran. Vop., (35?) Varr. Papp.	rutrum	(9) Lucil. Sat. IX, (15) Varr. Marcop.
suppilare	(27?) Caecil. Nauci., Pomp. Sarc.	nebulones	(9) Lucil. Sat. XIV, XX, (14?) Afran. Epist., (15) Varr. Pap. pap., (31) Varr. Geront.
13 crepera	(5) Acc. Phoen., Teleph., (9) Lu- cil. Sat. V, (12) Pac. Dulor., (30) Plaut. Asin., (31) Varr. Myst.	19 evannetur	(9) Lucil. Sat. VII, IX, (40) Varr. R.R. I
14 extorris	(11) Turp. Lemn., (18) Sall. Jug. bell., (22) Virg. Aen. IV	vafrum	(13) M. Tull. Rep. III, (19) Afran. Divort.
15 enoda	(10) Enn. Teleph., (11) Turp. Demetr., (12) Pacuv. Perib., (34) M. Tull. Fin. V, (41) Varr. V.P.R. I	20 clepere	Plaut. Pseud. <sup>s</sup> , (13) M. Tull. Rep. IV, (12) Pac. <sup>t</sup> Herm., (15) Varr. Octo- tog.
16 lactare	(12?) Pacuv. Iliona, (27?) Caec. Hyp. Rastr., Acc. Alcm., (33) Varr. "Ovōs λύπας, (39)	cernuus	(22) Virg. X, (25) Lucil. Sat. XXVII, (41) Varr. V.P.R. I succussare	Cic. Tusc. IV (9) Lucil. IV, XV	21 caries	(11) Turp. Leuc., (19) Afran. Priv.
		22 gliscit	Acc. Aeneadae <sup>u</sup> , (12) Pac. Perib., (18) Sall. Hist. III, (22) Virg. (Aen.) XII, (29) M. Tull. Hort., (30) Plaut. Asin.
		23 moenes	(18) (Sall. Jug. bell.), (25) Lu- cil. XXVI

<sup>s</sup> From a note on the line of Accius? <sup>t</sup> Should this precede the Cicero-quotation?

<sup>u</sup> From note on Turpil. Philop., the leading-quotation.

procacitas	(23) Ter. Hec., (27?) Liv. Aegisth.	34 praestringere (29) M. Tull. Sen., (31) Varr. Andab., (34) Cic. Fin. IV
24 portitores	Plaut. Men. <sup>x</sup> , (20) M. Tull. Off. I, (23) Ter. Phorm., (30) Plaut. Asin., Virg. VI <sup>y</sup> , (31) Varr. Myst.	37 impertire (27?) Nov. De- cuma, M. Tull. Rep. V, M. Tull. ad Hirt. V
27 exodium	(31) Varr. Ta <sup>φ</sup> . Me <sup>v</sup> .	40 supersedere (36) Sis. Hist. IV
28 compedes	Varr. Flaxt. <sup>z</sup> , (31) Varr. Parm., Varr. Sesq.	43 viritim (30) Plaut. Aul., (41) Varr. V.P.R. I
29 pedetemptim	(25) Lucil. XXVII, (28?) Quadrig. Ann., Caelius. Ann. VI	34 concinnare (34) M. Tull. Fin. IV, (39) id. Acad. I mediocritas	(25) Lucil. XXVII, (28?) Ter. Andr. (39) Cic. Tusc. III	51 laevum (26) or (38) Enn. Ann. III
30 dirum	(29) M. Tull. Sen.	53 vestibula (37) Cic. Orat. bidentes (38?) Laber. Paupert.
30 exordium	M. Tull. Hort. <sup>a</sup> , (25) Lucil. XXIX, (26?) Cic. Tim., (33) Varr. "Ovos λύπας"	54 recepticum (37) Cic. de Or. II
inops	Virg. G. I <sup>b</sup> (23) Ter. Adelph., (29) M. Tull. Off. II	55 arcera (35?) Varr. Geront.
31 sudum	Plaut. Mil. <sup>c</sup> , (25) Lucil. XXIX	56 colinam Plaut. Most. <sup>e</sup> , (41) Varr. V.P.R. I
irritare	Virg. X <sup>d</sup> , Sall. Hist. I <sup>d</sup> , (25) Lucil. XXVIII, (30) Plaut. Amph., (31) Varr. Sesq.	56 infans Acc. Atham <sup>f</sup> , (37) Cic. de Or. III
		66 politiones (41?) Varr. praeficace (41) Varr. V.P.R. IV
		67 proletarii (41) Varr. V.P.R. I Book V.
		422 horrendum (5) Acc. Medea, et horri- (9) Lucil. Sat. dum XVI, (13) M. Tull. Rep. I, <sup>x</sup> From a note on the Cic. Rep. passage? <sup>y</sup> From a note on the line of Plaut. Asin. ? <sup>z</sup> From a note on the leading-quotation? <sup>a</sup> From a note on Virg. Aen. IV 284? <sup>b</sup> From a note on Virg. Aen. VIII 100? <sup>c</sup> From a note on the leading-quotation? <sup>d</sup> From a note on the line of Ter. Phorm.? <sup>e</sup> From a note on the line of Varr. Modius, the leading-quotation? <sup>f</sup> Possibly inserted from 416. 14.

	IV, (35 A) Varr. Epist. ad Caes., (36) Sisenna Hist. IV (8) Acc. Neopt., Acc. Androm., (11) Turp. De- metr., (12) Pac. Dulor., (18) Sall. Jug. bell., (31) Varr. Parm. (9) Lucil. Sat. XIII, (35 A) Varr. Epist. ad Fuf.	441 festinare et Virg. IV, id. properare Aen. II <sup>k</sup>
BOOK VI.
423 pudet et piget	rictum	455 rostrum (7) Nov. Pae- dium, (9) Lucil. Sat. V, IX, (15) Varr. Peripl. II, Varr. Serr. (6) Pomp. Prost- rib., (9) Lucil. Sat. III, (15) Varr. Pap. pap. (3) Lucr. V, (9) Lucil. Sat. IV, VII
425 fors et for- tuna	457 catuli
ferus et ferox
anticus et antiquior
427 priores et primores	467 aucupavi vagas	(5) Acc. Asty., Acc. Medea Serenus Opusc <sup>l</sup> , (?) Pacuv. Me- dus, Acc. Bacch., Turp. Leuc., (5) Acc. Tereus, Acc. Medea, (10) Enn. Hect. lytr., (12) Pacuv. Perib., (15) Varr. Pseud. Apoll., (31) Varr. Herc. t. f.
429 urbs et civitas
431 merx et mercatura	468 meret auspicavi	(11) Turp. Phi- lip., Turp. Het. (27?) Atta Lu- cubr., Caecil. Ploc., Naev. Bell. Poen. IV
433 iuventus et iuventa	469 auguro	(27?) Enn. Me- lan., Pacuv. Chrys., Cic. ad Calvum, Virg. A.VII, M. Tull. Rep. IV
morata et morosa

<sup>g</sup> Perhaps from notes on the two Lucilius passages.<sup>h</sup> See section vii.<sup>i</sup> Inserted from 123. 6? <sup>k</sup> These Virgil-quotations may have been added by Nonius himself. See section vii.<sup>l</sup> See section vii.

cunctant	Enn. Ambr. <sup>m</sup> , (10) Enn. Hect. lytr.		(5) Acc. Oe- nom., (8) Acc. Meleag., (11) Turp. Thrasyl.
contempla	(21) Naev. Danae, (27?) Titin. Fullon. Enn. Medea, (30) Plaut. Asin.	483 lacte	(26?) Caecil. Titthe, (31) Varr. Andab.
471 populat	(27?) Caecil. Asot., Enn. Ambr., Quad- rig., Acc. As- tyan., (36) Sis. Hist. IV	mansuetem	(8) Acc. Me- leag., (33) Varr. "Ovus λέπας"
		quaesti	Novius <sup>o</sup> , Ter. Hec. <sup>o</sup> , (6) Pomp. Pistor., (11) Turp. Dem- iurg., Turp. Het., (26) or (38) Caecil.
			Faener., (41) Varr. Catus
		tumulti	Ter. Andr. <sup>p</sup> , (6) Pomp. Piscat., (8) Acc. Aen. vel Dec., Acc. Nyct.
(II) PASSIVE VOICE SECTION.			(18) Sall. Catil. bell., (36) Sis. Hist. III (bis), (41) Varr.
477 manduca- tur	(9) Lucil. Sat. IV, XIV, (19) Afran. Fratr.	484 senati	V.P.R. I rixat	(15) Varr. Serr., (40) Varr. R.R. I	sumpti	(11) Turp. Phi- lop., (25) Lucil. XXX, (26?) Caecil. Ploc., (33) Varr. Bi- marc.
adiutatur	(19) Afran. Inim., (25) Lucil. XXVII
478 nutritur et nutricatur	(16) M. Tull. Deor. Nat. II, (19) Afran. Vop., (25) Lucil. XXX
480 sacrifican- tur	(33) Varr. Ma- nius, (41) Varr. Catus	485 iteris	(5) Acc. Oe- nom., Teleph., (15) Varr. Cygn.
		exerciti	(5) Acc. Epi- naus., (41) Varr. V.P.R. II
(III) APPENDED SECTION.
481 libertatem uti potior il- lam rem	(7) Nov. Zona, (9) Lucil. XIV (3) Lucr. III, (4) Naev. Ly- curg., (5) Acc. Phoen., (11) Turp. Lind.(?) <sup>n</sup> , (12) Pacuv. Atal.	486 ibus	(6) Pomp. Papp. agr.
		487 vapos	(4) Naev. Ly- curg., (8) Acc. Androm., (33) Varr. Manius BOOK VIII.
482 itiner	(2) Plaut. Merc., (3) Lucr. VI,

<sup>m</sup> From note on Acc. Alphes., the leading-quotation.
<sup>n</sup> From a note on the line of Plaut. Aul., the leading-quotation?

<sup>p</sup> Possibly from a note on the line of Plaut. Cas.

<sup>o</sup> See p. 95,

488	vulgariam	(11) Turp. Thrasyl., (19) Afran. Privignus		tul., Varr. Sard. Venal., Acc. Alphes.)
489	nefantia	(25) (Lucil.) XXIX, (26) or (35) Varr. Sciam.	497 Acc. pro Abl.	(2) Plaut. Men., Plaut. Trin., (9) Lucil. Sat. I, V, (11) Turp. Epicl., Paed., (12) Pacuv. Dulor.
	tumulti	(11) Turp. Paed., (18) Sall. Catil. bell., (19) Afran. Vop.	Acc. vel Nom. pro Abl.	(13) M. Tull. Rep. V., (15) Varr. Cygn., Varr. Prom. Lib., (18) Sall. Hist. II., (19) Afran. Vop., Afran. Fratr., (25) Lucil. XXVI
490	itiner	(12) Pacuv. Atal., Pacuv. Dulor.
491	soniti et sonu	(26?) Caecil. Chalc., (36) Sis. Hist. III

BOOK IX.

495	Acc. Sing.	(2) Plaut. Pers., pro Gen. (3) Lucre. VI, Plur. Ter. Hec. <sup>q</sup> , (5) Acc. Eurus., Acc. Epinaus., (7) Nov. Eurus., (11) Turp. Epicl., (12) Pacuv. Perib., (15) Varr. Pap. pap., Varr. V.P.R. <sup>r</sup> , (Lucil.) XVIII <sup>r</sup> , (18) Sall. Hist. I, (19) Afran. Vop., (29) M. Tull. Off. III	Gen. pro Abl.	(2) Plaut. Amph., (6) Pomp. Papp. Agr., (8) Acc. Erigona. (9) Lucil. Sat. VI, VIII, IX, (12) Pac. Perib., (13) M. Tull. Rep. III, (19) Afran. Except., (41) Varr. V.P.R. II ((2) Plaut. Capt., (18) Sall. Jug. bell., (20) M. Tull. Off. I, (22) Virg. A. I, (29) M. Tull. Hort., (31) Varr. Eum.) ((2) Plaut. Epid., Plaut. Mil.)
496	Gen. pro Acc.	(2) Plaut. Aul., (9) Lucil. Sat. VII, (11) Turp. Leuc., (25) Lucil. XXVIII, (30) Plaut. Aul. (veretur illam rem) (12) Pacuv. Herm., (27) or (38) Atta Gra-	499 Dat. pro Acc.	(2) Plaut. Truc., (8) Acc. Meleag., (13) M. Tull. Rep. IV, (18) Sall. Catil. bell., (25) Lucil.

<sup>q</sup> From a note on the line of Lucre. VI.?<sup>r</sup> Inserted from 544. 9?

		BOOK X.
	XXVI, (26) or (38) Ter. Andr., (41) Varr. V.P.R. IV	fervit      (8) Acc. Me- leag., Pomp. Agr. *, (19) Af- ran. Priv., (31) Varr. Sexag.
Acc. pro	(2) Plaut. Cist., Plaut. Men., (5) Acc. Eurys., Acc. Epinaus., (8) Acc. Atham., Acc. Nyct., (11) Turp. Paed., (13) M. Tull. Rep. IV, (15) Varr. Devicti (15) Acc. Melan., (7) Nov. Paed.)	504 lavit      (fervēre (3) Lucr. II, (4) Naev. Ly- curg., (5) Acc. Teleph., (15) Varr. Desult.) (3) Lucr. II, (8) Acc. Phi- nid., (15) Varr. Cosm., (18) Sall. Hist. II
500 Abl. pro	(9) Lucil. Sat. I, VI, (11) Turp. Paed., (22) Virg. G. II	lavere (3) Lucr. V, (5) Acc. Medea, (15) Varr. Anthrop., Varr. Hecat., (19) Afran. Susp.)
Nom. pro	(30) Plaut. Aul., (39) Cic. Tusc. I, (40) Varr. R.R. I	501 Gen. pro      (laverent (10?) Enn. Androm., (19) Afran. Fra- tr., (30) Plaut. Amph.)
Dat.	(11) Turp. Paed., (22) Virg. Aen. I, (30) Plaut. Asin., (32) (= Gell. XX, vi, 9), (37) Cic. de Or. II, (41) Varr. V.P.R. IV	sonit      (8) Acc. Aen. aut Dec., Acc. Phinid., (10) Enn. Hect. lytr., (12) Pac. Dulor.
502 Acc. pro	(26) or (27) Dat. Caecil. Ploc., (30) Plaut. Amph., (35?) Virg. A. III, (37) Cic. de Or. II	505 sonere      (8) Acc. Neopt., Acc. Atreus (sonunt (10?) Enn. Andr. Aechm., (12) Pac. Ili- ona)
Dat. pro	(40) Varr. R.R. Abl. I, (41) Varr. Catus	expedibo      (27?) Pomp. Vernion., Enn. Eumen.

This specimen-analysis of the extra-quotations shews clearly that they follow the order of Nonius' lists and that they were accumulated in the manner described on pp. 4, 81. That is why the size of the lemmas so often gradually diminishes as we proceed through a book. The opening lemmas of a book have a number of lists to draw from, while the closing lemmas have at the most one or two. If several extra-quotations are taken from any particular list, they follow the order of the passages in the text from which Nonius compiled his list; so that in determining the order of the fragments of a lost author, the evidence of the extra-quotations must not be neglected. This gives us a test to apply to our analysis of the complicated lemmas of Book IV, in which it is so often hard to pick out the 'leading quotation.' If the quotations which we characterize as 'extra-quotations' belong invariably to lists that come later in order of sequence than the list which has furnished the 'leading quotation,' then our analysis will stand the test.

* Inserted from 498. 5?

The question proposed on p. 81 may now be answered. In no case do the extra-quotations confirm an abnormal arrangement of the author-sequences, such as that in the A-Section, and other sections, of Book II. The theory that Nonius in these abnormally arranged sections capriciously departed from his usual order of consulting his lists receives no support from an examination of the order in which the extra-quotations occur. In this respect as in others the extra-quotations tell the same tale of a mechanical uniformity of procedure, which we should associate rather with a merchant's compilation of his ledger than with a scholar's composition of a learned work.

vi. Application of these results to the textual criticism of Nonius.

We have now obtained the key to the composition of the Compendiosa Doctrina. We have seen with what mechanical regularity Nonius went through his lists one by one in a fixed sequence and set down in the order in which they came to hand the words suitable for the particular book on which he was engaged. To each word he appended the quotation of the sentence from which he had taken it, adding any parallel passage which he might find in the marginal note in his edition of the author. These leading quotations were gradually increased in number by the accessions they received from other lists; and the accessory quotations too were set down in the order in which Nonius came across them.

It remains to enquire how far this or that deviation from the normal course of procedure entitles us to pronounce a passage to be corrupt, or its arrangement to have been accidentally altered in the course of the transmission of the text, and how far passages in our MSS. which are obviously corrupt, or out of place, can be restored by means of our new knowledge of the structure of Nonius' dictionary.

The most important question for the textual criticism of the Compendiosa Doctrina is whether Books II—IV took their present arrangement in alphabetical sections from Nonius himself or first received it at a later, say the mediaeval, period. In some of our MSS. we find the whole of the Compendiosa Doctrina re-arranged in alphabetical sequence, and thus made more suitable for use as a dictionary. Was the same process applied some time earlier to the archetype of our MSS.? The answer to this question will determine whether the title-heading PER LITTERAS in Books II—IV is as spurious as it seems to be in Book I.

I do not know that we have the means of answering the question with certainty. That there has been a re-arrangement of these books can hardly be doubted, for their contents must have been at some time or other un-alphabetical<sup>t</sup>, unless we are to suppose that Nonius took the pains to go through his forty-one (or forty-three) lists for each of the eighteen sections of all the three books; but I cannot see any clear proof that they were not originally published in their present form. It is true that there is more departure from the normal order of the 'author-sequences' in the first of the three books than in any other book<sup>u</sup> of the Compendiosa Doctrina; and it would be a natural result of the interference of a mediaeval editor that at the outset of his re-arrangement the existing order of the lemmas was somewhat violently disturbed. Of course it might be argued that Nonius himself might on occasion have departed from the usual order of consultation of <sup>t</sup> In a chapter of the 'Noctes Atticae,' XVIII, xi, Gellius defends certain coinages of the poet Furius: lutescere, noctescere, virescere, purpurare, opulescere, and quotes the lines in which they occur. Nonius has taken as suitable for Book II from his 'Gellius' list the lemmas lutescit (p. 132 M.), noctescere (p. 145 M.), virescit (p. 188 M.), opuliscere (p. 148 M.). Before the re-arrangement of Book II, these lemmas must have stood side by side. The 'Lucilius i' list supplied bulga, the 'Varro ii' list the same word with different spelling, vulga. The two words are now widely separated, bulga p. 78, vulga p. 187.

<sup>u</sup> In Book VI there is a similar departure, on which see p. 92, below.

his lists; although the striking regularity in this respect in the rest of his Dictionary speaks against this theory. But it seems to me that the facts point rather to the disturbance having been a mere accident in the transmission of the text and not the deliberate work, either of Nonius himself or of a mediaeval abbot. Section A, for example, of Book II begins at p. 68 M. apparently with a Sisenna-sequence (apud, Sis. Hist. IV; apisci, Sis. Hist. IV), and is followed by sequences from the later lists, while the list, which Nonius elsewhere uses first, does not come into play until p. 71. The evidence however, such as it is, that is furnished by the extra-quotations in the Book does not favour the view that Nonius really used his Sisenna-list first in compiling this section; for the extra-quotation from Sisenna to the lemma amolimini (p. 73) suggests that the Sisenna-list was consulted not at the beginning but later in the series of lists, presumably at its usual place in the series. The Sisenna-list is usually brought under contribution immediately before the list compiled from Cicero Orat. and de Or, ('Cicero vii'). The lemmas taken from that list appear in this section at p. 71 (attendere, Cic. de Or. I; admodum, Cic. de Or. II) and are immediately preceded by the lemma adesum from Sis. Hist. III, while the Sisenna-sequence at the beginning of the section is followed by the lemma adipatum from Cic. Orat. Clearly the opening lemmas of the section have been torn away from their proper position at the end of p. 70; and the most natural way to account for the occurrence is to suppose that, after some scribe had omitted them at their proper place, a reviser of the MS. inserted them at the beginning of the section. The clear evidence of accidental disturbance at this part of the MS. makes one inclined to believe that the following sequences too ('Cicero viii', 'Varro ii', 'Gellius', 'Varro iii'), which precede the usual opening sequence (Gloss. i'), owe their place to the same accident, although there are no 'ragged ends' of sequences to shew where the text of the section has been rent. The I-Section of the same book begins (p. 122) with the lemma incurvisse, which is followed by a 'Cicero viii' sequence, after which the usual opening sequence ('Gloss. i') puts in an appearance (p. 123). Now the lemma incurvisse (Cic. de Or. III) is the 'ragged end' of the 'Cicero vii' sequence, which appears at p. 130: iactuosa, Cic. Orat. 125; incisim, Cic. Orat. 213; importatum, Cic. de Or. I 38; infitatores, Cic. de Or. I 168; insignite, Cic. de Or. II 349;

invitius, Cic. de Or. II 364. Here again we have clear traces that the lemmas with which our MSS. begin the section, had been omitted by some scribe and afterwards inserted by a reviser. The abnormal order of the author-sequences in the P-section perhaps admits of similar explanation<sup>x</sup>. Our archetype, apparently an early minuscule MS., say of the eighth century, cannot have failed to exhibit more than one instance of transposition on a large scale, the result, let us suppose, of a scribe having accidentally passed over a page or a leaf, the contents of which were afterwards inserted by a reviser either at the beginning of the book or alphabetical section, or at some other place, or of a loose leaf having been either reversed (so that page 1 became page 2 and vice versa) or fastened in at a wrong part of the book<sup>y</sup>.

Minor transpositions of single lines or single lemmas are so common an occurrence in MSS. of this kind that we need have no scruple in resorting to this explanation of an apparent violation

<sup>x</sup> The opening lemmas of the S-section are suspiciously like 'Gellius', 'Varro iii', 'Varro ii', 'Alph. Verb.', 'Alph. Adverb.', 'Cicero iv' and 'Plaut. ii (i?)' lemmas, thrown all together without much trace of arrangement. But see below, section vii.

<sup>y</sup> The traditional arrangement of the lemmas in Book VI lends itself readily to an explanation of this kind. It would be the natural result of a common kind of displacement of the leaves in that archetype, a detached leaf of which in the part containing Book IV has already been mentioned (p. 6). Each leaf of that archetype contained about three pages of Mercier's edition, each page therefore contained about a page and a half of the same. Suppose the fourth, or interior, broadsheet (i.e. 2 leaves, i.e. 4 pages) of a quaternion to have contained on its four pages (1) bibere (p. 453 M.)—bicipitem (p. 454), (2) defecata (p. 454)—fatum (p. 455), (3) equisones (p. 450)—ebrii et ieiuni (p. 451), (4) ebrii et ieiuni (p. 451)—transgressus (p. 452); and suppose this broadsheet, after having become loose, to have been inserted before page 1 of the quaternion and to have been turned inside out previous to this insertion. The order of its pages would then be: (3), (4), (1), (2), producing the order of these lemmas in our MSS. Suppose further the sixth leaf of the quaternion, containing on its first page edolare (p. 448)—interfici et occidi (p. 449), and on its second, interfici et occidi—abdicare (p. 450), to have become loose, to have dropped out, and to have been re-inserted before the inserted broadsheet. These two re-arrangements of the quaternion, which would not be at all unusual occurrences for a mediaeval MS., would produce exactly the present abnormal arrangement of the lemmas in Book VI. Bibere and libido, the two 'ownerless' lemmas at the end of the 'Gellius' sequence, would then belong to the 'Cicero iv' sequence. They are the 'ragged end,' which gives indication of a rent in the original texture of the book.

of the sequence observed by the lemmas of Nonius. The necessity of caution, however, is enforced by instances like the lemma fastidiliter in the F-Section of Book II (p. 112). It comes at the end of a batch of adverbs taken from the 'Alph. Adverb.' list, a list which Nonius seems to have compiled from a Glossary of Adverbs arranged in true alphabetical sequence. The lemmas taken from this list for this section are: facul, famulanter, fluctuatim, fortunatim, frustatim, fastidiliter. The true place of fastidiliter (with quotation of a line of Varro's Menippean Satire 'Cras Credo, Hodie Nihil') would at first sight seem to be between famulanter and fluctuatim. But a reference to 139. 29 suggests that Nonius had entered the quotation on his rough list under the heading mūtatiliter, an adverb which is found in the same passage of Varro:

quibus instabilis ánimus ardens mūtatiliter hávet habere et nón habere fástidiliter inconstanti péctore,

so that it really stood further down on his list than the other adverbs beginning with the letter F. On the other hand no hesitation is required in applying our newly discovered tests in defence of the traditional text. For instance the lemma prognariter in the P-Section of the same book (154. 25) has been changed by the last German editor of Nonius, Prof. Lucian Mueller, to praegnariter, in spite of the fact that the lemma recurs at 150. 5 in the same form, the form likewise exhibited by the MSS. of Plautus in the line quoted by Nonius (Persa 588). We now know from the above analysis of contents of Book II that the lemma was taken by Nonius from this 'Alph. Adverb.' list. The batch of lemmas from this source is: palaestricos, populatim, præsente, primiter, prognariter, properatim. The change of prognariter to praegnariter would disturb the alphabetical order. A cautious editor will not alter the traditional text of Book XIX, 555. 5-8, with this Virgil-sequence; cetra (Aen. VII), peltae (Aen. I), gaesa (Aen. VIII), but will content himself with calling attention to the fact that the true place of the lemma peltae may be before, and not after, the lemma cetra. For Nonius may have found the word peltae and its quotation from Aen. I in a note on the word cetra in the line quoted from Aen. VII. (Cf. the Plaut. Aul. quotations on p. 541 and p. 549.)

These minor cases of transposition, which, after all, are more the concern of an editor of Nonius than of the general student, have been, for a great part, indicated in the notes to the above analyses of contents. I will mention here only one or two illustrative examples. The lemma toralium in Book I, with quotation from Varr. V.P.R. I, is printed by editors of Nonius at 11 11, in the middle of a 'Plautus i' series: . . . inlex et exlex, Persa 407: lurtones, Persa 421; toralium Varr. V.P.R. I; concenturiare, Plaut. Pseud., etc. But in our MSS. it stands in the middle of the lemma inlex et exlex thus:

INLEX et EXLEX est qui sine lege vivat. Plautus Persa : inpure, inhoneste, iniure, inlex [toralim et toralium designator est Varro de Vita Populi Romani lib. I, etc.], labes popli.

That it stood in the margin of some archetype is clear from the way it has intruded into the text. (The same holds of the lemma fora et fori at p. 428 M.) If two lemmas were written in the margin in the usual straggling fashion of early minuscule, we should expect to find them intruding into the text not merely side by side, as we find paupertas and pandere in the 'Plautus ii' sequence in Book I (p. 43); vernus, Amph. 179, concinnare, Amph. 529; paupertas, Varr. V.P.R. I; pandere, Varr. V.P.R. I; blatis, Amph. 626; percontari, Amph. 710; prodigia, Amph. 739, etc., but also at an interval of one or more lemmas, as we find ador and iugeri in the 'Gellius' series in the same book (pp. 52-3): humanitatem, Gell. XIII 17; ador, Varr. R.R. I 9; faciem, Gell. XIII 30; vestibula, Gell. XVI 5; bidentes, Gell. XVI 6; iugeri, Varr R.R. I 10; faenus, Gell. XVI 12, etc. A passage omitted on a page by a scribe would, when the page was revised by the 'corrector' or by the scribe himself, be entered usually on the bottom margin (or the top margin) of the same page, and the next copyist of the MS., when he had copied the last lines of the actual page, would go on naturally to copy the lines which stood immediately beneath them in the bottom margin. If in the D-Section of Book II a page of some archetype ended with the lemma deletile and the next page began with the lemma deletio, we can understand how it has come about that the lemmas datatim, dividia, dulcitas, discorditas, whose proper place is higher up, after the lemma deartuare, stand in our MSS. between deletile and deletio. The sequence here is a 'Lucilius ii' sequence. First comes deblaterare (Lucil. XXX), then deletile (Varr. Modius), then the four intruding lemmas, then deletio (Lucil. XXIX), and depeculassere (Lucil. XXIX). The lemma deletile came in all appearance from a note on deletio in the line of Lucil. XXIX; and we can hardly imagine two cognate lemmas like deletile and deletio being separated from each other by anything but an accident<sup>2</sup>.

I will now enumerate as briefly as possible some instances in which our new knowledge seems to throw light on textual questions. Near the end of Book VII a part of the lemma potior illam rem, containing an extra-quotation from Turpilius' 'Lindia':

me vís potiri? fác, ego potiar quód volo, was omitted by the scribe of some archetype and appears in our MSS. at the end of the following lemma opus est illam rem. Editors, not knowing its exact place in its proper lemma, print it at the end, after the Pacuvius quotation. Our new knowledge of the order in which Nonius' lists contributed both lemmas and extra-quotations, enables us to assign it with certainty a place between the extra-quotation from the 'Accius i' list and that from the 'Pacuvius' list. In Book IV p. 393 the extra-quotation from Varro Eum. to the lemma spurcum is taken by Mueller from the place it occupies in the MSS. and put before the quotation from Plautus Asin. This would disturb the proper order, for the lemma belongs to a 'Plautus i' series and the line of Plaut. Asin. is the leading quotation. The same editor brackets two lemmas on p. 414, tegetes, Varr. R.R. I 22; taleas, Varr. R.R. I 40, in spite of the fact that they form a quite regular 'Varro iv' sequence and occupy the place proper to this sequence.

At 222. 13 Mueller cannot be right in transposing and bracketing the quotation from Cicero ('M. Tullius') Phil. I, for it holds its proper place as a quotation from the 'Cicero iv' list. At 419. 10 Mueller deletes a sub-heading (vindicare, revocare) of the lemma vindicare. Its removal would disturb the natural order of the lists and make an extra-quotation from the 'Cicero iii' list (no. 20) follow extra-quotations from later lists. (Mueller's treatment of 333. 15; 344. 39-40; 401. 3-5 and many similar passages is open to the same criticism.) At 483. 23 (s.v. quaesti) the MSS. offer:

Novius : pér deam sanctám Lavernam, quaé cultrix † quaestuisit.

Mueller ingeniously supposes the name of the play (in the Abl. Case) Pacilio to have dropped out before pér deam, and argues that the omission of any mention of the play is suspicious. But the addition of the titles of Novius' plays is the rule only in the quotations from the 'Novius' list. This quotation, as we may infer from its position among the extra-quotations (see p. 86), came from a note on the line of Plaut. Aul. (the leading quotation), and there is no reason for supposing that the commentator in Nonius' copy of Plautus cited Novius in the same manner. (Similarly in 378. 9 Varro Prometho need not be changed to V.P. libero.) Among the lemmas furnished by the 'Alph. Verb.' list, a list which exhibits strict alphabetical arrangement, in the A-Section of Book II two are spelt in our MSS. affectare and abscondidit. But their position, the first between adaxint and adiugare, the second between albiciatur and attigat, suggests that at least in the Glossary from which Nonius took them, if not in Nonius' original text, the spelling must have been adfectare and apscondidit. (Similarly commetare p. 89, taetret p. 178.) The lemmas from the same list in the B-Section of Book II are bacchari, blaterare, bount; but between blaterare and bount editors insert a supposed lemma blandities on the strength of a quotation from Caecilius' 'Hymnis' which contains the noun blandities but not the verb blatero. A noun however is out of place in a verb-series; and it seems more likely that the quotation originally exhibited the verb blatero<sup>a</sup>.

<sup>2</sup> The omission of the three concluding lemmas of the 'Lucilius i' series in Book VIII (p. 489 M.) has similarly divorced bæchanaliorum from litterarum, the former word having apparently come from a marginal note on the latter.

In the U-Section the 'Cicero vii' list (from Cic. 'Orator' and 'de Oratore,' in this order) has as its first lemma vultuosum (Cic. Orat. 60), and as its second vermiculatum with quotation of a line of Lucilius which occurs both in the 'Orator' (§ 149) and in the third book of the 'de Oratore' (§ 171). Since lemmas from a later part of the 'Orator' and from earlier parts of the 'de Oratore' follow, viz. venalicii, Orat. 232, vocare, de Or. I; vere-cundari, de Or. III 36; versutiloquas, de Or. III 154, the reference for the Lucilius quotation should properly be 'Cicero in Oratore et (or idem) de Oratore lib. III.' What the MSS. actually shew is 'in Oratore lib. III.' In the scanty G-Section of Book III the MSS. offer as a leading quotation for the lemma gladius a line of Lucilius, but without indication of the book from which it comes. Since the 'Lucilius i' series shews itself earlier in the section and the lemma gladius is followed by a lemma from the 'Varro ii' list, it would appear to be the 'Lucilius ii' list which has furnished gladius. There is therefore a probability that the quotation comes from the last five books of the Satires (so also 165, 9).

<sup>a</sup> In the American Journal of Philology, vol. XXII, p. 37, I have tried to shew that the lemma-word, when it recurred in a quotation, was often indicated in the archetype by the first letter merely, a practice which has often resulted in the loss of the word from the quotation. Here the words sine blande blaterem may have been written *sine blande b*l*e*, which was miscopied *sine blanditi*c.

In the S-Section of Book III (p. 226) the illustrative quotation for suasiones has been lost through homoeoteleuton. It appears to have come from a play of Accius, Pomponius or Novius, for the preceding lemma, squalor, comes from Acc. Eurys. ('Accius i') and the following, servitus, from Acc. Clyt. ('Accius ii'). In the A-Section of Book IV (235. 1) the name of the play of Accius, from which comes a quotation for the lemma aptam, appears in the MSS. in the corrupt form 'Demer'. We have seen that the suggestion of a lemma in this book often came to Nonius from finding in the same list, or in two neighbouring or approximate lists, the same word exhibiting two different senses. On his 'Accius i' list he found aptus in the sense of adeptus, (Acc. Melan. : óbviā ensi it, quem ádvorsum aptus ált̄ in promtu óccupat), and the other Accius quotation (later in the lemma) with aptus in the sense of conexus et configatus would seem to have come either from the same list or from the 'Accius ii' list. Since the number of Accius' plays used for the compilation of these two lists was limited, the possibilities of conjectural emendation of the corrupt 'Demer' are narrowed too. The true title may be Medea, for the Medea comes later in the 'Accius i' list than the Melanippa. In 552, 15, the Novius paceno of the MSS. should probably be Novius Paedio. A Pacuvius quotation would be out of place. That the position of Q-lemmas among the C-lemmas is due to Nonius himself is indicated by the correct arrangement, e.g. of the lemma quatere (p. 272) in the C-section of Book IV at the end of a Terence-sequence. The line from which Nonius got the suggestion of the lemma was apparently Ter. Eun. 358: homo quatietur certe cum dono foras, where quatere appeared as the equivalent of excludere. This position of the Q-lemmas does not however imply that Nonius used the spelling cuatere, etc.; for it may have been a mere matter of convenience, designed to reduce the number of sections in the book. Similarly there is no separate section for K-lemmas. In Book X 'fervitur aequē pro fervetur' with its quotation from Afranius 'Vopiscus' stands after a Pacuvius sequence: expedibo 'pro expediam,' nolito 'pro noli,' axim, 'egerim,' quite at the proper place for the use of the Afranius list. Mueller should not transpose it to the end of the lemma fervit, the opening lemma of the book. His arrangement is the more convenient one, no doubt, but it was not the arrangement made by Nonius. Similarly in Book XII the lemma negativae duae has been carelessly repeated by Nonius, who took the first lemma from his 'Varro iii' list (p. 530, with quotation from Varro 'Bimarcus'), and the second from his 'Varro v' list (p. 532, with quotation from Varro 'Vita Populi Romani' II).

Nonius' manner of building up his paragraphs by the addition of fresh material in the shape of extra-quotations, as they came to hand from the lists which he took up, one after another, explains to us, when we remember that his compilation was apparently published without revision of any kind, the awkward arrangement of lemmas like concinnare (43 M. 17) from the 'Plautus ii' list in Book I. From an entry on this list (Plaut. Amph. 529) Nonius got the word concinnare with its etymology from cinnus. From the same list (Asin. 216) he got the same word, apparently with another etymology, from cano. Later, from the 'Cicero vi' and 'Cicero viii' lists he got examples of concino, and deemed this lemma a suitable place for them, so that the whole reads thus :

Concinnare est facere; ut Plautus Amphitryone;
'lacrimantem ex abitu concinnas tu tuam uxorem':

sed proprietas verbi haec est, quod apud veteres cinnus potionis genus ex multis liquoribus confectum dici solet. — Recte autem concinnare et consentire intellegi potest, quasi concennare, ut multis diverse canentibus unus efficitur modus. Plautus Asinaria :

'auceps quando concinnavit aream, obfundit cibum.'

— M. Tullius de Finibus Bonorum et Malorum lib. IV: 'cum is, cum quibus re concinebat, verbis discrepare.' — Idem in Academicis lib. I: 'qui cum similitudine verbi concinere maxime sibi videretur.'

Paragraphs like these have been a stumbling-block to editors, who have insisted on re-casting them as they would undoubtedly have been re-cast, had Nonius' dictionary been properly revised before publication. But our new knowledge of Nonius' method of work shews us the correctness of the traditional arrangement.

An instructive example is found in the paragraph on cernere (p. 260 M.). At v. 7 of Mueller's page, we have: 'Cernere, amittere,' with a sentence from a Menippean satire of Varro, who quotes the famous line of Ennius Medea :

ter sub armis malim vitam cernere
quam semel modo parere.

At another part of the paragraph we find 'Cernere rursum dimicare vel contendere,' with the same line quoted from Ennius' tragedy, but with vita (Abl.), not vitam (Acc.). We need not re-cast the paragraph nor bracket as spurious one or other of the quotations, nor even adapt the second to the first by the change of vita to vitam. We must picture to ourselves Nonius mechanically plodding through his lists and selecting from his 'Varro ii' list the Gerontodidascalus quotation, with its explanation of cernere as amittere, and from his 'Ennius' list the Medea quotation, as he found it in his copy of Ennius, with its explanation of cernere as demicare.

In the paragraph on tollere (p. 406 M.) editors take offence at the repetition of the sub-heading 'tollere, occidere' (406, 22 and 407, 10). But this repetition of the same sub-heading within a paragraph is of a piece with the repetition of the same lemma within a book. Both are the result of Nonius' dictionary having been published without any attempt at revision.

In the paragraph on siccum (p. 395 M.) Mueller's transposition of vv. 4-6 improves the sense, but it runs counter to Nonius' order of sequence. The same editor has not justification for his theory (and frequent practice) in Book IV of transposing the sub-heading that contains the normal sense of the word to the beginning of the paragraph (e.g. occupatus, p. 355 M.; pretium, p. 365 M.; ducere, p. 282 M.), and in ruling out all paragraphs which contain only one meaning of a word (e.g. agerere, p. 242 M.; capture, 275 M.; trasmittere 414 M.; tegetes 414 M.; tales 414 M.).

The paragraph religio (p. 379 M.) should be left in its traditional arrangement. Nonius took the lemma religio, with the quotation from Varro Anthropol. from the 'Gloss. i' list and added extra-quotations from the 'Lucretius,' 'Virgil,' 'Terence,' 'Lucilius ii' and 'Cicero v' lists, and after all this got a new sub-heading religiosi dies from his 'Gellius' list. (Cf. specula et speculum, p. 434 M.) The paragraph dolitum (p. 99 M.) need not be altered.

These examples of the application of our discoveries to the textual criticism of the Compendiosa Doctrina might easily be greatly multiplied; but I pass to a more interesting subject, namely the information which may be gleaned from Nonius' use of his various sources regarding the state of the text of these authors in Nonius' time, and regarding other points of literary history.

vii. Nonius' sources: their nature and the manner in which he used them.

The attempt<sup>b</sup> to connect Nonius' explanations of words and illustrative quotations with this or that ancient commentary on this or that author has been a failure. Indeed it may be questioned whether Nonius' lemmas in author-sequences imply the use of a copius commentary, such as Servius' commentary on Virgil or Donatus' commentary on Terence. It is the exception, and not the rule, for the leading-quotation to a lemma to be accompanied by a parallel passage taken from a note on the line which furnished the leading-quotation, or for one lemma to be followed by another lemma which has come from a note on the line containing the first. All that we usually<sup>c</sup> find in the case of author-sequences (as contrasted with glossary or grammarian-sequences) is the explanation of the word and a single leading-quotation, namely of the line from which Nonius derived his lemma. The extra-quotations come of course, not from the list which furnished the leading-quotation, but from the other lists successively consulted by Nonius. This suggests rather a form of text such as we find in more than one extant MS. that dates from Nonius' own time, that is to say, a text provided with a number of brief marginal notes. And that Nonius derived his lemmas from actual texts and not from mere commentaries is indicated by his habit of quoting the whole line or sentence in which the word occurs, while it is the practice of ancient commentaries, e.g. of Servius, Donatus, Asconius, to prefix to a note merely two or three words of text.

<sup>b</sup> By P. Schmidt, 'De Nonii Marcelli auctoribus grammaticis.' Leipzig (Teubner), 1868.

<sup>c</sup> The tedious discussion of Virgil's phrase ante diem, 'before the day of her doom' (Aen. IV 697), in Book XII (p. 526 M.) is an exception. It might pass for a lucubration of Nonius himself, were it not that we have in Servius' commentary and in Gellius Noct. Att. XIII, i equally diffuse discussions of the same kind, so that it would seem to have been a theme for grammarians.

Further, that Nonius himself read through the texts or at least the marginal annotations of the texts we learn from the curious arrangement of the ‘Lucilius ii’ list, by which the books of Lucilius’ Satires are put under contribution in the reverse order; first Book XXX, then XXIX, then XXVIII, XXVII, XXVI. This can hardly be anything else than a caprice of Nonius in compiling his list. To suppose however the explanations and parallel passages to be due to Nonius’ own researches and not to information supplied in marginal notes is contrary to the impression which the Compendiosa Doctrina gives us of Nonius’ mental attainments. And it is not favoured by the occurrence of two separate Plautus lists, one containing all the 21 plays, the other only Amph., Asin., Aul. The forty-one lists, we may take it, represent the compilations from forty-one separate volumes of Nonius’ private library or of the library of the town in which he lived. Most of these volumes were texts of authors, but some were glossaries or grammatical works, such as Aulus Gellius’ ‘Noctes Atticae.’ To distinguish a glossary from a grammatical work by means of the lemmas furnished is not an easy task. Had we not possessed the actual source of list no. 32, viz. the ‘Noctes Atticae,’ we might have supposed the lemmas which it furnishes to have come from the pages of a glossary. It is possible that nos. 26, 27, 28 (‘Gloss. iii,’ ‘Alph. Verb.,’ ‘Alph. Adverb.’) really represent one source, some large grammatical work<sup>d</sup> of the kind, with one chapter reserved for a treatment of Verbs, another for a treatment of Adverbs. The ‘Gloss. v’ lemmas shew some striking resemblances to Festus’ epitome of Verrius Flaccus; although what we possess of Festus is a mere fragment, and Paulus Diaconus’ epitome of Festus affords only a scanty and distorted representation of the original.

In the L-section of Book II of Nonius (p. 135) the three last lemmas of this series are :

Luculentitatem, a luculento. Caecilius Hymnide : ‘vide luculentitatem eius et magnificentiam.’ Laberius Tusca : ‘dominus noster tua luculentitate captus.’

<sup>d</sup> How far the occasional references to Nigidius of words from these three lists is significant, I do not know. The word facitur, quoted from a sentence of Nigidius himself, interrupts the alphabetical order of the ‘Alph. Verb.’ batch of lemmas in Book X (p. 507): . . . dicebo, Nonius Dapat.; ciim, Caecil. Asot.; facitur, Nigidius Commentationes Grammaticae, lib. XIX; evenat, Enn. Hecuba, and so on.

Lustratus, luxuriosus: a lustris, abditis locis. Plautus Casina: ‘unde es, nihil? ubi lustratu’s? ubi bibisti?’

Lusciosi, qui ad lucernam non vident et μύωπες vocantur a Graecis. Varro Disciplinarum lib. VIII: ‘vesperi non videre, quos appellant lusciosos.’ Idem Andabatis: ‘cdepol idem caecus, non lusciosus est.’

In Paulus’ epitome we have on page 86 of Thewrewk’s edition: Luculentus, a luce appellatus.

Lustra significant lacunas lutosas, quae sunt in silvis aprorum cubilia. A qua similitudine hi, qui in locis abditis et sordidis ventri et desidiae operam dant, dicuntur in lustris vitam agere. Et cum eiusdem vocabuli prima syllaba producitur, significat nunc tempus quinquennale, nunc populi lustrationem.

Luscitio, vitium oculorum, quod clarius vesperi quam meridie cernit. In Book V of Nonius the same list furnishes these lemmas:

Legere et Eligere non sub eadem significatione intellegi vult Varro de Rusticatione lib. I . . . ut sit ‘legitur’ colligitur, ut plerumque; ‘eligitur’ melior quaque de plurimis.

Miserari et Misereri veteres his sensibus esse voluerunt, ut sit ‘miserari’ flere et lamentari; ‘misereri’ miserationem alienis casibus exhibere; et activo ad primum effectum, passivo ad secundum. Accius Eurysace . . . et multi similia, sed aliquando variata generibus.

Acerosum et Aceratum, utrumque nove positum, sed distanti proprietate signatum. ‘Acerosum’ namque panem farre minus purgato nec sordibus a candido separatis dicendum veteres putaverunt. Lucilius lib. XV . . . Hunc Graeci αὐτόπυρον vocant. ‘Aceratum’ vero est lutum paleis mixtum, ut laterariis usus est. Lucilius lib. IX . . .

Here acerosum et aceratum disturbs the usual (rough) alphabetical arrangement of the lemmas taken from the ‘Gloss. v’ list.

In Paulus’ epitome of Festus we have in the L-section (82 Th. 22):

Legimus aut scriptum aut oleam glandemve et alia quaedam; et addita praepositione dicimus ‘colligimus,’ ‘deligimus’;

and in the M-Section (88 Th. 27):

Miseratur is qui conqueritur aliena incommoda: ‘miseretur’ is qui miserum sublevat. ‘Miseret me’ eadem forma dicitur qua piget, paenitet, taedet;

while in the O-Section we find (209 Th. 11):

Obacerare, obloqui atque alterius sermonem moleste impedire;
quod sumptum videtur a paleis, quas Graeci ἄχυρα vocant. Itaque et frumentum et panis non sine paleis ‘acerosus’ dicitur; item lutum 'aceratum' paleis mixtum.

On the other hand ‘Gloss. iv’ seems to be separated from Festus by the difference in the quotation illustrative of the word sublestus.

In the S-Section of Book II Nonius has entered from his ‘Gloss. iv’ list this lemma:

Sublestum est leve, frivolum. Plautus: ‘nam ubi ad paupertatem accessit infamia, paupertas gravior fit, fides sublestior.’

The corresponding lemma in Festus has been in great part preserved (416 Th. 33):

* * * dicebant infir * * * Plautus in Persa: ‘ad paupertatem si immigrant infamiae, Gravior paupertas fit, fides sublestior.’ Id est infirmior. Item in Nervolaria vinum ait ‘sublestissimum,’ quia infirmos faciat vel corpore vel animo.

In Paulus’ epitome of Festus the lemma is reduced to :

Sublesta infirma et tenuia. Plautus: ‘gravior paupertas fit, fides sublestior.’ Id est infirmior. Idem vinum ait ‘sublestissimum,’ quia infirmos faciat vel corpore vel animo.

It is well known that there were two (possibly more) rival ancient editions of Plautus.

The quotation in the source of Nonius’ ‘Gloss. iv’ list follows one edition, with the reading si accessit infamia; the quotation in Festus takes the other version si immigrant infamiae<sup>e</sup>.

Since Nonius’ lemmas from ‘glossary’ lists often shew a wealth of quotations that contrasts markedly with the usual single quotation (i.e. leading-quotation) to lemmas in ‘author’ sequences, we must suppose the sources from which these ‘glossary’ lists were compiled to have been something different from the typical mediaeval glossary with its scanty treatment of each word, usually without any illustrative quotation. It is indeed a kind fortune which has preserved for us entire the source of one of these lists, Aulus Gellius’ ‘Noctes Atticae’; for we thus get a sight of Nonius’ method of compiling. We see exactly how much (or rather how little) he took from the materials that were in this case available to him<sup>f</sup>.

<sup>e</sup> The first version is probably what Plautus actually wrote, the other being a later re-casting of the line to avoid the obsolete scansion accessit.

Occasionally Nonius adds a Virgil quotation to the materials supplied by Gellius (e.g. 87, 5). This cannot come from the 'Virgil' list, for that list was always consulted by Nonius at an earlier stage in his compilation of a book than the 'Gellius' list. The use of Virgil to illustrate the commoner meanings of words in Book IV has already (p. 37) suggested to us the possibility that many Virgil quotations in the 'Compendiosa Doctrina' come from Nonius himself. The Virgilian lemmas and quotations in the 'Gloss. v' series may therefore not belong to the actual glossary used by Nonius. Other quotations which one would be inclined to regard as Nonius' own contributions are those from late authors like Serenus, Gadullius Gallicanus, Apuleius.

Since 'Gloss. v' comes at the end of Nonius' lists, it is easy to assign to it with certainty its own extra-quotations<sup>g</sup>, whereas in the case of other 'glossary' sources there is often considerable difficulty in deciding whether an extra-quotation has come from the list which furnishes the lemma and leading quotation or from a list consulted later by Nonius. Often we get a clue from an examination of the citations of authors in the different 'glossaries'<sup>h</sup>.

<sup>f</sup> That Nonius actually borrowed from Gellius is, I take it, put beyond question by the foregoing exposition of Nonius' method in constructing the Compendiosa Doctrina. If a lemma taken from the Gellius-list occasionally shews extra-quotations, which are not found in Gellius, that is of course the result of Nonius having met with the same word in some other list which he consulted later. In some cases the text of Nonius enables us to restore the true text of Gellius, e.g. at the lacuna in the Gellius MSS. in Noct. Att. V. 4.

If we were to put together all the notes which Nonius seems to have taken from his copy of this or that author (e.g. Plautus), so as to get a picture of the complete commentary in the edition he used of the author, the picture would probably be wholly inadequate. Prof. Hertz has put together Nonius' borrowings from the 'Noctes Atticae.' But they give us no real idea of what the work of Gellius was like.

<sup>g</sup> So that Nonius' remark s.v. conticinium (p. 62 M. 21), a word furnished by this list in Book I: auctores multi sunt mihi, sed auctoritate deficiunt, must refer to the quotations supplied by this glossary.

<sup>h</sup> Thus it is the Epic of Ennius, not his dramas, which is drawn upon by 'Gloss. v', and the number of the book is as often omitted as not. In citations from Caecilius by 'Gloss. v' the name of the play is often not mentioned. Laberius furnishes a large number of quotations in this glossary. The quotations from Catullus seem to be peculiar to it.

Of all the ‘glossary’ sources the most doubtful is ‘Gloss. ii.’ Even its existence is doubtful; for it is most in evidence in Book I, and the lemma-series there assigned to it (valgus, vatrax, vatax, silo, broncus, compernis, varus) may be in reality a collection made from all his lists by Nonius himself. Possibly he had the intention of making a separate book on ‘Adjectives denoting physical peculiarities,’ but changed his mind on finding their number insufficient for his purpose<sup>i</sup>; although, so far as that goes, Book XX has equally slender material.

And the source of Book XX is equally obscure, for in this book, and in no other, illustrative quotations are wholly lacking. There is only a vague reference to Afranius and the early Jurists: de quibus exempla multa sunt in antiquis auctoribus, et maxime in Afranio et iuris vetustissimis scriptoribus. But Prof. Lucian Mueller has ingeniously argued that this list of words of relationship must come from some writer of the Augustan Age, since it begins with the two words caesares and agrippae. Nonius may have taken his materials for the book from one of his ‘Glossary’ lists, e.g. ‘Gloss. v.’

On the other hand, ‘Gloss. i’ stands out very clearly. It is almost as definitely a Titinius-glossary as ‘Gloss. iv’ is a Varro-glossary, although Varro is largely quoted in ‘Gloss. i’ also. And since no alphabetical arrangement is recognizable, it may well be

The close connexion of ‘Gloss. iii’, ‘Alph. Verb.’ and ‘Alph. Adverb.’ is seen in the similarity of their citations. Both the dramas and the Epic of Ennius are cited, the latter with statement of the number of the book, e.g. ‘Ennius Annal. IX.’ Caecilius is widely used (especially the Hyp. Rastr., Fall., Asot.), the name of the play being always mentioned. Laberius is less, and Livius Andronicus more used than in ‘Gloss. v.’ While ‘Gloss. v’ draws only from the plays of Naevius, there three cognate sources cite both his plays and his ‘Bellum Poenicum’ (with mention of the number of the book). They use freely both Pomponius and Novius, of which authors there is scarcely a mention in ‘Gloss. v.’ The quotations from Suetius ‘Pulli’ seem to be peculiar to them.

<sup>i</sup> Hamioiae, which may be the first lemma of this sequence, occurs in Plaut. Rud. 310; and in the following lines of this play there is a string of Adjectives (including silanus) descriptive of personal appearance. Does the sequence really originate from the ‘Plautus i’ list? We must not fail to notice that the Lucilius citations follow Nonius’ own distinction (see pp. 8-9), e.g. ‘Lucil. Sat. lib. II’: but ‘Lucil. lib. XXVIII’; whereas in Lucilius’ citations from some other sources, such as ‘Gloss. iii’, the title ‘Satyrae’ is omitted in the case of the earlier, as of the later, books. These sources quote also Books XXI—XXV.

that the order in which the Titinius-quotations come coincides with their actual order of occurrence in the text of the dramatist<sup>k</sup>. The plays cited are the Veliterna, Prilia, Psaltria, Gemina, Setina, Quintus, Varus, Fullones and Barbatus, and they seem to come in something like this order. There is therefore some possibility that in the Gemina, frag. xiv (ap. Non. 510. 4) in the small Teubner text of the fragments should precede frag. ix (Non. 510. 12); in the Quintus, frag. iii (ap. Non. 277. 17) should precede frag. v (ap. Non. 277. 29); and again in the Gemina, frag. xv (ap. Non. 406. 1) should precede frag. v (ap. Non. 406. 19), and frag. iii (ap. Non. 157. 15) should precede frag. iv (ap. Non. 157. 18). Titinius is seldom cited in the other 'glossaries.' They all quote freely from Plautus, not only the 'Varronian' plays, but also (except 'Gloss. i') the others too, e.g. the Cornicula, Astraba, Nervolaria. It is extremely interesting to find that the text quoted in a 'glossary'-sequence occasionally represents a different edition from the text quoted in the 'Plautus-sequences.' Thus Epid. 188 is quoted from the 'Gloss. iii' list in Book VII. (p. 479) with exugebo sanguinem, but from the 'Plautus i' list in Book II (p. 102) with exorbebo sanguinem; Cist. 382 (in the small Teubner edition) in Book I (p. 64) occurs in the 'Gloss. v' series with mustulentus aestus, but in Book IV (p. 415) in the 'Plautus i' series with mustulentus ventus<sup>1</sup>.

We see occasionally a marked difference in the citation of other authors too, when taken by Nonius from different sources. Cic. Rep. III. 40 (Teubn.) appears very differently as quoted from Nonius' copy of Cicero in Book XII (p. 522) and as quoted from a note on a passage of Sisenna in Book II (p. 68), the reason of the difference, no doubt, being that the commentator had quoted inexactly from memory<sup>m</sup>. An editor of Nonius must <sup>k</sup> Author-sequences are, as was mentioned before (p. 4), a common feature of Latin glossaries. An example from the glossaries used by Nonius is found on p. 267 M. ('Alph. Verb.') Afranius Simulans, Afran. Matertera, Afran. Incendium; cf. p. 78 ('Alph. Verb.') s.v. blaterare; p. 392 ('Gloss. i') s.v. cocire; p. 517 ('Gloss. i') s.v. derepente; p. 124 ('Gloss. i') s.vv. insolum, inibi. We must be on our guard against confusing these cases where an author is quoted from a 'Glossary' list with the cases where an author is quoted from the list compiled by Nonius himself from his own copy of the author.

<sup>l</sup> The monographs of Reblin ('de Non. Marcelli locis Plautinis') and Caesar ('de Plauti memoria apud Nonium servata.' Strassburg, 1886) require to be re-written from this new point of view, for they do not distinguish between Plautus-quotations from the 'Plautus i', 'Plautus ii' and the other lists.

<sup>m</sup> Notice that the so-styled fragment of the 'Captivi' of Plautus, to which therefore be on his guard against assimilating one quotation to another of the same passage, if the two quotations come from different sources<sup>n</sup> (e.g. 279. 27 and 38. 25, a Lucilius passage); and editors of the author quoted by Nonius must give greater weight to quotations taken by Nonius from his own reading than to those taken from commentaries on authors. We see from Servius' notes on Virgil how careless commentators can be in the matter of quotations. In the 'Compendiosa Doctrina' a line of Virgil (G. III 143) is cited incorrectly from a note in Nonius' copy of Varro Vit. Pop. Rom. (531 M. 22), but correctly elsewhere (at 387, 6 and 389, 25). The passage from the Hermiona of Pacuvius (393 M. 2), which editors have laboured to restore to metrical form, does not come from the Pacuvius' list. The quotation from Plaut. Amph. 775 at 261 M. 32, comes not from Nonius' copies of Plautus, but from a note in his copy of Lucilius I—XX. It should be left in editions of Nonius in its traditional form (cf. 24. 19; 308. 12). So should the quotation from Cic. de Div. II, 5 at 265 M. 29, which comes from a note in Nonius' copy of Cicero Off. I. The citations from Varro's Menippean Satire Eὐπεν, etc., are too few to shew whether περὶ καθηκόντων (399 M. 24) is an admissible variation of the title. It is possible that the quotation comes from a note in Nonius' copy of Turpilius. The quotation of a line of Afranius at 483 M. 30 comes from the 'Afranius' list, and has greater claim to accuracy than the quotation of the same line at 529 M. 6 (from a note in Nonius' smaller copy of Plautus).

The volume which Nonius used, containing the twenty-one 'Varonian' plays of Plautus, exhibited a text which often disagrees with the 'Ambrosian' and the 'Palatine' texts. (So the two recensions of Plautus are styled, which have been transmitted to us in our MSS.) That is only to be expected, since the order of the plays in that volume was different from the 'Ambrosian' and the 'Palatine' order. Here is a scheme of the three arrangements :

editors find difficulty in assigning any place in the known text of the play (220 M. 11, s.v. pillus), does not come from Nonius' 'Plautus i' list. Nor do the misquotations of Men. 94 (108 M. 21), Cas. 245 (135, 7), Men. 195 (138, 20).

<sup>n</sup> Another point to remember with regard to repetitions of the same passage, is that where the repetition is the work of some mediaeval student (see above, p. 6), the 'consensus' of reading goes for very little.

'Ambrosian' recension.	'Palatine' recension.	Recension used by Nonius.
Amph.—Asin.—Aul.	Amph.	Amph.
	Asin.	Asin.
	Aul.	Aul.
Bacch.	? Bacch.	Bacch.
Capt.	Capt.	Cist.
Curc.	Curc.	Cas.
Cas.	Cas.	Capt.
Cist.	Cist.	Curc.
Epid.	Epid.	Epid.
Merc.	Most.	Mil. } Men. }
Most.	Men.
Mil.	Mil.	Merc.—Most.
Men.	Merc.
Poen.	Pseud.	Pers.
Pers.	Poen.	Pseud.
Pseud.	Pers.	Poen.
Rud.	Rud.	Rud.
Stich.	Stich.	Stich.
? Trin.	Trin.	Trin.
? Truc.	Truc.	Truc.
? Vidul.	Vidul.

The position of the Vidularia in the recension used by Nonius is not quite certain, but the balance of probability inclines to a place after the Bacchides. Since the arrangement is alphabetical, the title of the play would seem in that case to have been spelt Bidularia. Still less certain is the priority of the Cistellaria to the Casina. Since the arrangement in Nonius' copies of the text of Plautus and of the other authors used by him is of interest, and may throw light on their literary history, it will be best to give in detail in an Appendix the evidence which Nonius' citations supply on this head.

Here it only remains to enquire what light our new knowledge of Nonius' method of compilation throws upon the titles and editions of the Republican writings from which he quotes. One has merely to turn over the pages of books like Teuffel's 'Roman Literature' or Ribbeck's 'Poetry of the Republic' to discover how greatly we are dependent upon Nonius for the literary history of Republican Rome. In many cases it is a single citation in this dictionary which has preserved for us the knowledge of a lost work.

We have already seen that Nonius adheres mechanically to one system of citing the authors whom he read for himself (e.g. ‘Lucilius Satyrarum lib. II’ but ‘Lucilius lib. XXVIII’; ‘Cicero de Oratore’ but ‘M. Tullius de Finibus’), and that a peculiarity in the form of citation often enables us to pronounce that Nonius is here drawing from a ‘Glossary’ list and not from an ‘author’ list; further, that the different ‘Glossary’ lists occasionally provide criteria of the same kind.

That ancient books were, like modern, liable to changes of titles is an acknowledged fact. The best-known examples are some plays of Plautus which at the Plautine revival in the last century of the Republic were re-christened by stage-managers, the ‘Mostellaria,’ becoming the ‘Phasma’ and so on. A striking example of ‘one form with many names’ is that work of Varro’s which is cited only five times by Nonius, but under four (perhaps really three) different appellations, viz. (1) Varro [pro] Gallo vel Fundanio de admirandis rebus (71, 21; from the ‘Gloss. i’ list), (2) Varro Gallo vel<sup>o</sup> Fundanio de miris (217, 1; from the same list); (3) Varro Gallo aut Fundanio (-ia MSS.) (205, 33); (4) Varro in Admirandis (218, 16 and 220, 9; from a note in Varro’s copy of Plautus and from ‘Gloss. iii-v’ respectively). Another example is that play of Accius which in quotations taken from the ‘Accius ii’ list is always cited as Aeneadae aut Decius (cf. Stasiastae vel Tropaeum Liberi, another play of Accius), but in quotations from the ‘Alph. Verb.’ ‘Alph. Adverb’ lists, etc., merely as Aeneadae<sup>p</sup>. Editors assign to a play of Titinius the title Psaltria sive Ferentinatis, because the same line is referred to the Psaltria by Nonius (331, 26) and to the Ferentinatis by Priscian. Similarly the line quoted by Nonius (421, 19) from the Omen of Afranius is by Servius (ad Aen. IV 194) referred to the Cinerarius<sup>q</sup>.

<sup>o</sup> The word vel is confirmed by the valuable corrections (F<sup>3</sup>) in the Laurentian MS.

<sup>p</sup> Therefore 123, 11-12 should not be bracketed as a scribe’s anticipation, (through ‘skipping’ a leaf) of 126, 16-17.

<sup>q</sup> These differences of title often throw a light on the form and succession of editions of an author’s works. I add two examples from other authors cited by Nonius. A passage of Serenus is referred at 431, 16 to the Opuscula, but at 212, 25 to the Ruralia. A passage of Cicero is cited at 239, 1 from M. Tullius pro Marco Marcello (from the ‘Cicero i’ list apparently), but at 437, 9

Editors of these lost Republican authors have made hypothetical identifications of various titles, of the Fenerator and the Obolostates of Caecilius, for example; but hypothesis has seldom passed into certainty. Our analysis of the 'Compendiosa Doctrina' gives us a sure test in many cases. Where Nonius cites, let us say, Accius, from one of his 'Accius' lists and employs different titles, these cannot be titles of the same play. The monographs on Accius, Pacuvius, Afranius and all these authors require to be re-written from this new point of view.

To discuss all these literary questions would require more space than is at my disposal. I content myself with mentioning a few considerations that should guide our investigations.

Nonius' mechanical, undeviating regularity in the citation of the authors whose works he himself consulted is an undoubted fact, but it must not be unduly pressed. Prof. Mueller has argued that Nonius must have used two copies of Cicero's speeches (as he used two copies of Plautus, one containing only the first three plays), because in certain cases this uniformity is not observed, notably in his citations from the fourth and fifth Verrines. Since these belong mainly to Book IV, where there is often great difficulty in assigning the 'extra-quotations' to their actual sources, it is difficult to obtain clear assurance. But it seems as though Nonius' unusual variety in this particular Cicero-citation were due to the unwieldy title which he found in his edition. His first use of the fourth speech is in Book I, where the 'Cicero iv' list comes into play, at 34 M. 10; and there he gives the long title, M. Tullius Verrinarum lib V de Signis. But his very next citation from the same list (at 34 M. 14) appears as M. Tullius de Signis, an alteration that is surely due to desire of brevity. The title in his edition was, I fancy, M. Tullius Verrinarum (or in Verrem) lib V de Signis; and in Book IV, where are found nearly all of the quotations, the shortened title is employed in all which can be definitely referred to the 'Cicero iv' list. The fifth speech is not cited in Book I; but in Book IV, when cited from the 'Cicero iv' list, it appears variously as M. Tullius de Suppliciis and M. Tullis in Verrem de Suppliciis. It is perhaps safer to regard this isolated instance of want of uniformity as an 'exception that from M. Tullius in Caesarianis. This citation comes either from the 'Lucilius ii' list or from a note on Virg. Aen. VI 173. Servius in his note on Aen. V 187 cites the same passage from Cicero in Caesarianis.

proves the rule.' Similarly Miles and not Miles Gloriosus is the normal form of citation from the 'Plautus i' list; but it would be difficult to rule out every case of the fuller citation (e.g. 103, 4; 120, 24; 146, 11; 230, 8).

Nonius has two reference-formulas to letters of Cicero (now lost), M. Tull. ad Caes. jun. and M. Tull. Epist. ad Caes. The question has recently been raised whether two publications are referred to or only one<sup>r</sup>. Can we solve it by the new means at our disposal? The facts seem to be these. The formula M. Tull. ad Caes. jun., with the addition of the number of the book, seems well-established for the 'Cicero iv' series. The citations M. Tull. (Epist.) ad Caes., with or without the word Epist. and with or without a book-number, appear, when they can be located with any confidence, in the middle of the Terence-sequence (e.g. 32, 15; 270, 22; 287, 26), the sequence immediately preceding 'Cicero iv.' All this means either that the 'Terence' list of Nonius was interrupted (like the 'Accius' lists) by a list from 'M. Tull. Epist. ad Caes.' (which would in that case be probably a different work from 'M. Tull. ad Caes. jun.') or that the author of the marginal notes in Nonius' copy of Terence quoted frequently from this book. The latter explanation seems the more likely, but further light is required. Similarly Nonius' use of quotations from the Gymnasticus of Naevius, between the 'Plautus i' and 'Lucretius' lists, is not quite sufficient to convince us that he actually excerpted this play.

It has been frequently remarked that several titles of books quoted by Nonius were written in abbreviated form in some early archetype or even in the first edition of the dictionary, and that these contractions have often been wrongly expanded by scribes. Varro de Re Rustica sometimes appeared as Varro de Re R., of which scribes have made de Re Populi Romani, or as Varro de Re Ru., which has become de Rerum Natura or de Republica. At 70 M. 16 the title Cicero de Finibus Bonorum et Malorum has in our MSS. the addition et Marcus, which seems to be a scribe's first attempt to expand the contraction Mā for Malorum (cf. 35. M. 5). Numerous instances might be added. Our best MSS. (L. and Gen.) shew in book IV the actual contraction used in the archetype for de suppliciis, viz. de supl. What then is more natural than that the slight variation in the title of a play of Titinius, as cited by Nonius (in the Ablative case), Fullonia and Fullonibus, should be ascribed to a mere error in transcribing a contraction<sup>s</sup>. And yet, if we examine the occasions on which the play is cited, we find a regularity that cannot be accidental. The citations with Fullonia come from the 'Alph. Verb.' list (111, 10; 153, 25; 245, 36; 470, 2); those with Fullonibus come all, or nearly all, from the 'Gloss. i' list<sup>t</sup>. Clearly it will not do to allow the possibility of scribal errors to make us too regardless of even minute differences in the form of citations. On the rare occasions when Varro's work on Husbandry is cited outside of the 'Varro iv' sequence, it appears as Rusticae Res or Res Rusticae. It is doubtful therefore whether Mueller is right in changing Varro de Rusticatione lib. I (444 M. 23) into Varro de Re Rustica lib. I.

<sup>r</sup> By Gurlitt, 'Nonius Marcellus und die Cicero-Briefe', Steglitz 1888, and by Luc. Mueller, ad Non. 528 M. 26.

Some other questions regarding the titles of books are discussed in the Appendix.

<sup>s</sup> See Havet 'Mél. Graux' p. 811 n., who argues that the true form is Fullonia.

<sup>t</sup> In 470, 2, fullonia specta was the reading of the archetype, as is proved by the consensus of L. and the Extract MSS.

APPENDIX.

---

The arrangement of authors' works in the editions used by Nonius<sup>a</sup>.

Plautus i.

- Amphitruo (III A, III S, IV S, VI, etc.).
Asinaria, after Amph. (III S, III T, IV S).
Aulularia, after Asin. (I, IV S, VII Pass., VIII).
Bacchides, after Aul. (I, VII Pass.).
Cistellaria, after Bacch. (II E. Cf. II R, II A).
Casina, after Cist. (? I), after Bacch. (? IV L, VII Pass.).
Captivi, after Cas. (I, IV L, VIII), after Cist. (II A; 482. 3).
Curculio, after Capt. (I. Cf. 421. 16; II H, III P).
Epidicus, after Curc. (I; 8. 15. Cf. II E, VIII).
Miles Gloriosus, after Epid. (II E, VI, XVII).
Menaechmi, after Mil. glor. (IV M, VII Act.).
Mercator (II G, III A, etc.), after Capt. (III A. Cf. 233. 9).
Mostellaria (? IV R, ? 81. 17).
Persa, after Men. (VII Act. Cf. I). (In 342, 28 the word Militie seems to be corrupt).
Pseudolus, after Pers. (I. Cf. V).
Poenulus, after Pseud. (I, V. Cf. XI; 258. 15).
Rudens, after Poen. (XI, XIII).
Stichus, after Rud. (IV E, XIII).
Trinummus, after Stich (III A. Cf. I, XI).
Truculentus, after Trin. (I. Cf. VI, VII Pass.).
Vidularia, stands between Bacch. and Cas. (VII Pass.). (The citation at 123. 34 seems to come from 'Gloss i'.)

Accius i.

- Eurysaces<sup>b</sup> (I; 495. 19; 517. 25).
Erisaces<sup>b</sup> (II S).

<sup>a</sup> A 'leading-quotation' is indicated by reference to the book, or section of the book, in which it occurs; an 'extra-quotation,' by reference to the page and line. A reference which immediately follows the title of the work indicates a quotation which proves that the work belongs to the series in question.

<sup>b</sup> Whether the difference of spelling in the MSS. is sufficient evidence of

- Armorum Judicium (II N), after Eris. (II S).
 Astyanax (II M, V; 518. 13), after Arm. iud. (VIII. Cf. IV O).
 Oenomaus (I, III F), after Arm. iud. (II H. Cf. I, III U, IV O).
 Tereus (519. 5), after Astyan. (V. Cf. ? II D, II S).
 Alphesiboea (IV D. But cf. VII Act.), after Tereus (279. 35), after Oenom. (? 73. 27). (Cf. 136. 16; 485. 26).
 Amphitryo (II O), after Oenom. (469. 5. But cf. 292. 13).
 Melanippus (I; 233. 22; ? 499, 17. But cf. III P), after Oenom.
     (I. Cf. 485. 31; 521. 7).
 Epinausimache (233. 24; 495. 21), after Melan. (233. 24 Cf. 519.
     8; 485. 16; 495. 21).
 Pelopidae, after Melan. (485. 33. Cf. II S).
 Phoenissae (I), after Melan. (I. Cf. V; 174. 2).
 Medea (I, IV I), after Phoen. (I), after Epinaus. (IV F). (Cf.
     467. 37).
 Philocteta (I), after Medea (I, 323. 16. Cf. VII Act.; 512. 16).
 Alcmeo, after Philoct. (VII Act. Cf. ? II G, VIII).
 Telephus, after Alcm. (VIII. Cf. IV F, V; 13. 17; 174. 14; 227. 29).
 ?? Paris (?? 206. 15).

Accius ii.

- Epigoni<sup>c</sup> (III C; 342. 15), after Teleph. (V. Cf. 16. 4; II P; 192. 5).
 Meleager (IV L. But cf. 503. 7), after Teleph. (IV F. Cf. VII Act.).
 Aeneadae aut Decius (III C, 484. 6), after Epig. (II U, III C).

a difference of plays is matter of opinion. The two are apparently discriminated by Nonius himself in a lemma from the 'Gloss. v' series in Book V (p. 445 M.): Misericari et misereri . . . Accius Eurysace: 'ei mihi, ut etiam haec aerumna mihi luctum addit luctibus!', alia persona: 'quid miserare?', idem Erysace (id me erysacem MSS.): 'tuam solitatem memoras, formidas tibi. Te conmiserabar magis quam miserebar mei.' (Compare however 316. 5-7: Novius Paedio . . . idem, where some MSS. have 'idem Paedio'. Also 394. 21; 526. 9).

<sup>c</sup> The similarity of Epigoni and Erigona has caused mistakes in the MSS.; e.g. the lemma clēpere in the 'Accius ii' series in Book I (20 M. 9) has a leading-quotation from a play which the MSS. give as Epigone. Quicherat reads Erigone (Abl.), Mercier Epigonis (Abl.). Unfortunately the exact position of the Erigona is not certain, though it was probably a good deal lower on the 'Accius ii' list than the Epigoni. In 20. 9, where the play cited heads the list, we should read Epigonis (Abl.), but in 398. 20, where only one play of the list is cited (Epigono, -na MSS.), there is nothing to guide our selection.

- Stasiastae vel Tropaeum Liberi (I), after Meleag. (IV L), after Epig. (v.l. Erig.) (I).
- Athamas (IV I, VIII), after Meleag. (VII Act.).
- Clytaemestra, after Meleag. (125. 3. Cf. 488. 12).
- Bacchae (II N, VIII), after Atham. (VIII. Cf. II M).
- Neoptolemus (IV D, IX. But cf. VII Act.), after Aen. aut Dec. (? 258. 6).
- Erigona (II P; 498. 5. But cf. III S), after Neopt. (? 469. 21), after Epig. (? II P).
- Nyctegresia (336. 31; 484. 8), after Atham. (500. 6. Cf. 336. 31), after Aen. vel Dec. (484. 8).
- Andromeda (I, ? II F), after Neopt. (424. 3), after Stas. vel Trop. (I).
- Phinidae (I, III C, VIII), after Androm. (I. Cf. III C; 504. 32), after Bacch. (VIII).
- Atreus (281. 5), after Neopt. (281. 5; 505. 8).
- Agamemnonidae (II O).
- ? Diomedes, after Atham. (? VII Act.).

Accius i-ii.

- Antigona (IV O; 352. 19), after Oenom. (IV O; 352. 19).
- ? Chrysippus (? IV C).
- ? Deiphobus (? XIII).

Pomponius<sup>d</sup>.

- Pictores (I, ? IV D, IV I).
- Prostibulum (I, II O), after Pictores (I).
- Pannuceati (I, II N), after Prostib. (I).
- Pappus agricola (VII Pass.; 498. 5; 517. 28).
- Pistor (81. 22; 517. 30), after Papp. agr. (517. 30), after Prostib. (146. 25).
- Praeco posterior (I; 342. 14; IX, etc.), after Pannuc. (I).
- Piscatores (VIII; 484. 4).
- ? Petitor (? III F). (Cited in the 'Gloss. iii' sequence in VII Act. as Cretula vel Petitor.)

<sup>d</sup> That the Pomponius-list preceded the Novius-list in Nonius' order of consultation seems probable (see Bk. VIII and 81. 22 sqq.), but is not free from doubt (see 342. 11 sqq., where however the best MS. (Gen.) has vv. 11 (Gallin.) — 14 (Pomp.) in the margin, perhaps exactly reproducing the archetype and pointing to a transposition of the two quotations). In 518. 17 sqq. the quotation from Pomp. Praec. post. appears to come from the 'Alph. Adverb.' list.

? Porcus (? III U). (Cited in the 'Alph. Adverb.' sequence in I as Porcaria.)

Novius<sup>e</sup>.

? Decuma (II F).

Fullones feriati (81. 24; 233. 26).

? Gallinaria (4. 3; ? 342. 11).

Paedium (XIV; 316. 5, 7; 539. 21; ? 540. 11).

?? Tabellaria (? III P).

? Ficitor (II F), after Dec. (II F).

Agricola (IX), after Full. fer. (81. 26).

? Maccus (III C; ? 518. 17).

? Maccus exul. (? IV L, 4. 5; 210. 26), after Gall. (4. 5).

? Milites Pometinenses (? 212. 29).

? Pappus praeteritus (? 4. 25).

?? Sanniones (? III P), after Tabell. (III P).

Zona (VIII; 481. 18).

? Praeco posterior (210. 29), after Macc. ex. (210. 29).

In 495. 24 'Eurysace', the reading of the MSS., is thought<sup>f</sup> to have been substituted for the title of some other play of Novius. The quotation belongs to this series.

Ennius.

Hectoris lytra (VIII; 355. 16; 467. 39; 504. 35, etc.).

Telephus (V, VIII, 15. 8; 342. 18), after Hect. lytr. (VIII).

?? Andromacha aechmalot. (? 505. 12). (The contraction Aechmalo. is found in two citations, perhaps both from the 'Alph. Adverb.' list, 402. 3 and 515. 12. Aechmalotus is apparently the form used in 292. 7, Aechmalotis in 505. 12).

?? Andromacha (? 504. 17).

?? Ambracia (? 469. 28).

?? Medea (? 467. 13).

Turpilius.

Boethuntes (I, V; 342. 1, etc.).

Demetrius (15. 8; 216. 7; 352. 21; 424. 5; ? VIII).

? Canephorus (? VIII), after Demetr. (? VIII).

<sup>e</sup> The number of Novius' plays is large and the quotations from them few, so that there is seldom unimpeachable evidence that this or that play belonged to the volume used by Nonius.

<sup>f</sup> There is however a 'Phoenissae' of Novius, so why may there not have been a 'Eurysaces'?

- Demiurgus (IV A, III S; 8. 19, etc.), after Caneph. (? VIII).
 Epiclerus (VII Pass., IX; 84. 21, etc.).
 Thrasyleo (VII Pass.), after Epicl. (215. 29; VII Pass.).
 Paedium (VII Act.: 489. 30; 497. 16; 306. 36), after Epicl. (497. 16).
 Philopator (IV D, II L; 358. 6: 484. 26), after Thras. (321. 12), after Boeth. (429. 19).
 Leucadia (IV C, XIII; 21. 27; 496. 22), after Paed. (XII. Cf.
     321. 23; 322. 22), after Demetr. (408. 34; 322. 23).
 Lindia (II U, 343. 16, etc.), after Demetr. (352. 23; 397, 39).
 Lemniae (14. 23; 256. 25; ? IV P), after Leuc. (534. 6).
 Paraterusa (II U, IV O, etc.), after Lind. (II U), after Philop.
     (II L).
 Hetaera (IV C, VII Act., XVII; 539. 25), after Parater. (186. 10.
     Cf. IV C, VII Act.; 468. 18; 526. 2), after Leuc. (262. 13.
     Cf. 470. 37), after Demiurg. (483. 31).

The order of the plays suggests an original alphabetical arrangement, according to the Greek alphabet, which has been to some extent abandoned.

Pacuvius.

- Atalanta (II P, 355. 29; 429. 7; 495. 29).
 Periboea (I, II M, etc.), after Atal. (495. 31).
 Dulorestes (I, II M, etc.), after Perib. (I, II M. Cf. II P, 490. 15).
 Hermione (II D, 234. 24), after Perib. (237. 5).
 ? Iliona (? IV O), after Atal. (? IV R).
 ?? Niptra (? 77. 19).
 ?? Medus (? II A), after Niptra (? 77. 19).
 ?? Chryses (? 467. 13; ? 469. 10).
 ?? Armorum Judicium (? 261. 23).
 ?? Antiopa, after Herm, (? 73. 14).

Varro i.

- Εὗρεν ἡ λοπὰς τὸ πῶμα, περὶ γεγαμηκότων* (VII Pass., 399. 34).
 "Εχω σε, περὶ τύχης (343. 1. But cf. II T).
 Περὶ ἔξαγωγῆς, (IV M, IV S, VI; 352. 26).
 Mutuum muli scabunt, περὶ ψωμισ.αῦ (III T; 235. 9).
 'Ανθρωπόπολις, περὶ γενεθλιακῆς (III S, VII Act.: 504. 12). (In 551. 7, where this piece is cited from the 'Gloss. v' list, its title Anth. is given in Latin characters and the alternative title is wanting.)

Marcopolis, περὶ ἀρχῆς (234. 4).

Cygnus, περὶ ταφῆς (497. 25).

Sciamachia, περὶ τύφου (10. 15; 131. 22; III C).

Synephebus, περὶ ἐμμονῆς (III S, IV I).

Tὸ ἐπὶ τῇ φακῇ μύρον, περὶ εὐκαιρίας (216. 9).

Ἄλλ' οὐ μενεῖ σε, περὶ φιλαργυρίας (XIX. But cf. II T).

Papia papae, περὶ ἔγκωμάιων (I, etc.). (478. 5, where it follows εὗρεν, may come from the 'Alph. Verb.' list.)

Pseudulus Apollo, περὶ θεῶν διαγνώσεως (VII Pass.; ? 468. 2), after εὗρεν (VII Pass.).

Cosmotoryne, περὶ φθορᾶς κόσμου (503. 47), after Marcopolis (234. 5).

Gloria, περὶ φθόνου (IV I), after Syneph. (IV I). (I take the citation in 148. 1 to be 'in Gloria' and in 325. 16 to be 'Gloria'.)

Flaxtabula, περὶ ἐπαρχιῶν (I, etc.), after Pap. pap. (I), after περὶ ἔξαγ. (VI).

Testamentum, περὶ διαθηκῶν (VII Pass.), after Pseud. Apoll. (VII Pass.).

Ἑκατόμβη, περὶ θυσιῶν (I; 504. 14; 521. 14), after Flaxt. (I), after Anthropol. (504. 14). (In 466. 29 the title Hecat. is given in Latin characters and the alternative title is wanting. But the citation is an interpolation apparently.)

Periplus (? 455. 22; ? II L. But cf. 392. 39), after Hecat. (? II L.).

Octogenesis, περὶ νεμισμάτων (78. 9), after Peripl. (171. 18). (The Greek alternative title is wanting in 510. 27, where the citation comes from a note on a line of Plautus, and again in 20. 15.)

? Serranus, περὶ ἀρχαιρεσιῶν, after Peripl. (455. 22).

? Εῶς πότε, περὶ ὡρῶν, after Hecat. (27. 15).

Desultorius, περὶ τοῦ γράφειν (XIII).

? Devicti, περὶ φιλόνικιας (? VIII).

Prometheus Liber (I, etc.), after Hecat. (I), after Devicti (? VIII), after Cygnus (497. 27).

περὶ κεραυνοῦ (I, IV C), after Prom. Lib. (I).

Tithonus, περὶ γήρως (343. 3; ? III A), after Prom. Lib. (? 199. 29), after ἔχω σε (343. 3).

Est modus matulae, περὶ μέθης (I), after περὶ κερ. (I).

? Epitaphiones, περὶ τάφων (? IV U).

Trihodites Tripylius, περὶ ἀρετῆς κτήσεως (? 4. 11; 410. 4; ? III G, ? IV T. But cf. II E).

? Triphallus, περὶ ἀρρενότητος (? II L), after Peripl. (? II L).
 ? περὶ αἰρέσεων (? 351. 25).

There seems to be no justification for Mueller's theory (ad 392. 39) that the title 'Periplus II, περὶ φιλοσοφίας' is spurious.

The regularity with which the Greek alternative title is given in citations of these bi-titled plays, especially in citations from the 'Varro i' list, throws suspicion on the assignment to this list of the three citations of the same sentence from Varro Est Modus Matulae (without περὶ μέθης) at p. 545. The first two seem to belong to the 'Gloss. iv' sequence; the third may be an interpolation (see above, p. 33).

In the citations (both from the 'Gloss. i' list?) at 72. 9 "Εχω σε aut περὶ τύχης, and 115. 19 Mutuum muli scabunt, graece περὶ ψωρισμοῦ, editors are apparently right in bracketing the words aut and graece.

Varro ii.

- Marcipor (I, II B, II T).
 Andabatae (I), after Marcipor (I).
 Lex Maenia (II B), after Marcipor (II B, ? II E).
 Mysteria (I, II D), after Andab. (I).
 Agatho (I, II D, II R, etc.), after Myst. (I, II D).
 Quinquatrus (II A, II C, II D, II N), after Agath. (II D).
 Endymiones (I; 543. 14), after Agath. (I).
 Virgula Divina (I, XII, XVIII), after Endym. (I).
 Gerontodidascalus (I), after Virg. Div. (I), after Quinquatr. (II C).
 Parmeno (II C, II P), after Geront. (II C, VI).
 Hercules tuam fidem (I), after Geront. (I).
 Meleagri (I, II D), after Herc. t.f. (I. Cf. II D, II U).
Taφὴ Μενίππου (I, II C, II M, etc.), after Meleag. (I), after Parm. (II C, II P), after Lex Maen. (II E).
 Sesqueulixes (I, II D), after Taφ. Μεν. (I, XIV, 248. 16).
 ? Hercules Socraticus (? XIV), after Sesq. (XIV).
 Sexagesis (I, II C, II D, etc.), after Sesq. (I, II D. Cf. II C, II E).
Γνῶθι σεαυτόν (I, II O), after Sexag. (I, II A. Cf. II M).
 Eumenides (I, II C), after Γνῶθι (I. Cf. II C, VI, VII Pass.).

Varro iii.

- Bimarcus (I, II A, II D, etc.).
 Manius (II F, II L, II P, etc.), after Bimarc. (VI).

Modius (I, II A, II G, etc.), after Man. (VI. Cf. I, II A, etc.
But cf. II T).

"Ovos λύρας (I, II D, II M, etc. But cf. 49. 32), after Mod. (I, II M, II S).

Afranius.

Vopiscus (I, II O, V, VIII, etc.).

Privignus (I; II I, V), after Vop. (I, V, VIII).

Fratriae (I, II A, V, etc.), after Priv. (I, V. Cf. II O; 280. 31; 497. 32).

Exceptus (II M, II P, ?XII, ?XIII, ?XIV), after Fratr. (?XIV).

? Divortium (? XI), after Fratr. (? 394. 1).

? Suspecta (? II E; ? 504. 16).

? Epistola (? III G, ? III R; ? 540. 13).

?? Inimici (? 477. 28).

Terence.

Andria (IV S, VIII).

Adelphi (VIII, II D, IV C), after Andr. (VIII. But cf. IV C).

Phormio (II E, II G, IV C), after Adelph. (? IV C).

Hecyra (I, IV C), after Phorm. (I).

Heautontimorumenos (II S, IV D), after Phorm. (IV D).

Eunuchus (I, II R, etc.), after Hec. (I), after Heaut. (IV E) (cf. II R), after Adelph. (VIII; 190. 12).

Is this an alphabetical arrangement with the spelling Formio?

PA 6518
N6L5

Lindsay, Wallace Martin
Nonius Marcellus' Dictionary of republican Latin

PLEASE DO NOT REMOVE CARDS OR SLIPS FROM THIS POCKET

---

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO LIBRARY

---

